Girls' Pretty Dresses. Birds, Elevators, Stocks. Old Empires, New Planes. $34,000,000 for Freight.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1928.)

A YOUNG American girl, sentenced to be hanged in Canada next Friday says, "I hope they will hang me in a pretty dress."

Another American girl at her wedding to an Indian rajah wore $2,000,000 worth of jewelry, including a diamond nose ring. Her husband was painted yellow for part of the ceremony in accordance with Hindu rites.

Both these young women perhaps would have been happier had they thought less about dress, about things put on the outside of the body, and more about developing thought in the inside of the head.

A SEAT on the New York Stock Exchange has been sold for $320,000. At that price the eleven hundred seats on the stock exchange are worth $352,000,000. Last Saturday stocks were sold at the rate of 1,000,000 shares an hour and in spite of time-saving devices the ticker was twenty-five minutes behind the speculators.

THERE are ups and downs in birds, elevators and stocks, but be careful how you bet on the "down" side in stocks when wages and spending ability in a country move up fifty to seventy-five per cent and manufacturers can make thirty-three men do the work of a hundred. Selling short in America isn't a safe pastime.

ASK some of the bears. You say "some things are too high." Certainly, some things are always too high. But some of them that are too high will go higher. There is one stock now, well above $400 a share but not too high that will go some day to heights that will make the owners dizzy.

THE writer by the way hasn't any of that, or other high priced stock, and can look at things impartially.

LLOYD GEORGE takes seriously the "holy war" started by Mohammedans against British rule or domination in Asia and Africa. Lloyd George says it is interesting to reflect "that this trouble has arisen in two countries, which were powerfully and highly civilized empires at a time when even the existence of Great Britain was scarcely known."

IF MOHAMMEDANS have made up their minds to exterminate heretics and infidels, meaning Europeans, that will mean trouble for the British of course. But since the great empires of Asia and Africa have faded away, British gentlemen that used to hide in swamps, and paint their stomachs blue, with woad, have learned to fly, distributing poison gas and annoying explosives. Those will play a part in calming the Holy War. A holy war on the ground has little chance against war from the sky.

YOU are reminded that modern big business is really big. Read that Chevrolet, one branch of General Motors, will pay this year $34,000,000 for railroad freight.

Without wishing sorrow for railroads, something might be done to diminish automobile freight. A Chevrolet car on the Pacific coast costs $116 freight, from the factory. That is a good deal to pay for a car that could run on its own wheels the two thousand miles from the factory for $25 worth of gasoline and oil, plus a little wear and tear on tires.

THE elevated railroad in New York made no money until the fare was reduced from ten cents to five. Railroads will make more when they find a way to carry freight and passengers less expensively. That is said with realization of the fact that railroad builders have built the country and are entitled to fair treatment.

LORD BEAVERBROOK'S London Express says a beautiful American girl in Egypt offered an Egyptian peddler $6,500 to marry her immediately, because "he resembled a beloved Frenchman now dead."

The important difference between the living Egyptian and the dead Frenchman, that the infatuated American girl did not observe, is this. The Frenchman's face showed many centuries of thinking by his ancestors. The Egyptian's face showed complete lack of thinking, all the way back to Ptolemy Soter, and beyond.

A GIGANTIC "hook-up" of radio stations will enable 8,000,000 Americans to hear all that goes on in the Democratic and Republican conventions.

From the first announcement of Alabama's choice, to final howling when the winner is announced, everything will be heard. However, sad to relate, many of the 8,000,000 that might listen to the convention will not listen. They will tune in for jazz music, sad heart-rending songs, or daily dozens to keep thin. In this nation where only half vote that might vote, there is little deep interest in politics.

Wedding March Her National Anthem, Said Nora Bayes; Married Five Times

Nora Bayes, vaudeville star, who died in a Brooklyn hospital today.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Off the stage Mrs. Nora Bayes, actress, who died today, retained her bubbling sense of humor. She was married five times.

Reflecting on her marriage to Gressing, her first husband, she said:

"He was a good business man. He had a rating in Bradstreet and La Salle street. He was one of the best members of his club and he kept regular hours. That was his trouble. His regular hours were all away from home, so we parted."

She selected Jack Norworth as a husband, she said, because he reminded her of Yale and the University of Kansas. He "had the rah-rah look" and it was spring time.

"Mr. Norworth and I were known as the happiest couple on the stage. We were—on the stage."

While in England she was rumored engaged to Lew Cody. The report arose from a jesting cablegram to her manager, reading:

"Lew and I engaged. Were thrown together in an automobile accident."

On her return as her liner docked the band played the "Wedding March" in honor of arriving newlyweds.

"That's my national anthem," said Nora.

MONTREAL, Que., March 19.—Through his eleventh-hour statement completely exonerating Doris Julia McDonald from any part in the killing of Adelard Bouchard, George McDonald today had regained the love of the wife who was to have been hanged with him next Friday morning on the gallows in Valleyfield Prison.

The thoughts of the former Oklahoma and Mt. Vernon (N. Y.) girl who was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., turned today, not to her promised freedom, but to the man from whom she had become estranged, as the hour of death approached.

"I did not believe that he would speak out," she said today

RADIO PLANE DELAYED ON FLIGHT TO PGH.

International News Service

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The New York American radio plane Toledo Leader-ship, which hopped off from Bolling Field here today, presumably for Pittsburgh, returned to the field after a short time in the air, and the crew announced the hopoff for Pittsburgh would be delayed because of bad weather conditions prevailing between Washington and Pittsburgh.

The flight this morning was merelyy for testing purposes, they explained. The ship may take off later today for Pittsburgh if weather conditions permit.

Clifford Ball, owner of Bettis Field, McKeesport, at 2:30 this afternoon, received a message from George Hopkins, pilot of the New York American plane, Toledo Leader ship, that the flight from Washington to Pittsburgh had been abandoned until tomorrow, due to adverse weather conditions.

5 Arrested At White House

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Four men and a woman, led by Hugo Gellert, a New York artist, and Ben Marsh, of Washington, were arrested by police today as they attempted a demonstration at the White House, when a delegation of 50 Hungarians visited President Coolidge.

The Hungarians were part of a large delegation who came to this country last week, representing their government at the dedication of a monument to Kossuth, Hungarian patriot.

The demonstrators carried banners reading "Hejjas, a Mass Murderer," and "they dishonored Kossuth."

They made no attempt at violence, and were placed under arrest as soon as they began to march with their banners, police charging them with parading on government property without a permit. The paraders passed out printed circulars condemning the Horthy government in Hungary.

Swimmer Saved by Teacher

The watchful eye of Harvey LeCollier, swimming instructor at Fifth Avenue High School, probably saved the life of William Martin, 16-year-old student, today.

The youth had fallen back unconscious as he was about to climb from the pool. LaCollier dragged him out and gave first aid treatment. Police at Center Avenue Station, summoned by telephone, hurriedly provided a pulmotor, but Martin had been revived before they arrived. Two physicians, according to the school authorities, were undecided as to what caused the youth to lose consciousness. His home is at 1723 Arcena street.

Fisher May Ignore Senate Subpena

GOVERNOR FISHER

HARRISBURG, March 19.—Gov. John S. Fisher probably will refuse to obey the subpena to appear before the Senate committee investigating the bituminous coal strike.

The Governor's close friends cited his speech at Scranton Saturday night in which he indicated that if subpenaed he will refuse to obey the order.

The view is held here that the Governor, as Chief Executive of a sovereign state is not subject to the subpena of another governmental agency, even of the Federal government.

FISHER URGES MINE PARLEY

Senate Probers Are Aroused by Governor Fisher's Criticism; Will Call Him

By MAX HENRICI, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Angered by reports of a speech made by Gov. John S. Fisher, of Pennsylvania, at Easton last Friday night, in which Fisher is said to have denounced the Senate subcommittee that went to Pennsylvania to investigate the coal strike, Senator Frank R. Gooding, of Idaho, today directed a subpena be issued for the Governor, who will be required to explain his charges before the full Interstate Commerce Committee. Gooding was chairman of the sub-committee.

The Canadian government was shown to be indirectly a party to the coal strike in testimony laid before the Interstate Commerce Committee when it resumed hearings this morning after a three-day recess. It was developed that the Rail and River Coal Cohpany, of Belmont county, O., which is trying to reduce the United Mine Workers' wage scale, is owned by the Canadian National Railways, which, in turn, is owned by the Dominion government.

Canada Involved

W. R. Woodford, president of the Rail and River Coal Company, testified that the Canadian National Railways was not taking coal from his company, notwithstanding that it could have it at the cost of production, because it was able to buy coal mined by non-union miners in West Virginia at $1.35 a ton, or 45 cents less than it would have to pay for union-mined Ohio coal. Woodford suggested that compulsory arbitration of labor disputes would help in curing the ills of the coal industry. He also said unionization of the southern fields would be beneficial.

Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio declared that if present conditions continued he foresaw government control of the mines.

Testimony was given that some nonunion operators are paying miners' wages as low as $2 a day. Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana said he considered this an "outrage," and Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee, added: "We are all agreed on that."

Lowell Limpus, New York newspaperman, took the stand around mid-day and told of conditions observed by him in the course of an investigation of 50 coal mining towns in Western and Central Pennsylvania.

Fannie Hurst, the novelist, was in the audience at the Senate investigation of the coal strike when the hearings were resumed. She was under subpena, having been called to testify concerning conditions of squalor in the mining camps of the Pittsburgh district when she made her survey to gather material for her articles for The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. Her husband Jacques Danielson, accompanied her.

William G. Warden, chairman of the board; C. E. Lesher, executive vice president, and Don Rose, attorney of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, also were present. Horace F. Baker, president of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, was another spectator.

Earl Horick, of counsel for the United Mine Workers, said he hoped Governor Sees Opportunity for Peace in Conference of Operators, Strikers.

International News Service.

HARRISBURG, March 19.—Gov. John S. Fisher today proposed a general conference of all interests in the bituminous coal fileds to bring about a settlement of the soft coal strike and "provide good wages for labor, a fair return for the invested capital and an adequate supply of fuel at reasonable prices."

In his first formal statement concerning the strike, today, the Governor proposed that "Representatives from all the bituminous producing states—labor, production, public authority, as well as representatives from the Congress and the executive department of the Federal government" meet to bring the economic struggle in the soft coal fields to an end.

Fisher Ends Silence

The Governor broke his long silence on the strike and the recent Senatorial investigation in Western Pennsylvania in recent speeches in Easton and Scranton, in which he criticized the personnel and attitude of the Senate committee. His statement today, however, was his first suggestion that a general conference be held to bring peace to the region.

The bituminous coal freight rates controversy is vitally linked with strike problems, the governor said, and should come in for a share of

Southern Rate Cut Fought

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 19.—(AP.)—Coal companies cannot assert the rights of the railroads, the United States government contended today in its answer to the petition of the southern coal producers for an injunction to restrain the Interstate Commerce Commission from preventing southern railroads to reduce freight rates on lake cargo coal shipments.

The answer was filed in Federal Court here on behalf of the government by Blackburn Esterline, of Washington, when the petition of the operators of Southern West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia came up for hearing before Circuit Court Judges John J. Parker and Elliott Northcott and Judge George M. McClintic, of the Southern District Court of West Virginia.

Many of the allegations in the operators' bill, Esterline argued in presenting his motion, relate to matters between the commission and the railroads only. He declared

NORA BAYES, VAUDEVILLE STAR, DIES IN BROOKLYN

OPERATION PROVES FATAL

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN,
International News Service.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Nora Bayes, one of the foremost actresses on the American stage, a musical comedy and vaudeville star for years, died today in the Jewish Hospital in Brooklyn from effects of an abdominal operation performed last week. She had been thought recovering until last night, when her condition became acute and she sank rapidly.

Broadway was stunned by the death of the popular star. She had made a legion of friends in the theatrical profession from the very day, nearly 30 years ago, when, at the age of 18, she ventured out on the stage of a Chicago theater and sang the song that brought her instantaneous recognition — "Down Where the Wurtzberger Flows."

The fame of this talented girl (born Dora Goldberg) became international. On and off the stage she was a comedienne. Her triumphs and vicissitudes were viewed with the keenest sense of humor. She was married five times. Always she gave herself unstintingly to her audience, whether at the Palace on Broadway, the Palladium in London or the town opera house on a one-night stand.

Miss Bayes was 47. She was in private life the wife of Benjamin L. Friedlander, to whom she was married three years ago aboard the Leviathan. He survives her, as do three adopted children, Norman, Lea Nora and Peter. Her first husband was Otto Gressing, with whom she early appeared in vaudeville. She married thereafter Jack Norworth, musical comedy star; Harry Clark and Arthur Gordoni. Divorce ended all her marriages but the last. All her husbands but Friedlander, who is in the garage business, were actors.

The musical productions in which Miss Bayes gained her greatest fame included "Little Miss Fixit," which, incidentally, brought the turkey trot into terpsichorean favor in 1912; "The Jolly Bachelors," "Roly-Poly," "The Merry-Go-Round," "Made in America," "The Cohan Revue of 1918," "Ladies First," "Her Family Tree," "After Dinner," "Snapshots of 1921" and "Queen of Hearts."

She sang her way in and out of Ziegfeld's "Follies" for several years. At one time she produced her own musical show on Broadway.

WITTY ALWAYS

Vaudeville audiences from coast to coast will recall Nora's magnificent work as a singer of "blue" songs, her witty remarks and humorous antics. Off the stage she retained her bubbling sense of humor.

Reflecting on her marriage in Chicago to Gressing, her first husband, she said: "He was a good business man. He had a rating in Bradstreet and La Salle street. He was one of the best members of his club and he kept regular hours. That was his trouble. His regular hours were all away from home, so we parted."

She selected Jack Norworth as a husband, she said, because he reminded her of Yale and the University of Kansas. He "had the rah-rah look" and it was spring time.

While in England she was rumored engaged to Lew Cody, the film star. The report arose from a jesting cablegram to her manager, reading:

"Lew and I engaged. Were thrown together in an automobile accident."

On her return she denied she intended marrying Cody. As her liner docked the band played the [illegible] arch" in honor of ar[illegible] weds.

She Trails And Gets Her Man

Mrs. Celia Bates, employed in a North Side department store, trailed a man whom she saw taking 30 silk mufflers from a counter, and caused his arrest. Mike Harlovich, 22, of 3 Forty-third and a Half street, battled with Traffic Officer W. Fickley before being arrested.

When Harlovich left the store and boarded a car Mrs. Bates followed and upon alighting at Penn avenue and Seventh street she notified the policeman. Harlovich ran and a pedestrian answering the policeman's cries tackled Harlovich in real football fashion. When the officer arrived he had to battle Harlovich. In addition to the mufflers, six pairs of stockings, with the price tag of another store, were found in Harlovich's possession.

FISHER SEES OPPORTUNITY

the discussion at such a conference as he proposed.

"So long as there are loud complaints of discriminatory rates sanctioned by the Interstate Commerce Commission there will be bitter discontent in the industry," he said.

"There are three basic problems confronting the industry: 1—wages; 2—rate structure; and 3—regulation of production.

National Probe

"These problems attach to the entire industry in its totality. It is a problem for both national and state consideration.

"In production the national authority does not attach until the coal enters interstate traffic, but because the Interstate Commerce Commission can now regulate freight rates, whether inter or intrastate, the regulatory power necessarily attaches to all coal that goes on board cars. The coal in the ground and all the processes or production fall within the jurisdiction of the state. It necessarily follows that to find a cure for the ills of the industry there must be co-operative action between state and federal governments.

"It is not so easy to discover a way for doing this. However, there ought to be some sort of a conference representative of all states in the bituminous producing fields, including labor, production and public authority, as well as representation from the Congress and the executive department of the Federal government.

"Sane Plan Possible"

"I do not concieve it to be impossible to arrive at some sane plan covering the factors entering into the problem.

"I understand that prior to the agreement on the Jacksonville scale there was a tacit understanding between union leaders and many important operators that in the event of a disagreement it would submit to a conciliation or medtion board to be named by the President.

"This plan had a precedent in the settlement of the wage dispute in the anthracite region during Roosevelt's administration.

"The freight rate question is purely a Federal matter. So long as there are loud complaints of discriminatory rates sanctioned by the Interstate Commerce Commission there will be bitter discontent in the industry.

"I favor any plan that will provide good wages for labor, a fair return for the invested capital and an adequate supply of fuuel for the public at reasonable prices."

Snow Here Heaviest Of Season

Intermittent flurries today added slightly to the season's record snowfall, which totaled 5½ inches in Pittsburgh and from 12 to 14 inches in the mountain districts, the Weather Bureau reported.

The snow throughout today would add little to the white blanket which overspread this region, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman said, as storm is passing to the far northeast. Fair weather is on the way, with little change in temperature.

The road workers sent out into the county had little difficulty in clearing the highways. A city street force worked throughout the day and night and downtown streets were clear of snow this morning.

MANY HURT IN KANSAS CITY BOMB WAR

KANSAS CITY, March 19.—(AP.)—A score or more North Side residents are nursing minor injuries suffered when an explosion last night wrecked a three-story brick storehouse and damaged buildings over a large area.

Doors were blown from hinges in many nearby homes and windows broken for a radius of more than two blocks.

Although the cause of the blast is unknown, police were informed by terrified residents of the district that they had seen two men leaving the building shortly before the explosion. It was the latest of a series of explosions which have damaged homes and office buildings and followed within 48 hours a confession by a former convict that he had been hired to lead a "wrecking crew" to force employment of union labor.

OIL STORY MYSTERY DEEPENS

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The sensational story involving a high government official and a great oil corporation, told during the bond inquiry in Chicago, was thrown into a maze of confusion today when International News Service learned that the Senate Public Lands Committee had no definite information to support hints that a $50,000 Liberty Bond fund was used.

The "mystery witness," who appeared in Chicago, it was learned, reported only that a mysterious package was supposed to have been sent by mistake to a man in Washington, Ill., when actually intended for a government official in Washington. The witness had not seen the package, knew nothing of its contents and could not say whether it actually was delivered to the Washington, Ill., man.

The mystery witness revealed that telegrams were exchanged between officials of the oil corporation and the Washington, Ill., man. Senate investigators already have confirmed this much of his story.

Government agents have been dispatched to Washington, Ill., to check up the story in that little town some 125 miles southwest of Chicago and adjacent to Peoria. They will seek to interview the man with whom the oil company corresponded to learn whether he received the mysterious package, whether he learned its contents and what he did with the package if it came into his hands.

The story, however, will be thoroughly investigated and undoubtedly aired at committee hearings this week, owing to the sensational imputations attached to it. The Chicago witness, once incorrectly identified by Senator Nye (Rep.), of North Dakota, as a "Mr. Siddons," will be summoned here Wednesday or Thursday, according to present plans.

"I can't discuss the story at all," said Nye today. "If it is true, it will become public quickly enough; if it is not true, it would work grave injury upon innocent persons. It is so sensational that we could not make it public without checking it up as far as lies in our power."

JONES URGES MINE BOARD

A wage conference to work out a plan for the prevention of wasteful strikes, the establishment of a federal coal commission and the consolidation of bituminous mining interests is recommended in a letter directed to the members of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee by John H. Jones, president of the Bertha-Consumers Coal Company, yesterday.

Jones, who was a recent witness before the Senate committee investigating the coal strike, said in his letter his suggestions were made in hope that they may be the basis for a settlement of the coal trouble.

A resolution indorsing the work of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Miners Relief Committee was passed by representatives of 13 local unions of the United Mine Workers of America in the Allegheny Valley at a meeting held in Pittsburgh Saturday.

WASHINGTON BUILDING DAMAGED BY BLAZE

Shelton Brands Ouster Move as 'Tempest in Teapot'

SEES HAND OF POLING IN PLOT

Replying today to the charges that he is a "dictator and czar" in his administration of affairs of the Second Presbyterian Church, Eighth street, the Rev. Dr. George W. Shelton, pastor, today characterized as "a tempest in a teapot" the action of 124 members of the church, who have presented a petition to the Presbytery of Pittsburgh demanding his removal as pastor.

The petition will be considered before the Presbytery at its next meeting, April 11. The contention grew out of the resignation of the Rev. Charles S. Poling, who last summer was called to the congregation from Ridgeway, Pa., as co-pastor.

Commenting on the effort to oust him, Dr. Shelton today said:

"I have been pastor of Second Church for the last 18 years. During the last 10 years I have had many invitations to extend the ministry of the church in other fields and have preached in many cities of the United States, in England, Scotland and Ireland.

"When I returned from the British Isles last August, I found that a small group of members had started a movement to oust me and install the co-pastor in my place. That Mr. Poling was a party to this plan is evidenced by a letter bearing his signature, to one of his supporters, a copy of which is in the hands of the official board of the congregation, in which Mr. Poling said in part: 'If Dr. Shelton leaves at once, I will stay as your minister.' This letter was written after Mr. Poling had resigned.

"Later Mr. Poling asked Presbytery to inquire into the alleged difficulties that had arisen since he had become co-pastor. The petition to Presbytery was signed by 124 persons, some of them children; others who have not contributed to the financial support of the church for many years, and by a number who said they had signed it under a misapprehension and withdrew their names from the petition. It is significant that the petition demanding my removal was not sent to Presbytery until long after Mr. Poling's resignation had been accepted by the congregation, approved by Presbytery, and Mr. Poling had removed to another pastorate.

"The group opposing me is backed by Samuel Eads, a clerk in the city revision office. He has called two clandestine meetings of his group at his office in the courthouse, one of which was attended by Mr. Polling. I, of course, was not notified of these meetings.

"Out of the 16 elders of Second Church, all but four are in full accord with the work of the congregation and my ministry. All officers, pupils and teachers of the Sunday school, members of the missionary societies, the Brotherhood, and the Christian Endeavor, are staunch in their loyalty to the church and pastor.

"The congregation has voted disapproval of the action of the trustees in giving Mr. Poling $3,000, in addition to his full salary while here, and his moving expenses from Ridgeway. This has not been returned."

MARSHALL LOSES TO DEATH

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY.

Taps have sounded. And our beloved little soldier has died just as we knew he would—with a smile on his pain-racked face.

There is scarcely a man, woman or child in Pittsburgh who hasn't heard of 18-year-old Rody P. Marshall, Jr., and his brave fight against pain and death. He breathed his last during the night, and with the passing on of his spirtl a little of the light went out for his countless friends.

Since July, 1925, Rody, with a broken neck, had lived in a wheel chair. He suffered the injury while he was swimming in a dive off Narragansett Pier, R. I. No one thought he would live even many days. But Rody was not made of the stuff that goes with a quitter.

His father is Rody P. Marshall, the lawyer. There was a beautiful home at 201 Lytton avenue, and Rody, Jr., felt he was too young to give it all up. Grimly but smilingly the boy fought a battle through the years. A few days ago his father and mother were quite certain it would be a losing fight. But then he rallied and their hope was renewed. The end came—at last, quietly.

Rody's death takes us back to the famous race with death that was made by his father and mother when the accident occurred. They were in Europe. Hastening back on the Aquitania they were met at quarantine by the cutter Raritan. There an automobile was waiting to take them to the Grand Central Station. A special express train waited there to rush them to their son.

Newspapers for days carried front page stories of the battle with death. Specialists said it was impossible for Rody to live. They were amazed when he rallied and was finally able to be brought back to his home here.

His smile will be missed at the ball games. The Pirates were used to looking for him and catching his grin and battling just a little harder for victory. Theater folk saw him smiling from his box night after night and played to him. Many of them went out to his home and gave special performances because they loved him and the gay smile that lit his rosy face when they did their turns. Often Rody would sing with them in a nice voice that he facetiously called "my fine, deep baritone."

Radio entertainers have announced night after night that they were playing for "my friend and old pal, Rody P. Marshall, Jr.," and he would listen in, proud and happy. He was a little happier and a little less pain-wracked because of them, and certainly there were a great deal happier and learned to bear their petty troubles more bravely beecause of him.

Big, busy Pittsburgh will stop as one man to offer deepest sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Marshall. Men, women and children will pay him homage, each in their own way.

But Rody will not need a monument, for he left one behind for all of us to pattern after. It is built of Patience, Bravery and Love.

Jimmy a Prince Despite Lack Of Falls---Will

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 19.—Mayor Jimmy Walker just blew into Palm Beach, the winter residence of New York's mayors, on time.

I am here giving a benefit for the Salvation Army tonight, and Jimmy has graciously agreed to introduce me. That shows you that these mayors stick together even if one has been thrown out. I think that town out West (you never hear its name any more) made a mistake by canning me, and New York would make a bigger mistake if they ever let Jimmy go.

WILL ROGERS

He is a great ad for Tammany Hall. He is to them what the Prince of Wales is to England without the falls.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

PROBERS ENTER S-4

International News Service.

CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD, BOSTON, March 19.—The interior of the ill-fated submarine S-4 was penetrated today by a naval board of inspection.

The broken undersea boat was entered after the submersible had been placed in drydock and the water pumped from the dock.

Commander John C. Baylis, who commanded the Coastguard Destroyer Paulding, which sent the S-4 to the bottom off Cape Cod, and his legal defender, Lieut. Commander Leroy Reinberg, were with the members of the board as were medical experts. Commander Baylies was partly blamed for the disaster by a special Naval board of inquiry.

The Naval board sought the answers to 214 questions regarding the S-4 disaster and any records of messages to loved ones left by the men.

Lieut. Commander F. K. Libenow was ordered to take charge of the records and confidential messages.

Lieutenant Commander J. D. Jones, of the bureau of engineering, was given the task of determining whether it would be worth while to place the submersible into commission.

The interior was dripping mud and silt and oily water was oozing from the punctured side of the S-4.

Saloonist Shot by Bandits

Shots by bandits when he fought with them early Sunday morning when they attempted to take two slot machines from his saloon at 216 Larimer avenue, Fred Chirvello, 43, of 205 Larimer avenue, was reported to be in a serious condition this morning in the Pittsburgh Hospital. The robbers fled without their loot after two of them had opened fire on Chirvello.

The bandits entered the saloon shortly before closing time and all three drew revolvers. Chirvello attempted to stop them when they started removing the machines and he was struck by one of two shots fired by two of the bandits. When police visited the place no trace of the machines could be found, according to Capt. Daniel Ambrose.

BOMB COAL MAN'S AUTO

STEEL OFFICIAL AND WIFE INJURED

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 19.—(AP.)—Anson W. Allen, assistant general superintendent of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company, United States Steel subsidiary, and his wife were injured last night when a mysterious explosion literally demolished their automobile in which they were en route to church.

Horace Cox, a passing motorist, who rushed to the Allens' aid, declared he smelled a distinct odor of powder or some other explosive in the wreckage of the car. The gasoline tank and other portions of the car were found intact, although the top of the machine, an expensive sedan, was blown completely away and the sides and back were burst out.

The explosion occurred on Bush boulevard in a fashionable residential district. The automobile was tossed out of its path and upon the street car tracks in a parkway in the center. The explosion appeared to have come from the back seat and the back of the front seat apparently was all that saved the lives of its occupants.

WM. PENN TO CONSIDER PROPOSED ANNEX CHANGE

The Better Traffic Committee, composed of local business men, has been assured by the Eppley Hotels Company, now controlling the William Penn Hotel, that it will consider a proposed change in the construction of the hotel annex to better the traffic situation at Grant street and Oliver avenue. The old management of the hotel refused the city's request to make the change, which would eliminate the double-turn by automobiles entering and leaving Bigelow boulevard.

TO TEACH MAGIC IN SUN-TELE

By HARDEEN.

Magic is an art that has been handed down from time unknown. It has, in its evolution, been improved to where today the art is in its highest state of perfection and offers the most startling form of amusement.

HARDEEN.

But one need not necessarily be a master to entertain with magic. Amateur magicians prove themselves the outstanding personalities in any gathering. That one may learn these tricks which I will outline exclusively through the columns of The Sun-Telegraph, several illusions may be used for home demonstration.

First, I wish to caution the beginner in that to successfully present magic a thorough knowledge of the trick is necessary. Try it in your own home first. Try it over and over. Practice makes perfect, and with practice you develop speed. It is essential that your hands become quicker than the eye. For in this quickness lies the secret of successful presentation.

When you are ready to present the trick to a gathering use care to stage your act in a manner that your audience will not see through your scheme. Do not give away what you have learned. The art of magic belongs to you and you alone. You must first work hard to master the trick and then learn to keep it to yourself. Otherwise the fun is all gone for both yourself and your friends. They may tease and they may beg that you show them the mysteries of your art, but when they learn it even if not to present it themselves the thrill of presentation is gone forever.

I will present the first trick in these columns starting tomorrow. Clip each article as it appears and paste it in a book, for it will be necessary to refer to it time and again before you will have mastered the tricks.

Margaret Mann, Hollywood's 60-Year-Old Cinderella, Wins Fame as Mother Who Can't Cry

By BLAND JOHANESON.

NEW YORK, March 19.

MARGARET MANN goes back to her "wee hoos" in Hollywood with a two-year contract at $10,000 a year. Two hundred dollars a week isn't big money to a movie star. But when one is 60 and has been working for $7.50 a day, and working only occasionally, $200 a week is dream wealth. The contract was Fox's reward to Miss Mann for the sensational hit she made in "Four Sons." Miss Mann hadn't counted on the reward. She had read the press agent notices referring to herself as "the 60-year-old Cinderella" with her tongue in her Scotch pink cheek. She was skeptical.

"I never count on anything," she said. "I have had too many disappointments. I'm being made a fuss over, but it doesn't mean anything. I'll have to go back to extra work again whenever I can get it.

"I remember once before I thought I had my big chance. I was sent for by a director and engaged to play a mother role. I was enthusiastic. I went home and made my apron. The next morning when I reported for work I was told the director had changed his mind."

Perhaps it was this skepticism which made her seem so young.

She was crisp and forthright. She said what she thought, even if it was the harsh opinion that the hurrah would die down and she would be calling up the casting offices for extra work as soon as she was sent home. The movies hadn't been kind to her before and she was a little distrustful of kindness. This matter-of-factness and fearlessness made her captivating. A silver-haired little gentlewoman who had the trust and illusions of a night club hostess! The boys around the Fox offices called her "Maggie."

Miss Mann had the notion that she wouldn't be liked in "Four Sons." She thought the fans preferred a mother who wept and raved and went maudlin. Director John Ford had permitted her to play the mother with the restraint which she felt naturally. He had said:

"Now, what would you do when you heard that your third son had been killed? Would you cry?" And Miss Mann had said. "No, I would have been too shocked and crushed to cry. The grief would have been too terrible for tears."

And that was the way the scene was played.

Miss Mann projected her own personality into the picture. She lost herself in it. She sat through three weeks of "personal appearances," watching the mother on the screen with interest and detachment. And her fears that her performance was too simple and natural for the fans were unwarranted. She was a riotous hit. Grown men and women rushed up to embrace her in the theater.

All her fears were unwarranted. Her fear of failure. Her fear of awakening. Her fear of rebuffs and the casting offices.

Margaret Mann has watched the press agent fairy-tales materialize. She has popularity and $10,000 a year. In New York she lived in a $14-a-day hotel suite—her roof alone cost twice as much as she ever before had earned. But before she dropped her skepticism she cutely gave her good fortune a little test—she got a $600 advance to finish her New York shopping.

MUSICAL PLAYS TO OPEN

Do You Know What a Woman of 30 Should Weigh?

It all depends on her height, of course.

If she is 5 feet 7 inches in height she should weigh, according to the best authorities, 142 pounds.

If she is 5 feet 5 inches her normal weight is 134 pounds.

If she is 5 feet 2 inches she should weight 127 pounds.

It's dangerous to be always striving to grow thin—the Adirondack Mountains and health resorts everywhere are filled with health shattered women who will tell you that it doesn't pay to be too thin.

That is why so many thousands of underweight men and women are putting their faith in McCoy's Tablets.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking four 60-cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or two one-dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least five pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

The name McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets has been shortened—just ask for McCoy's Tablets at May's Drug Stores or any drug store in America.

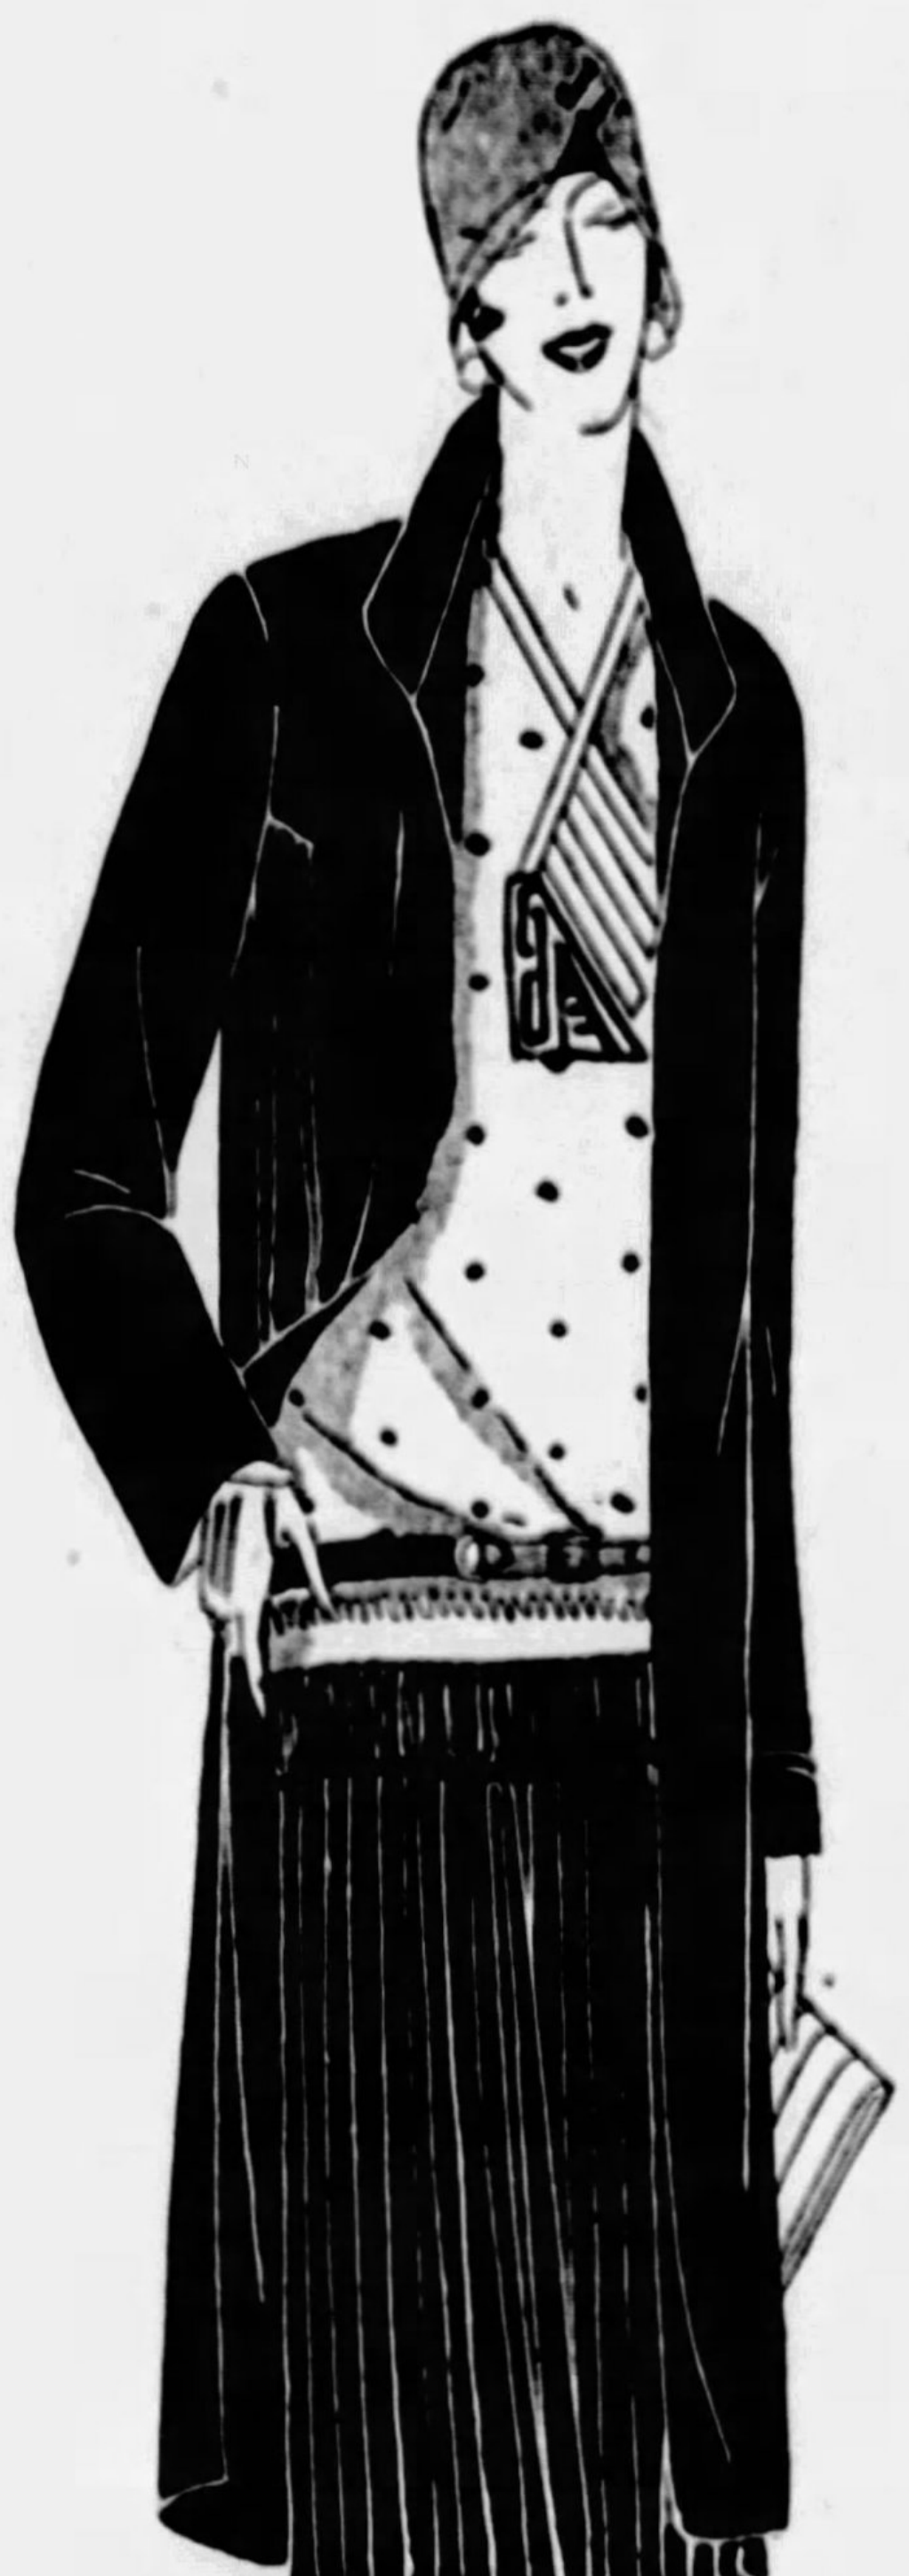
If You Are Considering An Ensemble As Your Easter Costume



—then be guided by the fact that Fashion's first law governing the street ensemble this season, is that it be simple.

This ideal is followed by the ensembles presented in our Women's Suit Section, with their chic, unfurred coats which can also be correctly worn as separate wraps.

They are of kasha-like weaves, fine reps and twills, or rich silks, most of them carrying the effect of simplicity further by being in navy blue or black. They are completed by blouses of silk crepe or satin, or by plain or printed silk frocks. $39.50 to $125.00.

It is priced $49.50, in the women's section of finer dresses.

Eye Troubles That Are Readily Corrected

DR COPELAND

A FEW days ago a Pittsburgh man wrote me in a panic of fear because somebody told him he had "lenticular opacities" in his eyes. He says he is 30 years old and in perfect health with one exception.

The only thing the doctors could find, the letter states, is "a fairly bad pair of tonsils." He doesn't say how they are diseased, but if they give evidence of pus cavities, they are unsafe possessions.

But about these "lenticular opacities!" The chances are they have been in existence all through the life of this young man. Something drove him to the oculist and on examination these spots were found.

The crystalline lens of the eye is situated just back of the pupil and iris, the colored part of the eye. In normal eyes we do not expect to find any opacity; the lens should be as clear and transparent as a perfectly clean spectacle lens.

In old age, or at least past middle age, it is not uncommon to find degenerative changes in the lens. The normal transparency disappears and the lens become milky and clouded. This is a condition called cataract.

Then we have a similar loss of transparency, noticed immediately upon the birth of a baby. This is called congenital cataract.

Between birth and middle age we rarely meet any disturbance in the clearness of the crystalline lens. When we do discover by accident that there are spots of opacity in the lens, we conclude that they have always been there. Their presence need give us no concern.

The crystalline lens develops five or six months before the baby is born. If the mother has a severe illness at that time or is badly run down in health, it may happen that the nourishment of the developing eye is interfered with and opacities may form.

Without knowing any more than I do about the case of the man who wrote me from Pittsburgh, this seems to me to be the reasonable explanation of his "lenticular opacities." He is no worse off than he always has been, except that he has been told he has these defects. Now he is worrying over something that can't be helped and something that will never be any worse. He might as well worry over a mole on his nose or a freckle on the left cheek. His opacities are no more serious than either of these.

By the way, of all the serious troubles one can have, I think real cataract, not the harmless lenticular opacities we have just discussed, is about the most satisfactory. Under a local anaesthetic, with a perfectly painless operation taking about two minutes, the cataract is removed and sight restored. It is a never failing wonder to me that blindness can be so easily overcome.

Now, my dear Pittsburgh friend, go get married—he asked if I thought he should "abolish the thought of marriage." Forget your troubles and don't worry over these opacities any more than you do over the white spots in your finger nails.

"Mineral waters of the right sort are preferable to many cathartic compounds. Their power to overcome the immediate effects of constipation is unquestioned. In their effects upon the bowel and its lining membranes they are far less irritating. Indeed, many have qualities that make them soothing and healing. Sugar-coated pills are pleasant to take, which may add to their danger. They are no less habit-forming and drastic because they appeal to the taste."

Pluto Water, with its mineral content, flushes the bowels and washes away impurities. It is gentle, soothing, healing, non-habit-forming. Corrects constipation and restores normal bowel movements. Acts in 30 minutes to 2 hours.

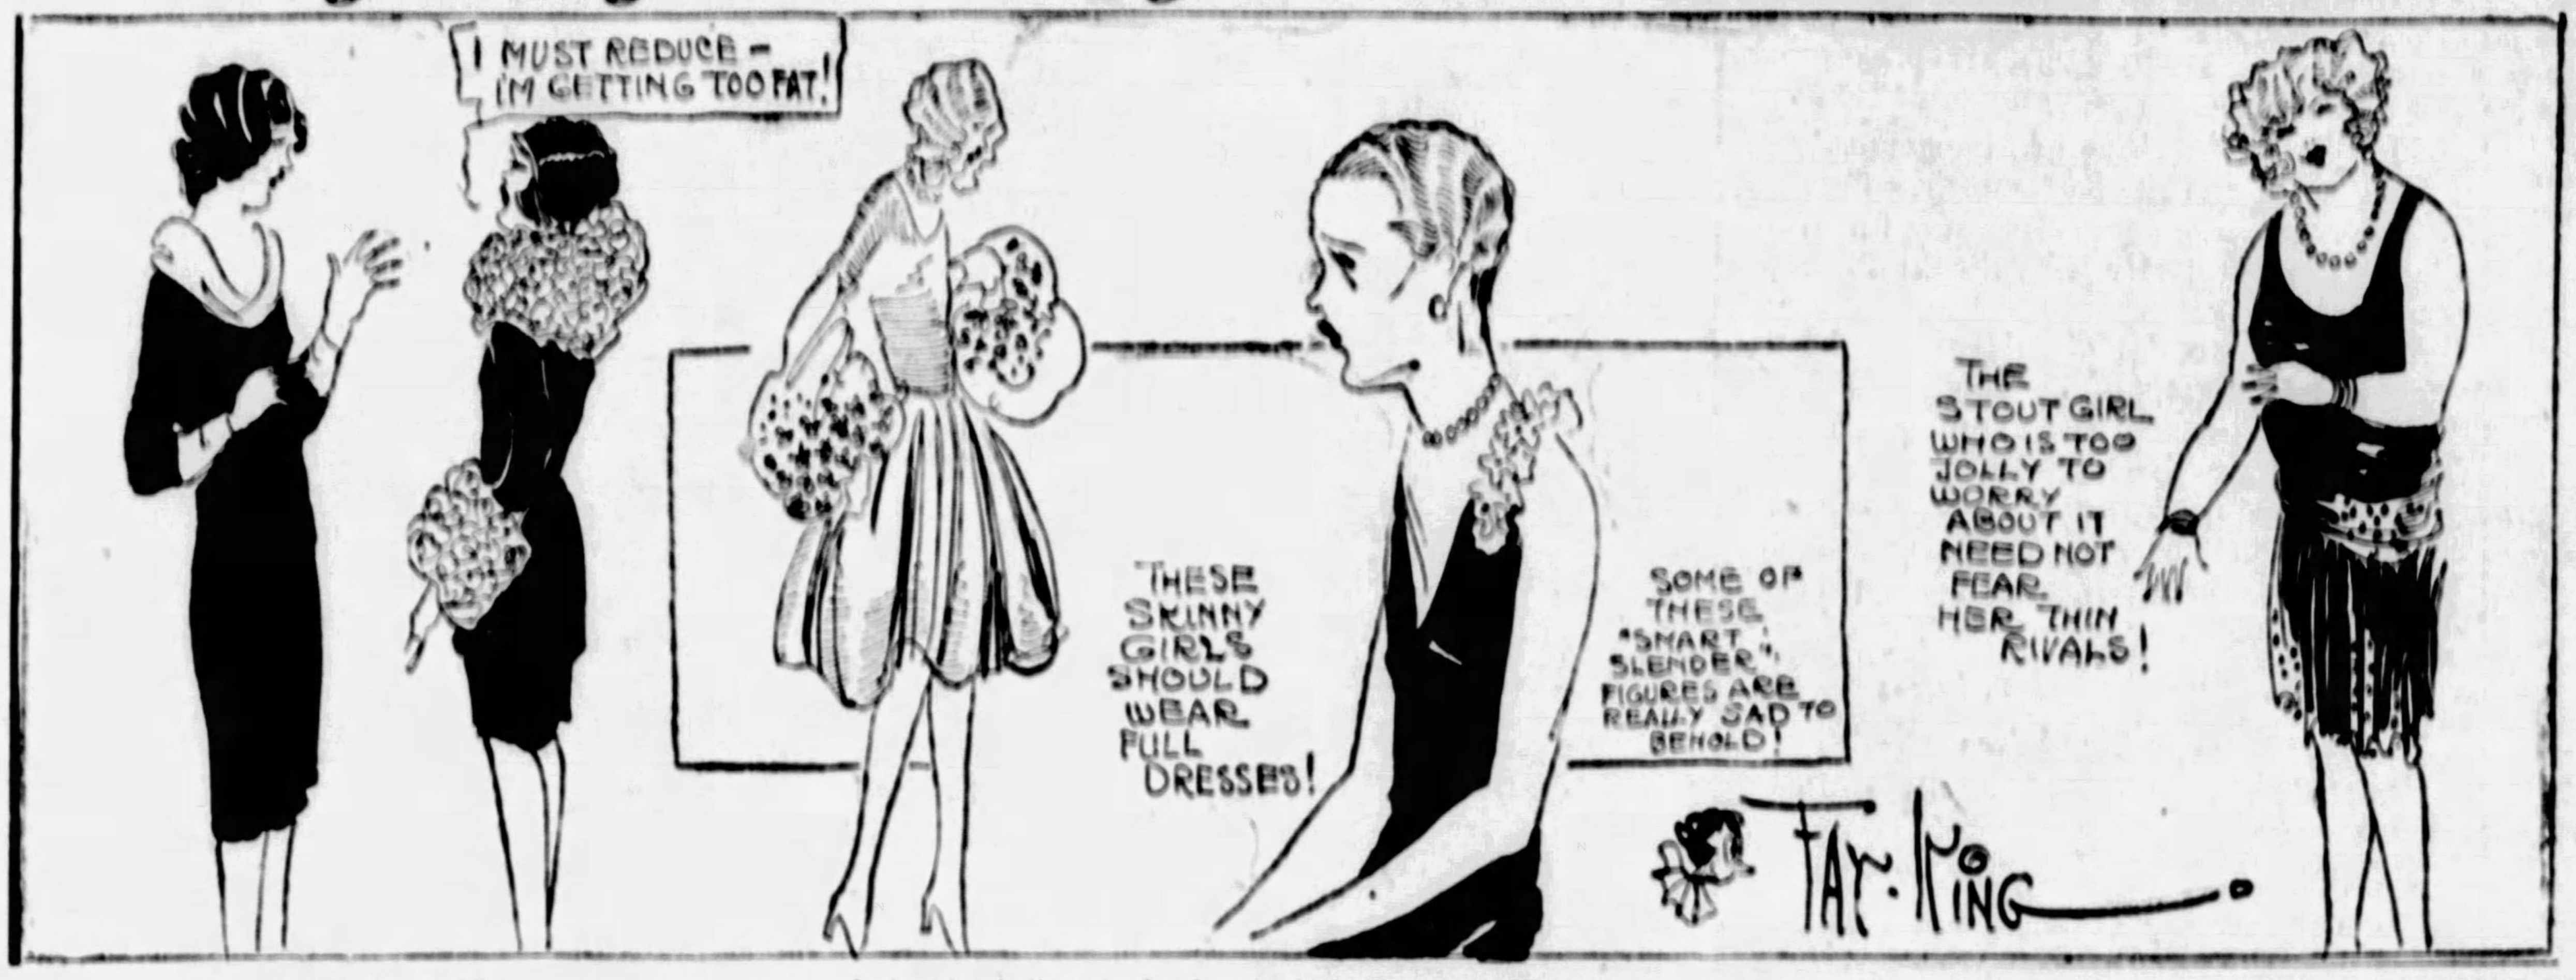
Fay King Tells Why Girls Shouldn't Reduce



I MUST REDUCE—I'M GETTING TOO FAT!
THESE SKINNY GIRLS SHOULD WEAR FULL DRESSES!
SOME OF THESE "SMART," SLENDER FIGURES ARE REALLY SAD TO BEHOLD!
THE STOUT GIRL WHO IS TOO JOLLY TO WORRY ABOUT IT NEED NOT FEAR HER THIN RIVALS!
FAY KING

By FAY KING

WOMEN are still mad on the subject of reducing.

Sit five minutes with six women and the sole subject of conversation is lamb chops, orange juice, Turkish baths and flesh diminishers!

If one of the group looks just right so far as weight according to height and age are concerned she will tell you that she must take off poundage.

Another is perfectly elated because she has lost 7 pounds. You look at her hollow cheeks, drawn, pinched look and elbows that are angles! Her hands have become clawlike and too big for her thinned wrists. They should be covered with lace instead of diamond bracelets. Her rings flop around and she doesn't own a curve anywhere.

Now such a slenderness might be just right for full dresses. But on top of her starved angular figure she puts the scantiest line-revealing model that money can buy!

Nature meant some persons to be thin. When being thin was considered awful, they drank milk and ate starch. They wore ruffled fillings. But no matter how much they ate or how much they wore, it was their lot to be "skinny!"

Other people are meant to be plump. They are built and boned for plumpness. And plump even to fatness is decidedly becoming to their style of beauty!

And right here any observer will agree with me that fat girls have the prettiest complexions, the daintiest hands and feet and the trimmest ankles! They need not fear their slender rivals if they will just stop worrying about being fat and spoil themselves getting too thin!

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

by HELEN ROWLAND

HER "WEAK MOMENT"

LOVE-MAKING has lost half its zest for the Gay Lotharios, now that women have come to have so many "weak moments" in their lives.

When a girl had but ONE "weak moment" in her life it was a real triumph for the wavy-haired heart-breaker to feel that it was HE, whose fatal fascination she had been unable to resist, and to whom she had yielded her maiden kisses.

But, oh dimMe! How things have changed! In these days, when one "weak moment" follows so closely on the heels of another, one flirtation crowds another, one kiss follows another, and one romance quickly replaces another in a girl's heart, all the thrill and fervor have gone out of the chase.

HELEN ROWLAND

A man used to have to be skillful and subtle, to watch and wait and work and worry a bit, to make a girl "weaken." He had to be careful not to frighten or alarm her; he had to have a subtle "line" and be a good stage lover, to make a dent in her heart or her imagination.

But when he did finally "sell himself" to her and get in solid, he felt the same glow of self-satisfaction that a good salesman feels when he has broken down the sales resistance of a hard customer. And he didn't have much fear of another salesman coming along soon and selling the girl all over again.

To win a woman, then, was a matter of prowess and conquest and a big tribute to a man's vanity.

But in these days, there is no distinction in being one of the dozen or so "weak moments" in a girl's life. There is nothing memorable about the affair, nothing to make it unique or to make a man feel a little thrill of secret triumph that he has won where all others have failed.

He hasn't even the consolation of feeling wicked or remorseful or regretful. It's all in the week's routine. He knows that as soon as his kisses have dried, she will be freshening her lips with her scented lipstick, preparatory for the NEXT kiss.

In short, amongst a girl's "weak moments" the first always knows that he won't be the last, and the last can be perfectly sure that he isn't the first.

If he "kisses and rides away," he need have no fear that she is going to waste any time waiting for him to come back, nor any tears regretting him. There is probably another "weak moment" waiting on her doorstep, anyway.

And one "weak moment" more or less makes little difference in a modern girl's life. But too many "weak moments" are weakening the game for woman!

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

Tuesday, March 20

Work every day as though you would live forever; live every day as though you expected to die tomorrow.—H. J. Heinz.

THE auguries for this day, judged by the sidereal movements, are for a fairly active and prosperous state of affairs. The money prospects are well fortified, making for increase, with expansion of business, this sustained by the impetus of Mars in strong position. There may be an unusual or unexpected situation in the personal relations.

Those whose birthday it is may have a fairly active and progressive year, with business expanding and money increasing. Social, domestic or affectional connections may assume unexpected or sensational aspects.

A child born on this day should be energetic and ambitious and may carve a successful career for itself. Its personal life may be somewhat spectacular.

Notable Nativity: Charles W. Eliot, educator.

Two Dinner Vegetables

Open a can of small peas; drain them, then cover with cold water, changing it until the peas are clear. Now cover and bring to boiling point, cook five minutes, drain, season with a lump of butter, salt, pepper and a tablespoonful of sugar. Creamed mushrooms. Open a large can of mushrooms and drain. Have ready a cupful of real brown sauce; put the mushrooms into it and allow them to heat and simmer five minutes. Serve garnished with toast sippets.

For the Lovelorn

By ELEANOR GALE

Irene

DEAR MISS GALE:

I have admired your advice to others, therefore I am coming to you for some. Here is my trouble! Some months ago I obtained an introduction to a young man whom I admired very much. I thought it would be very interesting to have him for a friend, but later I found myself caring very much for him. A week after our introduction he told me he had a steady girl, but that they only had a warm friendship for each other, and not love. Billy and this young lady go with each other for their mothers' sake. He has asked me to care a little for him and to go out with him. What should I do, Miss Gale? I want Billy to be loyal to this girl and I have told him that as long as he continues to go steady with her that I could not see him. Did I do right? I do care for him very much, and I don't care about any other of the young men. He has explained that each wish to be free to do as they please, but their mothers feel as though they will marry later on. What should I do? IRENE.

It is ridiculous for this young man to let himself be urged into marriage against his own wishes, and since he, himself, says he is free, why should you refuse to see him? His loyalty to the other girl is not one that is sponsored by affection. You may be the right girl for him, and if you broke off your friendship now, it might spoil both your lives. The other girl probably cares as little for him, so she cannot be hurt.

Betty Brown Eyes

DEAR MISS GALE:

I love to read your good advice, and sincerely hope that you will give me some. My boy friend and I quarreled, rather, he told me a mean lie—but was very, very sorry afterwards for telling it. He didn't call up or write because he believed that I was through with him for good. One day I ran across him and spoke—now every thing is lovely again. He told me he was very sorry for doing what he did and I forgave him. Miss Gale, that is what I wanted to know—did I do right in speaking to him or should I have given him up for good? I love this boy and believe that he loves me in return. That is the main reason why I was so forgiving. Again, did I do right? If a fellow sees a girl at least three times a week, is a gentleman in every sense of the word, do you believe he loves her? I am 21 years of age and have been working for the past five years. My boy friend is a blond—do you think that is why he is deceitful? This was his first offense against me, too. BETTY BROWN EYES.

Yes, I think you did right in forgiving him, my dear. He surely must like you. Blonds are no more deceitful than brunets, you know.

Unlucky

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am a girl 20 years old, and I have read your good advice for about two years. I have come now to you, to ask you to help me to solve one of my problems. I do not believe in drinking, smoking or petting. I go with a steady fellow now, but I realize I do not like him nearly as well as my old boy friend. I fell out with my old boy friend because a few times he made dates with me and did not fill them. When I'd see him again he'd always have a good reason, mostly on account of his position. I realize he has a responsible position, but I did not realize it at that time. How can I regain his friendship? UNLUCKY.

Next time you see him, be as friendly with him as you used to be and if he still likes you he will take the hint.

Skin Break Out?

Try the thing that really works—that actually clears up the skin and leaves it smooth and white. Sulphur in combination with menthol does it! The germ destroying action of sulphur clears the skin, while menthol heals the sore and broken tissues. Twofold action for perfect results! Pimples, blackheads, acne—even fiery eczema—positively yields. Rowles Mentho Sulphur is inexpensive and all druggists supply it in jars ready to use. Be sure it's Rowles.

Convince yourself as thousands of others have
— by this personal health test

THE thousands who have made this test were not invalids. They considered themselves well, just as you do. But they realized that something was slowing them up, interfering with their sleep, robbing them of some of the joy in life that should have been theirs.

So they did this: They dropped caffein beverages from their diet for thirty days—made Postum their mealtime drink instead. Before the thirty days were up, they were convinced!

Convinced that Postum is a great drink in its own right—a drink with a delightful flavor all its own. Convinced that Postum is a wonderful aid to health—a drink that never keeps you awake, never jangles your nerves, never causes headaches or indigestion, as caffein beverages do. On a basis of results—because they knew Postum helped them—they made it their mealtime drink for life!

Try it yourself!

Set aside the next thirty days for your health test! Let Postum take the place of caffein beverages in your diet. Then watch your improvement! See how much better you feel! Your grocer has Postum in two forms—Instant Postum, prepared instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, the kind you boil. Both are made of roasted whole wheat and bran—no trace of artificial stimulants in them. Both have the flavor millions prefer. Both cost much less than most other mealtime drinks. Order today!

Pauline Starke and the individual bathroom designed for her loveliness

"Exquisite smooth skin fascinates people—every screen star knows its supreme importance. Make-up is practically useless under the glaring lights of the close-up—the skin itself must be lovely."

says Irvin V. Willat, director for UNIVERSAL

¶ Nine out of ten screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap! It cares for their skin the true French way. ¶ The great film companies have made it the "official" soap in their studio dressing rooms. ¶ Enjoy the caressing, instant lather you loved in French soaps but until now could only get at 50¢ or $1.00 a cake—now it's just TEN CENTS!

"How to keep one's skin perpetually smooth is a star's grave problem—the close-up permits of so little make-up. Lux Toilet Soap keeps my skin beautifully even and smooth."

DEATH HALTS BANK FRAUD TRIALS

The trials of three officials of the defunct Brotherhood Savings and Trust Company which were scheduled to start tomorrow in Criminal Court, were postponed again this morning owing to the death of Rody P. Marshall, Jr., son of Attorney Rody Marshall, counsel for the defendants. The trials of Roland E. McCrady, president, William Kelly, vice president and J. R. Nelson, treasurer, have been delayed for several months but finally were to have started tomorrow.

The three are charged with embezzling $102,500 of the bank's funds and in addition McCrady is charged with the embezzlement of $10,000 from Harry Braun, who is said to have furnished money for a pool in a plan to buy cut-rate bonds. Frank Redman, who is said to have been the broker in the deal, will be arraigned on a charge of larceny.

ASKS $110 000 FROM PITTSBURGH RYS. CO.

Mrs. Sophie Montgomery Saturday entered suit in Common Pleas Court against the Pittsburgh Railways Company asking $50,000 damages for injuries received in a collision of two cars in Ardmore boulevard in September. She alleges she was a passenger on a Trafford car when an Ardmore car crashed into it.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company was made defendant in two suits for $60,000 damages filed by Marie Wettstein and R. Payne Wettstein, and Helen Daily and S. E. Daily, her husband, for personal injuries. The plaintiffs allege that the two women were in an automobile driven by Mrs. Wettstein when the machine was struck by a car at Center avenue.

STORM HALTS AIR HUNT

SNOW DELAYS 'ENDEAVOUR' SEARCH

OTTAWA, Ont., March 19.—(AP.)—A search of the Maine woods by air for the missing trans-Atlantic plane Endeavour today waited favorable weather.

A plane of the Canadian Royal Air Force which set out from here to search the vicinity of Greenville, Me., whence reports had come of a plane being heard last Thursday morning, 48 hours after the take-off from England, was forced down near Greenville, Que., by a snow storm. It was manned by Flying Officer Charles Bath, who said he would proceed as soon as weather permitted.

A former fellow pilot of Capt. Walter R. G. Hinchliffe, who with the Honorable Elsie Mackay, piloted the Endeavour on her attempted flight across the Atlantic, has come forward in support of the theory that the plane heard over Anagance, N. B., early Thursday morning was that of Hinchliffe.

The flier, Capt. E. J. Cooper, now a mail pilot in the Canadian service, said he had interviewed the trainmen who said they saw a plane near Anagance and was convinced that one really had been sighted. He gave it as his opinion it was the Hinchliffe plane and that it probably had run out of fuel and crashed in the dark in the heavy wooded section.

TWO TURBINES

This power house, a substantial building in connection with the St. Francis dam, which burst and carried death to more than 200 Californians. Sixty-five men were employed and most of them along with their families, are believed lost. Only two turbines remain of the power house since the mighty flood waters rolled over it. The furious waters sliced away the wall of the canyon. The power house had been erected almost beneath the dam's very bulwarks.

BEAVER COLLEGE CALLS REV. DR. W. B. GREENWAY

The Rev. Dr. Walter B. Greenway, pastor of Bethany Temple Presbyterian Church at Fifty-third and Spruce streets, Philadelphia, has received a call from Beaver College at Jenkintown, Pa., to become its president. Beaver College was founded in 1853 at Beaver, Pa. It was given full charter rights in 1872. It was combined with the Beechwood School at Jenkintown. The college occupies 12 acres, within 10 miles of the City Hall of Philadelphia. It now has an enrollment of about 500 students, making it the largest women's college in or about Philadelphia. It carries a faculty of 50 professors and instructors.

You wouldn't go barefoot in a blizzard

Nor try to get by in wet and slush with the soles of your shoes worn thin.

Yet smooth tires in winter expose you to far greater dangers than thin shoes. Aside from skidding, the doubtful ability of smooth tires to carry you through all kinds of weather and over every road without a flat is a risk that few car owners want to take. No one likes to get out of the car in knee-deep snow or a torrent of rain and sleet to put on a spare tire.

The most comfortable assurance is to know your car is "well shod" for winter driving; that you can go and come where and when you please without a thought to your tires.

Now is the time to trade in your smooth tires for new Dual Grip Generals. Our special winter allowance will save you every penny's worth of mileage left in your old ones, and you can figure on free non-skid mileage for the rest of the winter. Dual Grip Generals wear so little in winter weather that they will still be practically new when summer comes.

Buy them in the low market. Tire prices are now the lowest in fifteen years.

It has cleared my skin wonderfully and I appreciate your sending me a sample. I am going to buy a large box and always have it ready for use. It sure is a wonderful salve. I wouldn't be without it."

the union would be able to present all of its remaining testimony, in support of its contentions, this week, but he doubted if all of its witnesses could be heard before next week. There has been no intimation as to how long the operators will require to present their side.

Canada Accused

Woodford was the first witness today. The United Mine Workers gave out the following statement in connection with the calling of Woodford to the stand:

"The Rail and River Coal Company is owned exclusively by the Canadian National Railways. All of its stock is owned and its bonds guaranteed by the Canadian National Railways.

"The Rail and River Coal Company ships most—if not all—of its coal to the Canadian National Railways.

"The Canadian National Railways is owned by the government of the Dominion of Canada.

"The Rail and River Coal Company, along with other Ohio coal companies, is endeavoring to reduce miners' wages.

"Therefore, the Canadian government is a party to the attack upon the United Mine Workers of America in the United States. It is participating in a natural resource of the United States—coal—and seeking to reduce the earnings and living standards of the American coal miners."

Woodford testified that his company normally employs 1,500 men. Its mines are in Belmont county, O. He occasionally has interviews with Sir Henry Thornton, head of the Canadian National Railways, in regard to the business, but most of the time runs the company's affairs without interference from the railroad.

The Rail and River Coal Company has not operated its mines since April 1, 1927, when the Jacksonville agreement expired.

Woodford said his company sold coal to the Canadian National Railways at cost, but that the railroad found it cheaper to buy coal in West Virginia, mined by non-union miners, than to mine its own coal in Ohio and pay the union scale of wages. The West Virginian coal, he said, was 45 cents a ton cheaper.

In response to questions of Oliver K. Eaton, of counsel for the United Mine Workers, Woodford said it was costing his company $25,000 a month to maintain its mines in idleness.

"Non-Union Cheaper"

Eaton asked the witness if the Canadian government did not pursue a "very liberal" policy towards union labor. Woodford admitted that it did. Eaton then inquired if the Canadian National Railways would not pursue a different policy in regard to its purchase of coal if the mines were in Canada. Woodford thought not.

He said the Canadian National was buying West Virginia coal at from $1.25 to $1.35 a ton, which, he admitted, was less than the cost of production.

Senators Fess, of Ohio; James Couzens, of Michigan, and Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, asked Woodford what he thought was the remedy for the labor troubles in the coal industry. He answered that compulsory arbitration of disputes between operators and miners would be helpful.

Eaton asked if the Canadian government did not virtually subsidize Canadian coal operators by giving them low freight rates and a protective tariff on slack coal. Woodford said he understood that was the case.

I. C. C. Accused

Woodford stated that union miners of his company, now on strike, were in some cases working in non-union mines across the Ohio river in West Virginia.

Senator Wheeler asked if there were not "a lot of operators in West Virginia who were in as bad a fix as the Ohio operators." Woodford said he could not answer.

Wheeler read a letter received by the Interstate Commerce Committee from an operator who said, apropos of the committee's rejection of Commissioner Esch for another term as interstate commerce commissioner, that the committee was engaged in a conspiracy to destroy the coal industry in Ohio and should pay some attention to conditions in the southern mines, where wages as low as $2 a day were being paid.

New Ohio Co. Scale

Senator Wheeler also read the following wage scale recently announced by the Ohio company.

"The Hobson Mining Company.

"Producer Mammoth Pomeroy Block.

"Rutland, O., February 14, 1928.

"To meet the present situation confronting the Hobson Mining Company, the following scale of wages will go into effect February the 16th, 1928:

Wide coal loading	40c	per ton
Entry coal loading	45c	per ton
Cutting	9c	per ton
Motormen	$3.50	per day
Trackmen	3.50	per day
Drivers	3.25	per day
Trip riders	3.25	per day
Inside laborers	3.00	per day
Blacksmith	4.00	per day
Electrician	4.50	per day
Wiremen	3.50	per day
Outside labor	2.75	per day
Trappers	2.00	per day

"The Hobson Mining Company."

"Low Wage Outrage"

Senator Wheeler said he thought that it was an outrage for an employer to pay an American workingman as little as $2 or even $3 a day.

"The committee is all agreed on that," said Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, chairman of the committee.

"No industry has a right to survive than can't pay a living wage," added Wheeler.

Senator Fees said that while he entertained similar views he thought that the southern operators paying the lowest wages ought to be taken to task rather than the Ohio operators who wish to reduce wages only because of southern competition.

Attorney Eaton said the conditions [illegible] South will be fully developed [illegible]ter in the investigation.

Woodford said one solution for the problem would be the unionization of the southern coal fields. The loss of West Virginia by the United Mine Workers started the trouble, he thought.

Reporter Testifies

Senator Fess asked Woodford if continuation of the present situation would not lead to nationalization of the mines—the taking over of the coal industry by the government. Woodford hesitated about replying, and Fess said he himself thought that would be the outcome.

Lowell Limpus, a reporter for the New York Daily News, who has been reporting the coal strike since last November 27, was the next witness. He said that when he made his first trip to Pittsburgh in connection with the strike he was, if anything, prejudiced against the strikers, because he knew the Colorado coal strike was an Industrial Workers of the World affair, and he had not carefully differentiated between the Industrial Workers of the World, of whom he disapproves, and the United Mine Workers.

Limpus read some of his articles written after he had been on his assignment a few weeks—articles which showed sympathy for the strikers and which painted their suffering in the strongest colors.

Charges "Slavery"

Limpus said he had investigated conditions at about 50 mining towns in Western Pennsylvania and central Pennsylvania. He said he had been particularly struck by the destitution, by the failure of the Red Cross to relieve it, by the brutality of the coal and iron police, and by the "industrial slavery" of the strikebreakers, who in some camps, according to Limpus, are held in a state of virtual peonage, unable to leave because of their indebtedness to the company.

Limpus told of many incidents that he experienced in his investigation of the strike.

On one occasion, he said, he and a fellow reporter, Herbert R. McCrory, were arrested by Sergt. Newville Miller of the coal and iron police at Coverdale Mine No. 8 of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation for trespassing.

DORIS MAY BEAT NOOSE

in her prison cell, "but I am glad that he has told the truth at last. It justifies the love that I had for him, the love that was stilled when I believed he was shielding himself at my expense."

Attorney J. A. Legault, in Ottawa today, gave the original copy of McDonald's statement to Minister of Justice Lapointe. The federal cabinet will consider the case tomorrow, but no decision will be made concerning a postponement of the hanging until Thursday night, the eve of the scheduled execution.

CHANCE FOR ACQUITTAL

While McDonald's respite, if granted, will be but a temporary one, to enable him to testify at a second trial, legal authorities here were convinced today that the former Broadway cabaret girl will be granted a new trial and will be acquitted as a result of her husband's melodramatic intercession.

While McDonald declared in his affidavit that the girl had no part in the murder and that the confession which she made to Sergt. Clark in Denver was completely untrue, he carefully refrained from making any statement incriminating himself or Frank McMullen, missing member of the trio accused by the crown of killing the Lachine taxi driver.

His statement, made to officials at Bordeaux prison here, reads as follows:

"To whom it may concern:

"This is to certify that my wife, Doris Palmer McDonald, now in jail at Montreal, is innocent of the murder of A. Bouchard.

"I swear to this by my God in heaven. She had not one thing to do with the murder or helped in any way and the confession she made in Denver is untrue.

"I am ready to die and I want to tell the truth," he said.

McDonald made his statement voluntarily.

MOTHER ELATED

Mrs. Hazel Grieco, Julia's mother, who has been in Montreal for three weeks fighting to save her daughter's life, appeared elated when shown a copy of McDonald's exoneration statement. She hastened to communicate its contents to friends in Chicago.

"I didn't believe he would do it," she said of McDonald, "but I forgive him everything now that he has spoken and declared Julia's innocence. I only hope that it doesn't come too late to save her life."

W. E. Cribari, the young Mount Vernon attorney who has worked tirelessly to save Julia from the gallows, said the statement given to clear the girl ought to help the fight for clemency and that it would prove to be the great factor in swinging members of the federal cabinet to Julia's side.

"To those of us who have always believed in Julia's innocence, McDonald's statement is no surprise," he said. "Nevertheless, I realize that it comes at a late date in the face of terrific odds. Whether there is still time to save her from the gallows we cannot say, but I am hopeful."

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Easter Is a Joyous Time for the School Set—It Means Vacation and Home

EASTER has a meaning for everyone, but for few people does it have so many meanings as for the college or finishing school student. For in addition to all the emotions conventionally associated with the Pascal season, the schoolboy and schoolgirl has a vacation. Beginning the middle of the week students will arrive home for the spring holidays.

Among the many returning to Pittsburgh will be Anne Virginia Pugh, daughter of the Claude Freeman Pughs, of Hamilton road, Thornburg. She made her debut, you will remember, in the fall. Anne, who is a senior at Wellesley, will drive home, stopping en route in Philadelphia. While in the Quaker City she will attend a ball. With Anne will come another Wellesley senior, Eleanor Milliken, of Hamilton, O., who will be her houseguest during the holidays.

Theodate Johnson, of Cleveland, will be Anne's guest also. Anne and Eleanor Milliken are expected home on April 1.

Three more debutantes of the last fall, all college girls, also will return home. Elizabeth Nicholson, daughter of the John Hancock Nicholsons, of Shady avenue, is expetced home on Thursday from Smith. Lucy Coleman Ward, daughter of the T. Coleman Wards, of Walnut street, will return from Smith at the same time. The third bud is Eloise Hampton Wilson, daughter of the Robert Lee Wilsons, of South Fairmount avenue, who came out during the Christmas holidays. Eloise, a senior at Wellesley, will arrive in Pittsburgh on March 30.

Among the other Wellesley girls coming home on that date are Martha Hamlin Cooper, daughter of Dr. Roy C. Cooper, of North Negley avenue, and Jean Henninger, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Henninger, of Aiken avenue.

Mary Louise Hampton, daughter of the W. J. Hamptons, of Portland street, will arrive home from Smith on Thursday, accompanied by Christine Forpin, also a Smith student, of Greenfield, Mass., who will be her houseguest.

In honor of her houseguest, Mary Louise will entertain with a bridge luncheon in her home on March 27. On the following saturday night, March 31, Mrs. C. P. Matheson, of Maryland avenue, will entertain at a dinner for Mary Louise and her guest.

Wilma Fisher and Anne Elizabeth Fredericks are expected to arrive on Thursday from Smith.

It must be that down in Palm Beach the society colony is unaware that winter has come back. For many are leaving the southern resort daily. One of the biggest affairs of the last days of the Palm Beach season was the annual costume ball at the new Palm Beach Hotel on Saturday night. Guests came, of course, in Irish costume. Shamrocks, clay pipes and green carnations decorated the tables, and green garlands and Irish flags, the roof. Many of the Pittsburgh colony attended the affair, I hear.

Another Palm Beach event was the annual luncheon given by the Hobe Sound Yacht Club at the Olympia Beach Inn on Saturday. At the largest table the commodore of the club, Thomas E. Murphy, and Mrs. Murphy entertained many of the socially prominent, among them the James Francis Burkes.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Hansen, of Grenet street, North Side, have made known the marriage of their daughter, Miss Florence Elizabeth Hansen, and Howard Merle Barnum, of this city, son of Mrs. John Merton Barnum, of Miami, Fla., which was solemnized Saturday morning in the Hansen home. After a trip to Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Barnum will be at home with the latter's parents. The bride attended the University of Pittsburgh and is a member of the Zeta Tau Alpha fraternity. Mr. Barnum is a graduate of Colby College, Waterville, Me., and is a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Mrs. C. W. Biers, of Bellevue, and Mrs. F. G. Affeldt, of Lansing, Mich., entertained with a bridge luncheon and shower Saturday in Gimbel's in honor of their sister, Miss Lavina May Eckert, of Kendall avenue, Bellevue, whose marriage to James G. Campbell, of Wilmington, Del., will be solemnized Wednesday night. There were 28 guests and the decorations were in green and white.

The James Mortons, of Howe street, East End, are spending some time in Florida. They sailed from Philadelphia on March 2 for Jacksonville. Later they went to Jacksonville, where they remained for several weeks. Now they expect to leave for Sarasota, Venice, Fort Meyers, Miami and Palm Beach before leaving Florida. Then they will visit Havana before returning to Pittsburgh toward the end of April. Sounds fascinating, doesn't it, after one has walked through the slushy snow of late March?

Pre-Easter visits to New York seem to be popular just now with Pittsburghers. Mrs. James E. Brown, of Sewickley, has been at the St. Regis Hotel there for a few days.

After spending a short time in New York the J. D. Callerys went to Washington to spend the week-end. They will be back in Pittsburgh today, it is expected.

Samuel V. Hay, of Hobart street, has announced the engagement of his niece, Miss Emma H. Riley, to Samuel Carroll Carter, of Sheridan avenue, son of Mrs. Belle W. Carter, of Glens Falls, N. Y. The announcement was made Saturday night at a dinner given in the Morrowfield Hotel.

Mrs. H. Allen Kistler, of Bellevue, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Martha Hoyt Kistler, to Edward Payson Kerr, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. P. Kerr, of Bellevue.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Rachel P. Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Dunn, of Washington, Pa., and Harold W. Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Scott, also of Washington, which was solemnized last Wednesday night by the Rev. James S. Jewell in his home in Dormont. Miss Margaret Mundell and Rodger Campbell were the attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Scott will make their home in East Beau street, Washington.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Rosalie Swartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Edgar Swartz, of Bellevue, and Ray R. Nelson, of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Nelson, of Uniontown, was solemnized last Thursday night in the Swartz home by the Rev. Dr. Ralph B. Urmy, pastor of the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church. The bride wore an ensemble of pearl gray with a corsage of pink rosebuds. Miss Rosalie Paulin, of Bellevue, her cousin, played the wedding music. Only the families and a few friends witnessed the ceremony, which was followed by a reception. After a short trip, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson will be at home in the Loutellus Apartments, Melwood street.

The wedding of Miss Esther Stevenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Stevenson, of Edgewood, and John E. Cook, of Kansas City, Mo., took place Wednesday night in the Fourth Methodist Protestant Church with the Rev. Dr. J. Sala Leland officiating. The bride wore white satin and lace with a tulle veil, and carried white roses and lilies of the valley. Her sister, Miss Helen Stevenson, was maid of honor, and Miss Edna McMaster, her cousin, was bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Cook are taking a short eastern trip and will be at home in Brooklyn, N. Y., after July 1. The bride was a senior at the University of Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Helm, of Green street, Harrisburg, have made known the marriage of their daughter, Miss Hazel Helm, and John Irvin Gearhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Gearhart, of Shady avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Gearhart will be at home in Pittsburgh after May 1.

TOTAL DEATHS IN FLOOD PUT AT 449

LOS ANGELES, March 19.—(AP.)—The total loss of life in the St. Francis dam disaster was computed today and 449 persons—272 known dead, 177 missing and believed to have perished.

While the search for the dead continued, with an army of more than 100 motor tractors being used to tear through the big piles of debris, authorities in the stricken zone decided to confine their efforts only to reclaimable land. Debris on the unreclaimable area occupied by the old bed of the Santa Clara River will be burned.

The huge fires will serve as funeral pyres for an unknown number of the dead. Authorities said that it would be impossible to put a large enough force to work to recover the bodies on the unreclaimable land within a reasonable length of time, and that with the available organization the process would require so much time that the purpose of seeking them will be defeated.

The state's inquiry into the cause of the dam break was to open today. Many funerals, both public and private, also were arranged for the victims.

MOTHER OF FIVE IN CHURCH DIES

A mother who gave five children to the church died yesterday when Mrs. Anna Sonnefeld, 73, succumbed to a short illness at her home in Mulberry way.

Two sons are priests and three daughters, including twins, are nuns. Michael, the eldest, 51, is pastor of St. Stanislaus, and Joseph is assistant pastor of St. Joseph's at Mt. Carmel. Mary is Sister M. Alexandra, of the Holy Family Church; Catherine is Sister M. Prodigia, of Immaculate Heart, and her twin, Barbara, is Sister M. Auxilia, of the Holy Family Church.

Mrs. Sonnefeld, born Anna Jankowska, in Kituowek, Poland, came to Pittsburgh in 1879, the wife of John Sonnefeld. The couple three years ago celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

According to Father Michael the Sonnefeld children comprise the largest group of brothers and sisters in America to have all entered the church. There is a similar family of five in France and one of six in Italy, he said.

THINK OF NAVY AS SCHOOL --WILBUR

"Let us not think of expenditures for the Navy as useless and exorbitant in time of peace," said Secretary of the Navy Curtis W. Wilbur, in speaking before the Twentieth Century Club at noon today. "But let us think of our Navy as a training school for men, where they may be made physically, mentally and morally better."

Secretary Wilbur's address was one of special appeal to the women of the club, wherein he outlined the vast deal of housekeeping required in keeping the Navy shipshape.

"The task of the Navy involved in the training of its personnel and the upkeep of its material, is one which occupies the entire 24 hours of the day. The ship, whether at sea or at anchor, is the subject of constant and careful attention.

"If we analyze the expenditures involved in the maintenance of a navy, we will see that a very small part of the annual expenditures is for the procurement of new ships, but that the great bulk of the expenditures is in the training of the men and in the upkeep of the material.

"The navy of the United States," concluded the Secretary, "ought to be one of the safest places in the world for the finest type of our young manhood, and the extent to which this ideal has been realized is not yet fully apprehended by our people. Let those of us who love decency and clean manhood stand by the man of the Navy and by their officers in their efforts to make the expenditures devoted by the government for national security a great asset in the manhood and well being of our citizenship."

Secretary Wilbur, accompanied by his Naval aide, Capt. George F. Neal, arrived at the Baltimore and Ohio station shortly after 8 o'clock this morning and was met by Fred Merrick. The party proceeded to the Schenley Apartments, where they breakfasted with Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Kirk. After breakfast the Secretary met Dr. Thomas Arbuthnot, big game hunter and explorer, and visited the Children's Hospital. Mrs. W. J. Holland and Mrs. W. H. Siviter, members of the executive committee of the hospital, and Mrs. Harrison Thomas, chairman of the social service committee, escorted the distinguished visitor through the institution. Dr. H. T. Price, medical director of the hospital, described the work being done for the crippled and ailing children.

This afternoon Secretary Wilbur was taken on a tour of the city to include views of the steel and glass industries. Delegates of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce were hosts on this trip. He will attend the Chamber of Commerce banquet tonight, at which a representative gathering of prominent Pittsburghers will be present.

RATE CUT FOUGHT

that the order of the commission in question was within the power of the commission and that it was based on substantial evidence. Pointing out that the southern railroads had refused to join the operators in the action, Esterline asserted that the coal companies cannot take the place of the railroads and assert the rights of the railroads.

An avalanche of legal documents, principally intervening petitions, were presented at the opening of the hearing of the case instituted by the southern operators to test the authority of the commission in refusing southern railroads the right to make a voluntary freight reduction. The operators contended in their bill that the commission exceeded its authority.

The southern railroads, named defendants in the action with the commission, also filed answers stating their willingness to place the reduced rates into effect if the court approved. A joint answer was filed by Herbert Fitzpatrick, chief counsel of the Chesapeake and Ohio, on behalf of that road and the Louisville and Nashville and the Norfolk and Western railroads. He also filed a separate answer of substantially the same content on behalf of the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific Railway.

Intervening petitions to become plaintiffs included those of the state of West Virginia, the By-Products Coke Corporation of Chicago, a large consumer of southern coal, and others. Petitions to become intervening defendants were filed on behalf of the 25 coal operators in the Pittsburgh district and the coal operators of the Cambridge district in Ohio.

The intervening petition on behalf of West Virginia was presented by F. M. Livezey, counsel of the Public Service Commission. He stated that if the ruling of the commission was permitted to prevail land values in Southern West Virginia would be greatly depreciated and the entire state would suffer.

The court ordered the filing of the various petitions, and deferred action pending their examination by counsel for possible objections.

Greever, in his argument, challenged the constitutionality of the act under which the commission claimed it reached its final order, declaring the Constitution says that Congress must regulate commerce between the states but "it does not say that Congress, nor one of its creatures, shall destroy commerce." Norman took up Greever's line of argument citing numerous court decisions to support his contention that the commission exceeded its power.

"I am not charging the commission with anything more than that it is reaching out for power and trying to find justification for what it has done," Norman said.

ARRAIGNED ON TWO CHARGES AFTER RAID

"It never rains but it pours," muttered Arthur Foss, alias Faas, of West Apollo, Pa., Saturday, when he found he faced two charges following a raid by Federal authorities and Westmoreland county detectives, armed with a prohibition search warrant.

In addition to finding contraband liquor in his home, police say, they found Foss was harboring Mrs. Clara Parks, 18, a married woman, in his place.

The girl, detectives say, told them she was forced to take refuge in Foss' home after her husband deserted her.

Foss was arraigned before Justice S. K. Unger, for violation of the Snyder act, and on a serious charge, in connection with the harboring of the Parks woman on his place. Mrs. Parks also was arraigned on a serious charge. Both were held for a further hearing.

Why We Behave Like Human Beings

by George A. Dorsey, Ph.D., LL.D.

Do-or-Die Specialists—Which Kind Are You?

Habits of Response to Stimuli Make Most of Us Either Dr. Jekyll or Mr. Hyde

On Saturday Dr. Dorsey told in his chapter of "Why We Behave Like Human Beings," in The Sun-Telegraph, why it is that fear plays a greater part in our lives than hope. Fear is the weapon of the propagandist, who uses it to arouse hatred. Mothers make cowards of their children.

Situation Influences Behavior

CHAPTER XXXVI.

"DON'T jump, dive!" Easier said than done. We are organized on head-up, feet-down plan. We learn to walk that way. The first dive is a new experience; it reverses our feet-down head-up and away-from-solids habit; the water looks hard; there may be rocks below. There were. The boy never forgot it—nor learned to dive. No will power inside his skull could cause the nerves outside to forget their lesson. He could not put his whole heart into a dive.

GEORGE A. DORSEY

Some boys can; they have the do-or-die habit. They explore bottoms and dive in again. And again. By the end of the week they dive like frogs. Their sisters are just as good. Do-or-die for one is usually do-or-die for all in the family.

The boy who learned to dive in spite of his first mishap succeeded largely because of it. The problem was different, more difficult than he had anticipated. That tapped a new source of zeal. He became a high diver in the circus. A net is not water, but the skill required in maneuvering a head-first body in diving was available in learning to dive from the top of the big tent.

Behavior Shifts

There is always great complexity of stimuli in any given situation; the situation itself is always changing. A pig quietly nosing along a swill trough is joined by two more pigs. New situation now; the first pig gets into the trough.

The family have just sat down at the dinner table. The door bell rings. Behavior of the entire family changes; mother jerks off her apron, father puts on his coat, sister wipes brother's mouth, brother kicks the cat. New situation; only one new stimulus—door bell. The family jumped to the reaction; well trained.

Baby alone went right on banging his spoon on the arm of his chair. Baby had just acquired that habit and found it so stimulating that entrance of stranger did not alter its situation. But the family now are suddenly conscious of baby's behavior. Mother asks sister to take baby into the kitchen, knowing that removal of spoon will set off the first habit baby learned (crying till he gets it). Baby is not likely to lose that habit; no other one yields him such large returns.

Influence of Situation

We become Dr. Jekyll or Mr. Hyde. Few can become both. We have our own level of organization; our habits of response to situations in which we feel at home. But Jekyll-Hyde was at home in two situations. His was a dual personality. In one set of situations he was Dr. Jekyll in the other Mr. Hyde.

There are times when, to our astonishment, dog or child makes no response to name or other stimulus which ordinarily calls out a response. If we cannot predict a child's response, how can we expect to predict the behavior of an adult. How can we know when Mr. Hyde will turn into Mr. Jekyll?

We cannot. Even prediction of a comet's movements is simple compared with predicting the behavior of an ameba. But there are some general principles that are of general application.

Our response to a kick on the shin may be: "Well, I'll be . . ." That response does not follow if we are in church, even though the kick came from the same brother. The situation as a whole is a determining factor. The response is delayed until the situation is right. In Rome we do as Romans do. Ditto in church, at a ball game, at a ball.

Varying Responses

The response is likely to be a repetition of one recently called out. We have not been to a movie for months; a friend drags us out; we go to a movie every night for a week. I have just visited a maple-sugar camp; I now notice maple trees everywhere; and see sugar cakes in the grocer's window. I passed them by this morning without noticing.

A fire engine shrieks through the streets several times a week. I have long since ceased to notice it. I do today. My fire insurance expired yesterday. I am all excited because I intend to listen in tonight; the President's speech is to be broadcast. I make certain that my radio is in order. At 8 o'clock I have the colic—the President's speech means nothing to me.

My response to a knock on the door may be to open the door; I may lock it, turn out the light and reach for a revolver. I may pray. Vast numbers of our responses are made with words. This doubles our response repertoire, complicates our behavior.

U. S. STEEL CORP. EARNS $105,418,368 IN '27

By JULIUS G. BERENS,
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, March 19.—J. Pierpont Morgan, James A. Farrell and Myron C. Taylor submit their first annual report as "the steel triumvirate" in the statement of the United States Steel Corporation for the year ended December 31, 1927, which is being mailed to the more than 150,000 stockholders.

Mr. Morgan signs the report as chairman of the board, marking the first time in the history of this gigantic corporation that a Morgan name appears officially on an annual report as an officer, notwithstanding that the late J. P. Morgan, his father, founded the corporation and the present Morgan has been a director for years. Mr. Farrell also signs the report as president and chief operating executive. Mr. Taylor's name does not appear as a signer, but as chairman of the all-powerful finance committee he is probably the dominant individual in the corporation.

LITTLE CHANGE

From the earnings standpoint, the Steel Corporation report discloses little change from the preliminary statement as compiled from quarterly statements issued during last year. In the balance sheet, however, decreases are shown in several items.

Total assets at the close of 1927 were $2,433,583,168, compared with $2,454,139,185 a year previous, or a decline of $20,556,017.

Principal change is noted in current assets, which totaled $533,260,106 as of December 31, 1927, against $589,598,167 at the close of the previous year, a drop of $56,338,061.

Aggregate value of all business transacted by the corporation and its subsidiaries during 1927 was $1,310,392,861, representing a decrease of $197,683,339 from the 1926 total of $1,508,076,000.

Surplus of the corporation at the end of 1927 aggregated $363,044,013, as compared with $528,502,399 a year earlier. The decline, however, was occasioned entirely by the 40 per cent stock dividend distributed last year.

NET INCOME DROPS

The operations last year resulted in a net income, after all depletion, depreciation, amortization and other similar charge-offs, of $105,418,368, which compared with $134,837,957 the previous year. The balance for the stocks was $87,896,536 or $28,770,568 below the 1926 balance.

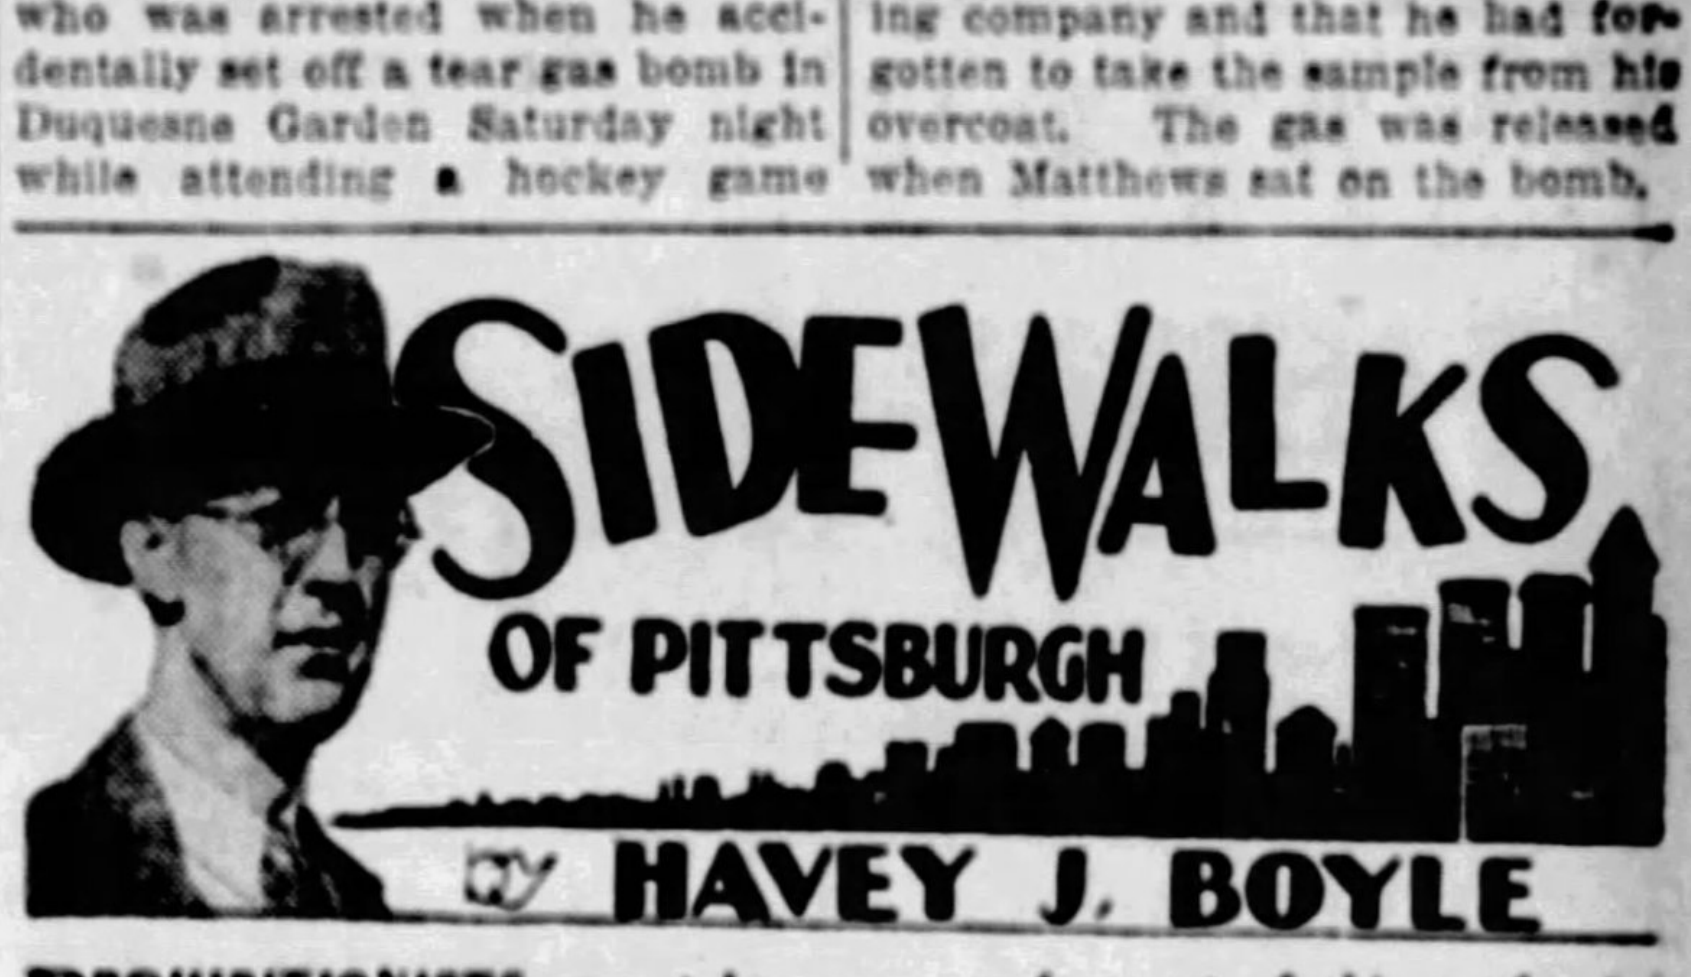
Allowing for preferred dividend requirements, the earnings on the enlarged common capital was equal to $8.80 a share, compared with $12.48 a common share in 1926, on the then outstanding $508,302,500 common stock. The surplus remaining after all dividends in 1927 was $12,863,514, against $25,866,552 the year before. Common dividends, however, required $49,812,645 last year, whereas in 1926 they totaled $14,232,470 less.

CAPTURED GROUNDHOG TURNED OVER TO ZOO

A large groundhog captured while cavorting in back yards of the Highland avenue district Friday, was turned over to the city zoo at Highland Park yesterday by members of Engine Company No. 25, 3339 Penn avenue, the captors. The groundhog was captured by the firemen who answered a still alarm sent in by a resident who had noticed the animal and believed it to be a large rat. Neighbors who witnessed the capture said that the groundhog's presence showed that winter was over.

TEAR GAS SALESMAN DROPS "BOMB," HELD

L. J. Matthews, 40, of New York, who was arrested when he accidentally set off a tear gas bomb in Duquesne Garden Saturday night while attending a hockey game there, was held over at a hearing yesterday in Oakland Police Court. Matthews said he was a salesman for a tear gas bomb manufacturing company and that he had forgotten to take the sample from his overcoat. The gas was released when Matthews sat on the bomb.



SIDE-WALKS OF PITTSBURGH

By HAVEY J. BOYLE

PROHIBITIONISTS may take some comfort out of this confession by a saloon-keeper, a fellow of the old school who takes pride in keeping a clean, hospitable establishment, and who is never happier than when offering some new delicacy in the way of imported food to his trade. He says in part:

"I am nearly ready to give up the losing fight. The day of the swinging door saloon is gone, never to return. That there always will be some illicit drinking is my honest belief, but it will be transferred more than ever into the homes, and into the clubs which operate behind closed doors.

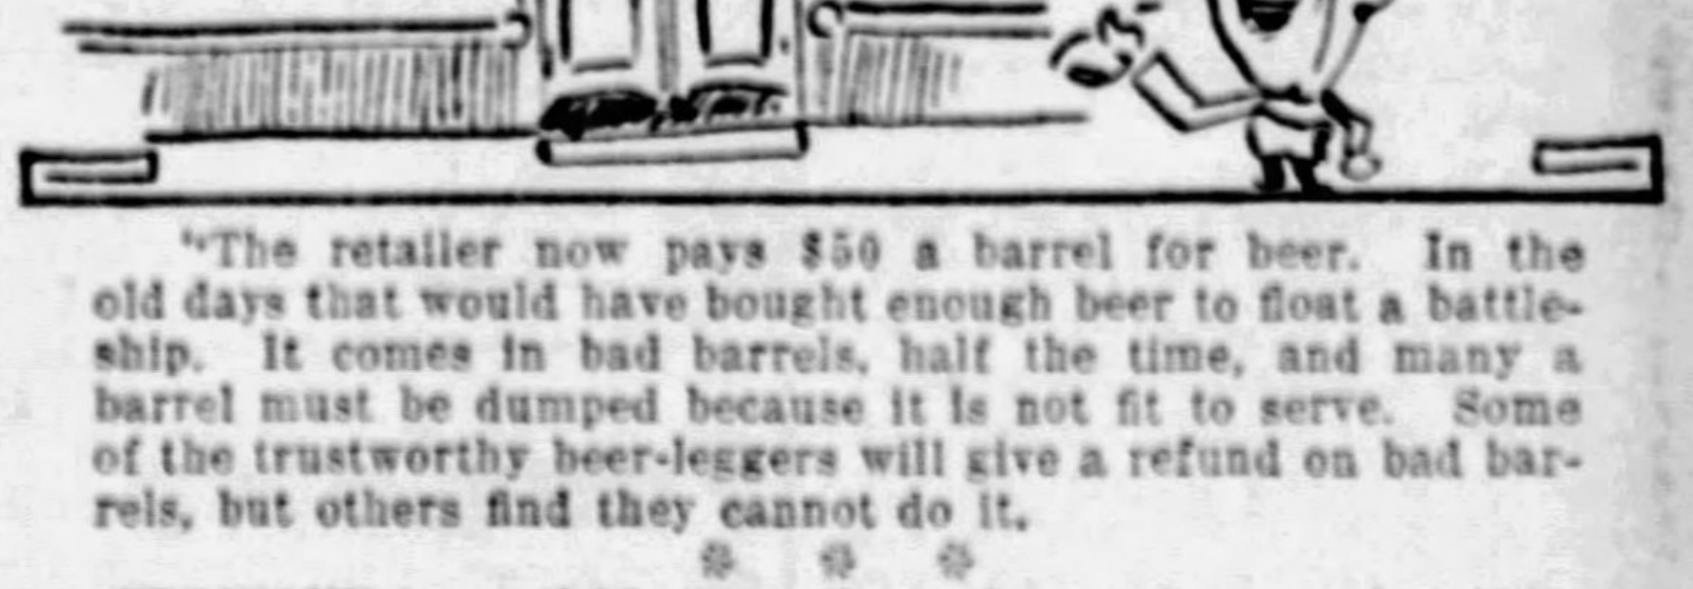
"I AM not bemoaning this change as much as you may think. The saloon has lost most of whatever glamour it held for the drinking public. I am one of the old guard which tried to hang on through these parlous days. For the most part the present-day saloons are being operated by men who came into the business after prohibition. They, of course, lacked the tradition and the finesse of the old-time barkeep and saloon proprietor who used to proudly display Cafe and Bar, Geo. Smith, Prop.



"The retailer now pays $50 a barrel for beer. In the old days that would have bought enough beer to float a battleship. It comes in bad barrels, half the time, and many a barrel must be dumped because it is not fit to serve. Some of the trustworthy beer-leggers will give a refund on bad barrels, but others find they cannot do it.

"WHISKY is not difficult to obtain, but no former saloon-keeper feels good about having to charge 50 cents a pop for stuff that used to sell for 10 and 15 cents a jolt. Gin is plentiful as it can be brewed by novices, almost. It is cheaper, too, selling for two-bits a dash. Ale goes at 75 cents a throw, which is altogether too high. The non-whisky drinker since prohibition has made a valiant effort to keep away from drinking the hot stuff and now you find the former beer drinkers taking to ale, but the tariff is so high that you see them now and then taking to slugs of rye.

"Strange as it may sound to the cynical and to my frie[illegible] among the prohibitionists all saloon-keepers are not in the busin[illegible] primarily for the money. Beyond the profit they get a certain sat[illegible]action out of putting up a good lunch, out of meeting their old customers, and out of making their saloon a sort of respectable club house for men lacking means to belong to good clubs.

"BUT the end is drawing near for all of us. The tide is running too strong against us. Raids are made, with a consequent loss and depletion of stock, and even when raids are escaped there are many days when we hear that raids are contemplated which forces us to close down for a time. All of this, of course, brings a loss of money.

"IN OTHER cities the saloon has given away to 'clubs' where admittance is gained only by card or key. This soon will come in Pittsburgh."

A LETTER from Jean Foley contains an invitation to the next dinner of the local magicians' club. It says something about a speech, but that part is out, although we'd like to dine with magicians and learn a few parlor tricks. We always have had a great ambition to be able to say, while blindfolded: "The fourteenth card from the bottom is the ace of spades," or "Now the card that you saw me place in the vase in the living room will be found in your vest pocket."

IT'S THE ACE OF SPADES

Obviously, nothing but a rabbit stew will [illegible]erved at a dinner of the magis.

At the Ball Tess Kisses Saxon to Celebrate Her Return and His Peril

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Jerry King, good-looking, charming and 19, meets Saxon Rhodes, a young architect, and falls in love with him. Marza warns her that he will not make a good husband. Jerry sees Saxon kiss Tess Willi, but still loves him and refuses to marry Heine Ross. Saxon finds her sketching and they declare their love. Saxon's uncle sends him abroad to finish his studies. Tess Willi also goes; Jerry is jealous. No letters from Saxon, she cables; he writes that he has been ill. Heine again declares his love for her and begs her to let him tell her something. Jerry earns $150 for making panels for an exclusive shop. Saxon is home and he and Jerry find happiness in each others company. They attend a party in John Iver's studio and Jerry learns much. Jerry's drawings are rejected and she is very blue. She thinks Heinie loves her better than Saxon, but a note from him proves different.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

HALF an hour later she and Saxon were going up the creaky wooden steps to John's studio. It was the night of the Four Arts' ball. They were meeting here for the first round of cocktails.

"Isn't it odd," Jerry thought, humming the quaint, haunting Habanera, "how a costume tinges a person's mood? Would that I were Carmen tonight and he the toreador!"

From the studio came sounds of laughter. As the door opened a loud, breezy voice took Jerry completely by surprise. A Normandy peasant with red gold hair and shawl trailing as only Tess Willi would have worn it, called gaily: "Here comes my second husband and his first wife!"

Tess picked up a tray and came with glasses to them. She was already a trifle exalted and, clinking her glass with Saxon's, said with grand audacity. "Hello, darling! How do you like the plan outlined in my little salutation?"

"Quite nice," said Jerry, refusing to be blocked by Tess' large shoulder, "but it ain't gonna rain no more! This is one case where the first also shall be the last."

"Hog!" said Tess affably. She reached over and kissed Saxon, who seemed well enough pleased.

"That," declared Tess, "is to celebrate my safe return and your peril!"

"Which dark peril, men seem to have weathered very nicely this quarter of a century!" said Inga in a loud aside to Jerry. "Nobody asked her here!"

Inga detested Tess, who, she said, wasn't original enough to be good as she was born to be; nor vital enough to commit the sins she boasted.

"If she pulls any smart stuff tonight," said Inga hotly and looking too ferocious for the Kewpie costume, "there'll be one blonde less in the world for gentlemen to prefer!"

Saxon overheard this and chuckled. "She saved John from starvation, Inga. And there he is in the palm of your hand. Be grateful."

In Jerry's ear, as they stuffed flasks into their pockets and went stamping down the steps. "That was some comeback, Carmen. You done us proud."

"If you love me," she sang, impudent, not caring at all for a washout like Tess, "if you love me, be warned—be warned!"

Night of carnival: of bacchanalian splendor, the like of which one had not seen before. The Fairmont was a splash of color; a glowing, reckless song of joy, like the storied revels of the Romans. Quick throb of it got into the veins; made the eyes shine and the heart thump.

As they entered, a group of players calling themselves the Russian Hill Artists were grouped excitedly. They were to put on a skit. And were now hastily counting themselves. Someone was missing.

She appeared presently—a tiny girl dressed as a golden sprite. She saw John, waved gaily. Then she saw Saxon and came flying over and kissed them both with the greatest affection.

They were greatly charmed, and John introduced the girl with a flourish: "Nellie Spears—the darling of Paris!"

"Good beginning, big boy," Jerry whispered in Saxon's ear. "You've quite a handicap on me. I'll catch up."

"Go to it, sweetness. That last was awfully good! I hope you'll be as lucky."

There was 12 at their table. All excepting Tess and Mr. Arthur Brown, whom she brought, had attended Art School for one term or another.

They knew each other very well. They remembered when Frank and Kate Knoles first fell in love; remembered their fiery defiance and their mad young elopement when Kate was 20 and Frank 23.

They also knew the very night when Hal Stacey proposed and was accepted by Vera. Four years ago.

Jerry glanced at Vera, who was diminutive and wistful, and dressed as Columbine. "She hasn't Marza's look," she thought. "I guess it doesn't work for everyone!"

Then she went off dancing with Rod Porter. They were just returning to the table when a very beautiful Spanish senorita pushed her way to the chair near Saxon's.

Her mask left her dark, luminous eyes with their amazing long lashes boldly revealed. This and the flash of extraordinary white teeth was all one saw. But it was enough.

"Give me a cigaret," said she in a husky, musical tone and lowered her head while Saxon lighted it. No one seemed to know her—but she knew them, or some of them, and was magnificently at home.

"What has the Roman lady in that box," she asked, pointing to Sylvia, who was very beautifully dressed as Cornelia, the Roman matron.

"Nothing," said Sylvia. "My jewels are at home. They are my sons. I'm sorry to tell you they have not yet been born."

"You are too candid, Cornelia. This is a masquerade. You should not wear your desires so openly."

"It's the fashion today. We are getting rid of inhibitions."

"I'm glad you told me that. I've been suppressing a wish to dance and so forth with that lady's husband. I guess she won't mind allowing me to be in fashion."

She smiled and even the girls felt the radiant charm of the red lips and flashing teeth. She tapped Hal Stacey on the shoulder: "Arise, Sir Knight! In love's name, arise!"

Vera shot an angry glance in their direction. A little too swiftly Hal answered the summons. And now they were merging with the misty, swaying rainbows on the floor.

"Who is she?" Vera challenged Saxon accusingly.

"I don't know. But I'm willing to learn!"

"You're all alike. All of you!"

She beckoned Jack Sturgiss, whom she chanced to see at a nearby table. And she got up angrily with a muttered, "When Hal comes, tell him he can WAIT for me!"

An hour later—two hours later Hal had not returned. And they were going in to supper.

Vera, who had been flirting outrageously with her old admirer, sat in a furious silence.

"Now, look here," said Saxon, trying to make light of the matter, "you've been carrying on pretty gaily. Why get sore at the poor defenseless man? Besides—who could resist the lady?"

"You're tight. You're all tight."

"I've a slight edge and feel extremely kind to Hal and his Spanish senorita. Come to supper with us, Vera? Why don't you take Jack—"

He broke off abruptly as Hal, swaying a trifle, came up, the senorita jauntily holding his arm.

"Lo, Vee," said he charmingly. "Having a good time? 'Salright with me!"

It happened like a flash. The glass of ginger ale raised, flung through the air, smashing in Hal's face.

CHAPTER XXV.

THEY were all on their feet. Hal, abruptly sobered, grabbed a napkin, slapped it to his jaw where a long, neat cut showed crimson. He wiped the liquid from his face: "Say, sit down—don't make a fuss. Hell of a way to greet a fellow, Vee."

Columbine, shaking from head to foot—an ashy, terrified white, regarded her husband stonily. "Come home!"

He met her demand with a withering silence, and spoke to the senorita who remained at his side, mute, haughty, contemptuous. "I'm sorry—awfully sorry."

To Saxon, "For God's sake, get on the boat—take her to the table!"

Vera, now in a state of frantic excitement, flung on her wrap. . . a white blaze, tapping her foot and waiting.

"I'm not going home," said he.

"You ARE coming home! You're hideously drunk!"

Hal poured himself coffee and as though he were deaf and totally oblivious of the furious figure confronting him, raised the cup to his lips . . . his scratched jaw muffled in the napkin.

The men began to talk as though nothing had happened; the girls tried to soften Vera.

She was past listening and with a sobbing, half hysterical: "Oh, you'll pay!" made a flying dash to the lobby.

Sylvia and Rod Porter caught up with her.

Hal poured himself a lavish measure of whisky, raised it grimly: "Here's how! Matrimony!"

Jerry turned from his blanched indignant face to the floor. Saxon, striking in his Apache costume, was dancing with the Senorita. The girl moved dreamily, her eyes half closed, a red, taunting smile on her lips.

"I wonder who she is?" The two figures blurred with the crowd and now flashed clearly into view. Then they were lost.

Love's Embers Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife" By Adele Garrison

Madge and Lillian Think Eleanor's Excuse for Her Alarm and Swooning Weak

THERE was an imperiousness in Eleanor Lincoln's voice and gesture as she pushed Katherine's hands away, which I would have dubbed flagrant rudeness had I not realized that the girl was hardly responsible for what she was saying or doing.

I knew, however, that it is in just such unguarded moments that the true nature of human beings often betrays itself, and I filed away my impression of her behavior among other indications of an arrogant bearing, which I had noticed in her.

The struggle for composure, which she was making, was worthy of any one's admiration, however. Her swoon was scarcely a minute past when she was not only sitting erect, as she declared herself all right, but the next instant she made a decided effort to get upon her feet.

Katherine effectively thwarted that movement, however, by quickly stepping in front of her.

"You must not think of standing upon your feet so soon," the little nurse said authoritatively. "True, you were unconscious for only a minute or two, but a shock like that isn't to be trifled with. Please rest now, while I fix you up a restorative."

Miss Lincoln submitted quietly. She had regained control of herself, and her contrite look at Katherine told me that she had realized the rudeness of which she had been guilty. But I could not help wondering whether her chagrin was genuine contrition or dismay because a well-fitting mask had slipped for an inadvertent moment.

"Please forgive me for my—rudeness," she said in the manner of a child repeating a well-conned lesson. "And I am so sorry to have annoyed you all this way. I hoped I had outgrown that silly, childish terror of mine, but I have not. I am sure, however, that it is because I have not heard an owl hoot in so long. Now that I realize I may hear one at any time I shall school myself to endure it."

I was glad that at that instant Katehrine stepped in front of her, holding to her lips the restorative draught she had prepared. It gave me a chance to look at Lillian, who promptly lifted her eyebrows with an expression which I knew of old denoting scoffing disbelief. I answered her with a little nod of acquiescence in her opinion, for I, too, felt that the explanation Miss Lincoln was giving was an extremely lame one. The idea that a normally healthy girl, as she undoubtedly was, would faint at the sound of a hoot owl's screech was altogether too far-fetched for my acceptance.

That the girl herself recognized our probable skepticism I was sure when, as soon as she had finished the draught Katherine held to her lips, she spoke again, quickly, with an unconscious note of appeal in her voice.

"I was terribly frightened by an owl when I was a little child," she said. "It was a pet of one—of—my family, which suddenly went wild and—attacked me. Fortunately there was some one at hand and I was not seriously hurt, but I was wild with terror. Later a mischievous cousin told me that whenever I heard an owl hoot it meant that the bird was coming to carry me away. Boy-like, he had sworn me to an oath of secrecy before telling me, so until I outgrew childhood I implicitly believed him and suffered agonies of terror whenever I heard an owl hoot. It grew to be such an obsession that I used to swoon whenever I heard one. Of course, when I grew older I fought against the weakness, and I thought I had overcome it. But the unexpected sound of that owl tonight completely upset me. I am so sorry."

INGROWN NAIL

Turns Right Out Itself

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it cannot penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

Colds and Chills Throw Heavy Burdens on the Kidneys

ARE you getting over a cold or grip only to find yourself always lame and stiff—tired and achy? Are you bothered with nagging backache, drowsy headaches and dizziness? Are the kidney secretions too frequent, scanty or burning in passage? Then you should give some thought to your kidneys.

Colds and chills increase the poisons in the blood and bring extra work to the kidneys. When the kidneys act sluggishly waste impurities remain in the blood and cause many unpleasant symptoms.

Following winter's colds many users rely on Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan's increase the secretion of the kidneys and thus aid in the elimination of waste impurities. Since 1885 they have been winning new friends the country over. Ask your neighbor!

Ban Off Dundee, Pilot

NEW YORK, March 19.—(AP.)—Joe Dundee, welterweight champion, and Max Waxman, his manager, were reinstated today by the New York State Athletic Commission. They were suspended following Dundee's refusal to go through with a match against Ace Hudkins, of Nebraska, in Los Angeles last November.

Reinstatement here followed the receipt of details of the action of the California State Athletic Commission in restoring Dundee and Waxman to good standing there. The boxer and his manager recently were freed in a California court of charges of false advertising, growing out of the Hudkins fiasco.

The commission took a hand in the heavyweight situation by asking Gene Tunney to reply formally to the challenges on file here for a title match in behalf of Jack Sharkey, Tom Heeney and Johnny Risko.

The challenges are in that order, according to Commissioner William Muldoon, with Sharkey's name at the head of the list in spite of his recent defeat by Risko.

Tunney, in a telegram addressed to him at Miami Beach, was informed that the customary six months' period of grace allowed champions after a fight expires March 22.

Training Camp For Davis Cup Squad Opens

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 19.—(AP.)—With clear but chilly weather prevailing, Augusta today became the scene of America's first Davis Cup tennis training camp. The leading stars of the nation will be here all week contesting for places on the four-men team that will attempt to recapture the cup from France.

Big Bill Tilden, for eight seasons a dominant figure in America's tennis supremacy, is here to captain the Davis Cup squad. He will carry final authority in the tryouts which will terminate in the selection of the team this weekend.

Most of the squad will not arrive until tonight, with the first general practice to be held tomorrow on the courts of the Augusta Country Club. Bud Chandler, Harvard law student, and Tilden were the only players here this morning, but W. F. Coen, Jr., Kansas City; Francis T. Hunter, No. 2 ranking player of the United States; George M. Lott, Jr., Chicago; John Hennessey, fifth ranking player; Arnold W. Jones, Providence, R. I.; Wilmer Allison, intercollegiate champion; Wray Brown, St. Louis, and Frank Shields, New York, were expected tonight or early tomorrow.

Forest City Eleven Wins

CLEVELAND, March 19.—Pittsburgh's hopes in the National Amateur cup competition faded like the setting sun over Lake Erie yesterday afternoon, when the Union Switch and Signal team of Swissvale, Pittsburgh's lone representative in the National Amateur went down to defeat before the Magyar-Americans by a 4 goals to 1 score at Magyar Field here.

The Magyars were just as much off form as were Heidelberg in that first game. While the score was 4 goals to 1, it did not begin to show the true value of the game. It was the foolish work of McPherson that gave away three goals. Easy shots rained in and the goalkeeper figured it good form to throw the ball to the penalty mark for one of the Magyars to take a pot shot. Three times McPherson did that and each time it led to a goal.

Swissvale outplayed the Magyars right from the start of the game and it was the poor shooting of the visitors rather than the efforts of the Magyars that prevented a score.

The Swissvale defense tied up the Magyars right and Moir missed twice from two yards with an open goal. Then Gardner did the same thing with no one to beat. After 40 minutes the Magyars scored. McPherson saved an easy shot and threw the ball right to Gallagher, who easily scored.

One minute after, the goalie pulled the same stunt for no reason whatever and Albrecht, the center half, scored. McPherson watching an easy shot go into the net. Half time found the Magyars leading, 2 goals to 0.

The second half was terrible. Both teams evidently run themselves out in the mud in the first half, and little soccer was shown. The Switch defense still kept giving the forwards chances, but Hoffman and Zatsko, who still pushed his way past, stopped them. After 20 minutes' playing, Kane and McLean both scored, Kane's being the best goal of the game.

Then Swissvale started to flash the form that brought them to Cleveland. Brown had been carried off the field with a slight injury and returned to the forward line. Clark forced a corner off Hoffman and Brown neatly headed the ball into the net for the only Swissvale goal.

Lineup:

Magyars—4.	Pos.	Swissvale—1.
Semagyi	G	McPherson
Zatsko	RB	Matthews
Hoffman	LB	Brown
Russell	RH	Gilchrist
Albrecht	CH	Stark
Emrie	LH	White
Engelke	OR	Clark
Kane	IR	Conner
Geetza	C	R. Moir
Gallagher	IL	W. Moir
McLean	OL	Gardner

Goals—Albrecht, Gallagher, Brown, Kane and McLean. Referee—Pickering.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 19.—Henry Cuici, bronzed and smiling little professor, from the Mill River Country Club, Stratford, Conn., and Light Horse Harry Cooper, the hair trigger shot maker of Meadow Country Club, Buffalo, divided the first cut in the $15,000 Miami Beach Lagorce open pot when they tied for medal honors in the qualifying round, four strokes under par, yesterday.

Gene Sarazen, cocky little professional of the French Meadow Country Club, Flushing, L. I., almost had his fingers on the $250 offered for low medal in the qualifying with a 67-72—139 for the 36 holes of play, but Cooper after a steady 70 in the morning round, turned in a 67 in the afternoon for 137. Henry Cuici with 72 in the morning was not regarded as a threat but went wild in the afternoon, shot a 65 and went into a tie for first place establishing a course record in competition, five strokes under par.

BREMERHAVEN, Germany, March 19.—(AP.)—Dr. Otto Peltzer, Germany's crack runner, was cordially welcomed on his return from the United States when the steamship Columbus docked at noon. He was met by delegations from several Bremen sporting clubs.

Dr. Peltzer appeared piqued at criticism leveled at him in certain German sporting quarters and declared that his trip to the United States apparently had been misinterpreted.

"Every start involves a risk and it appears to me to be a wrong attitude to appraise such undertakings solely from the viewpoint of victory or defeat," said Dr. Peltzer, who was beaten in two of his three starts in America.

The doctor's friends assured him that they were confident that he would return an Olympic victor next summer from Amsterdam.

American Oil Company
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Gentlemen:-

About thirty days ago we made our first purchase of AMOCO-GAS for use in the new Ford, and we thought you might be interested to know that we are more than pleased with the results obtained for power, speed and pickup. We have tested the car with AMOCO-GAS under every conceivable condition, and have been unable to note the slightest compression knock.

On a test we were able to obtain a speed of more than seventy (70) miles per hour, with three passengers, in a Tudor sedan, and so far have made every hill in Pittsburgh that we have tried, on high gear.

We believe that every owner of the new Ford will be amazed at the wonderful feeling of power after he has first tramped on the gas, and will realize that the new Ford with AMOCO-GAS need give way to no car made.

We shortly expect to make some special tests on Pittsburgh hills with your gas, and will be glad to notify you of the results.

Yours very truly,
C. E. MOODEY MOTOR COMPANY

SIXTY-FIVE miles per hour is all the Ford Motor Co. claims for the new Model A—but read what this Pittsburgh agent reports! 70 miles per hour in a new Tudor Sedan with three passengers when AMOCO-GAS was used! Climbed every hill they tackled in high! Not the slightest trace of a compression knock with AMOCO-GAS!

That's performance—the same sort of performance you're assured from the minute you fill the tank of your car—no matter what its make or year—with AMOCO-GAS, the Original Special Motor Fuel!

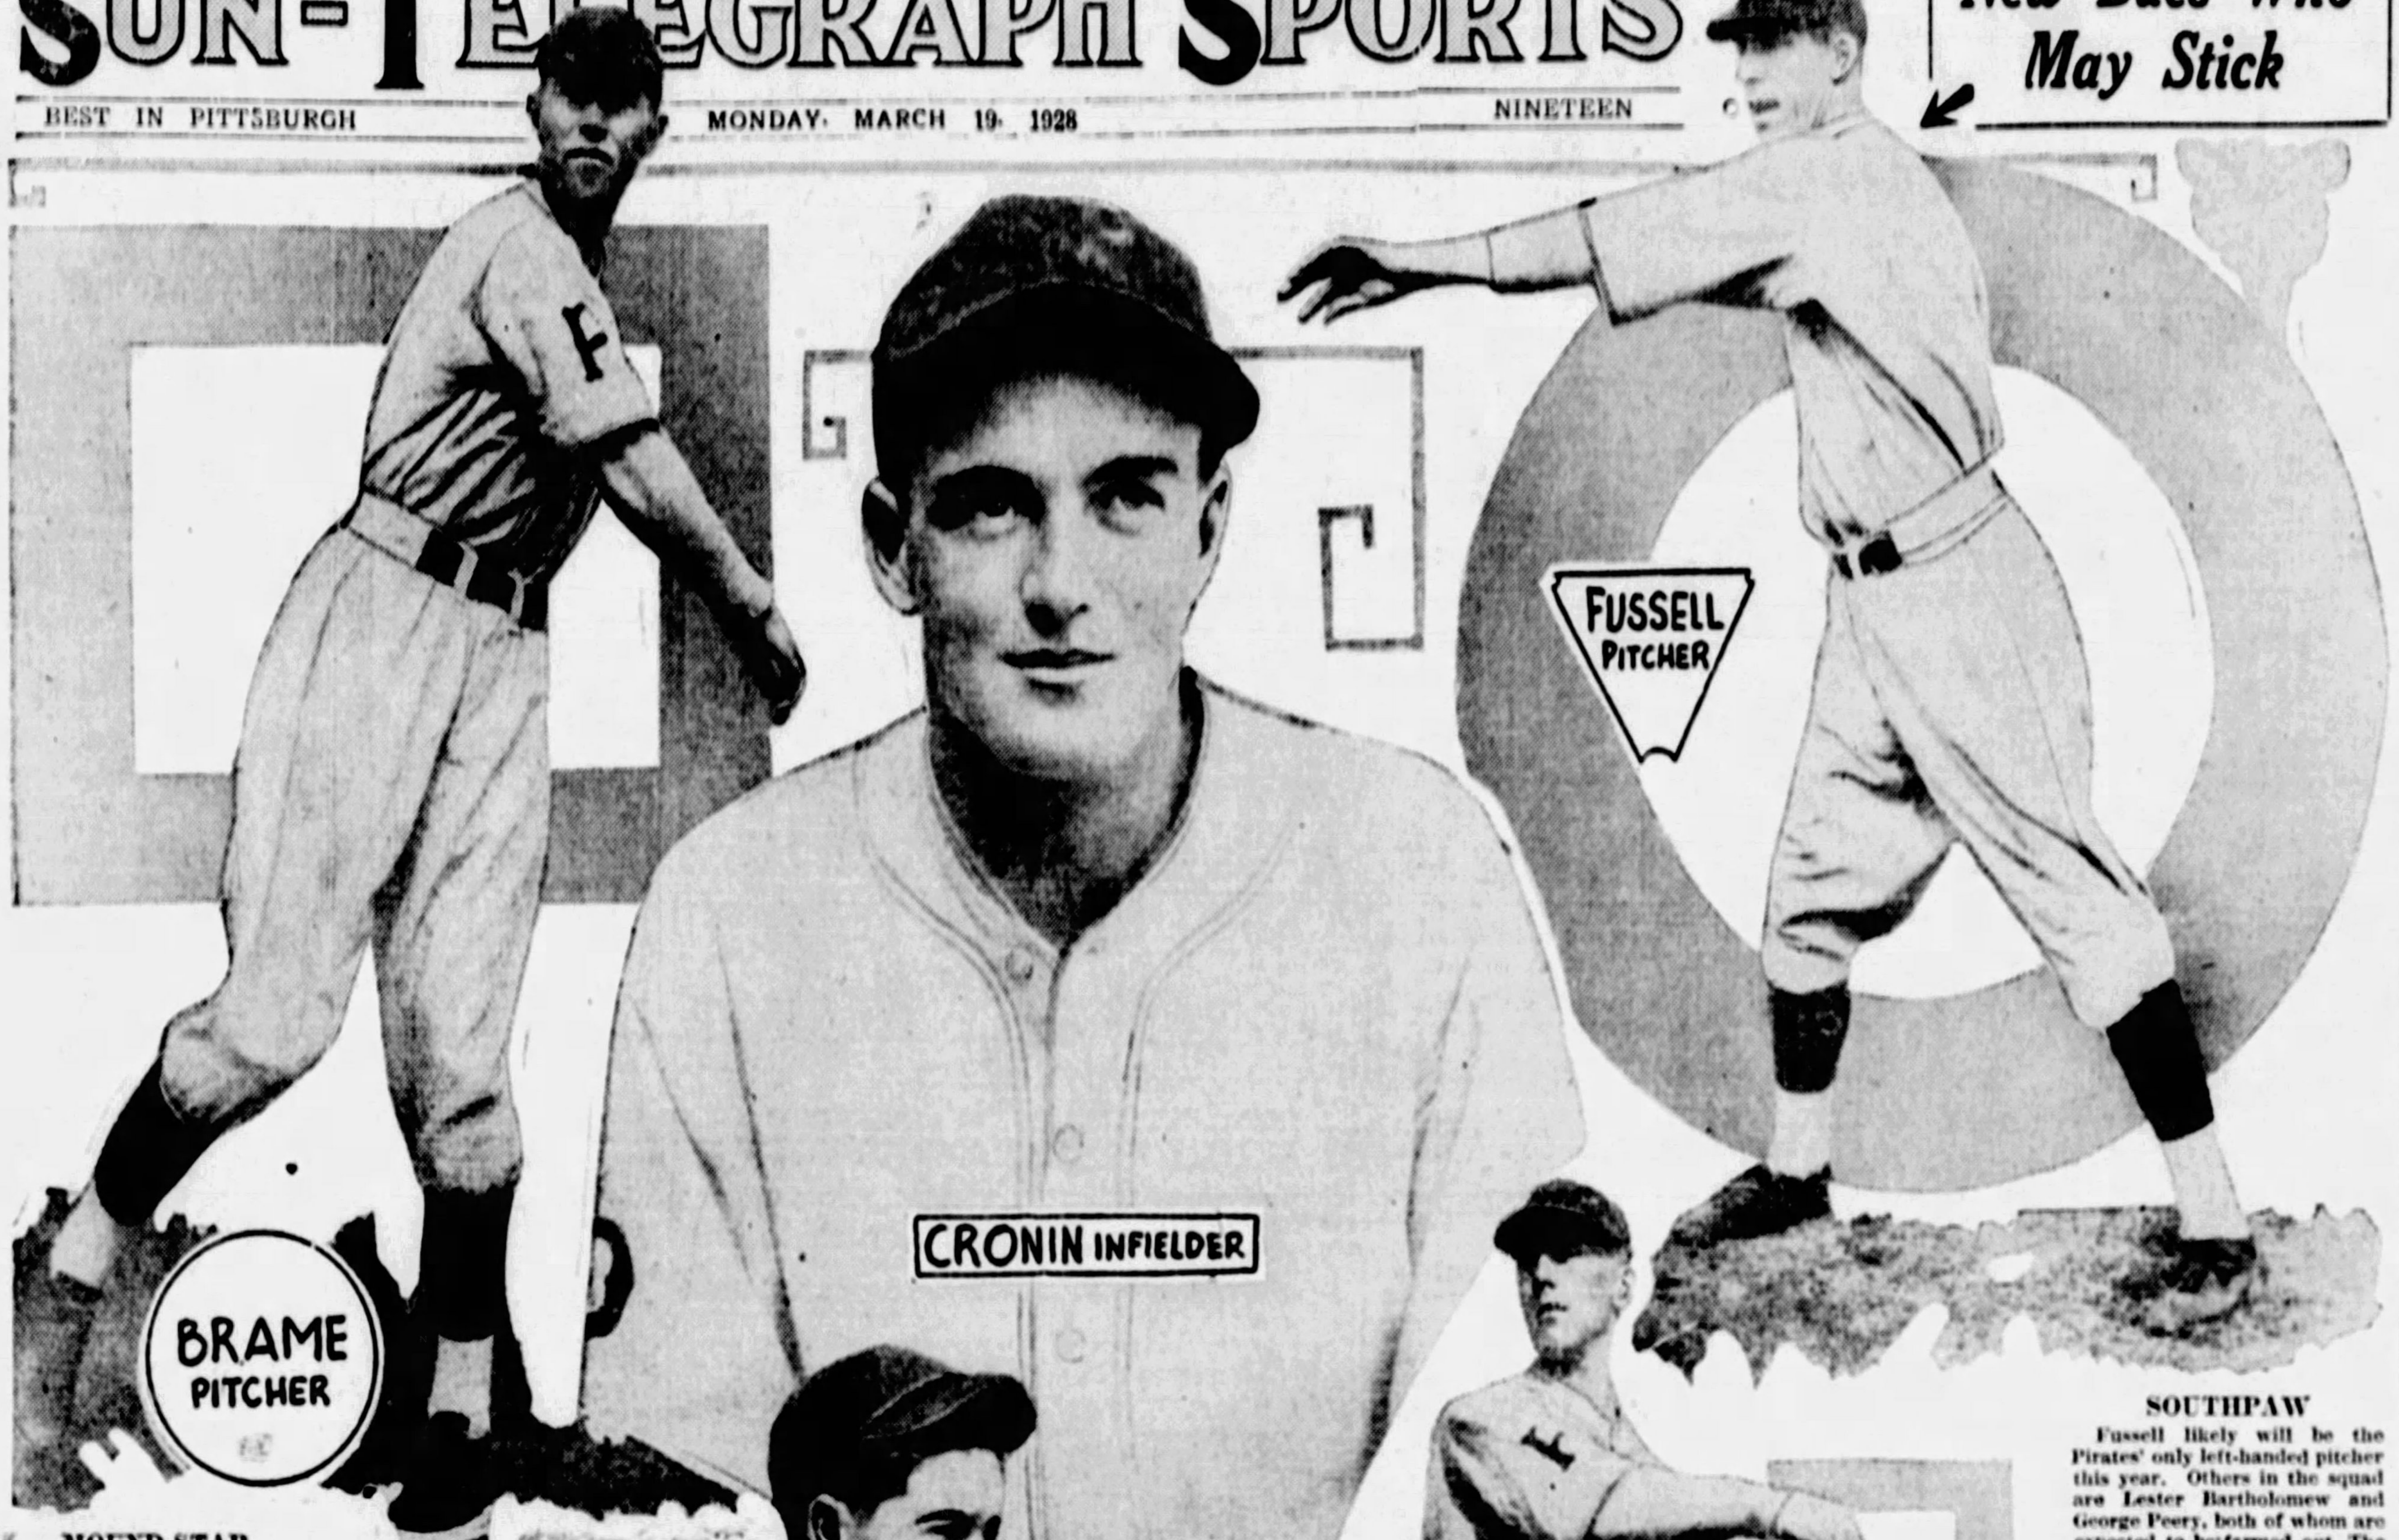
PIRATES ELATED OVER MULLIGAN DEAL

WIN PUTS BUCS BACK IN MONEY BERTH

SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS

BEST IN PITTSBURGH MONDAY, MARCH 19, 1928

New Bucs Who May Stick



MOUND STAR

Pitcher Erwin Brame has shown enough in the early workouts to warrant his retention by the Pirates, and will be given a chance to win his spurs during the regular season.

SOUTHPAW

Fussell likely will be the Pirates' only left-handed pitcher this year. Others in the squad are Lester Bartholomew and George Peery, both of whom are expected to be farmed out. The first cut in the Pirate ranks came Saturday, when Regis Leheny, a southpaw, and Pitcher John Deming, both local products, were released to the Salisbury Club of the Sally League.

HEMSLEY CATCHER
BARTELL INFIELDER STAR

Joe Cronin figures to stick around on this, his third, trial with the Corsairs, and his retention will be popular with the fans. He has been optionally released twice, to Johnstown and New Haven, and recalled.

GOOD ONE

Bartell is Cronin's rival for the utility infielder role. This is his second tryout with the locals and, if anything, he has shown even better than Cronin in all-round ability to date.

TO BE CATCHING UNDERSTUDY

Young Hemsley, who hails from Syracuse, O., likely will be retained as an aide to Earl Smith and Johnny Gooch behind the bat for the Corsairs. He has impressed with his catching and pep and needs to improve only in his hitting to measure up as a regular.

CELEBRATE PURCHASE WITH TWO WINS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE
Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, March 19.—The Pirate camp this morning was agog with favorable comment as a result of the purchase by the Pittsburgh club of Third Baseman Eddie Mulligan, one of the stars of the San Francisco Seals. That Donie Bush has acquired a genuine major league infielder for emergency purposes is the almost unanimous opinion of players, newspapermen and fans of the entire district.

Neither the Pittsburgh nor San Francisco owners would disclose the price paid for Mulligan who has just signed a contract after failing to come to terms over a long period. That the Bucos forced a bargain, however, is conceded by those who have long placed a high value on Eddie's services. It is reliably reported that the Pirates did not pay more than $10,000 for Mulligan, but there may be other angles to be considered. The two teams have a very friendly working agreement which makes for easy transfer of players and that sort of thing.

The Seal graduate is reckoned by many coast critics as being superior to a number of third basemen in the major leagues. Eddie is regarded out here as a brilliant fielder, a dangerous and smart batsman, a fine base runner and, last but not least, a scrappy performer.

The new Pirate is not expected to be a regular, but his presence on the Pittsburgh bench will give the Pittsburgh owners and fans much comfort concerning reserve strength. Eddie has been playing ball long enough to know all sides of the sport and naturally he will not be in the position of a rookie.

UP TWICE BEFORE

Mulligan had short tryouts with the White Sox and Cubs. Coming to the Seals several years ago, the St. Louis boy found himself and he quickly won favor in the coast league. He is said to be one of the highest-paid players in the league; nevertheless, the figures in the contract he signed within the last few days are likely to be boosted. He

by JAMES J. LONG

EVEN if the proposed deal for the sale of the Pittsburgh hockey club to I. O. Wener had been carried through to a successful conclusion, instead of being called off because the league refused to sanction the transaction, the team falling to Cleveland in the dicker would not have represented the full strength of the Pirates, by any means, if latest reports are to be credited.

Hib Milks.

For it is now said that one of Wener's backers in the plan to purchase the Pittsburgh franchise and team was a man who is interested in the New York Americans and that if the deal had gone through it was his intention to grab Hib Milks, Harold Darragh and Roy Worters for the American lineup next season and send two or three of his present players, together with the remainder of the Pittsburgh outfit, to Cleveland.

IN VIEW of the fact that League President Calder said from the start that he suspected Wener desired to buy the club only for speculative purposes, the rumored New York angle may have been the reason why the league declined to sanction the deal.

The owners of the Americans make no secret of the fact that the bolstering of their team is essential to its financial success, as they have a tremendous overhead expense to pay, including a high rental for Madison Square Garden, and must have a winning team to get results.

HOWEVER, the league directors were opposed to the club's being strengthened by the taking of

WALTER HAGEN ARRIVES

Sir Walter Hagen, champion of champions, most admired golfer of all professional linksmen throughout the world, arrived here this morning from Chicago to spend the day giving an exhibition at Kaufmann's. The internationally-known linksman was entertained at luncheon before he started his exhibition.

STEINKE AND GARDINI IN BOUT TONIGHT

NEW YORK, March 19.—The first wrestling match ever held in the New Madison Square Garden will take place tonight between Hans Steinke, the German Oak, and Renato Gardini, Italian titleholder. The match is under the direction of Jack Curley.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS
by HARRY KECK
SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS EDITOR

WALTER HAGEN'S in town today. Let's see, he's some famous baseball magnate or other, unless memory serves us false.

Wall Street will bet you $3 against $5 that the Yankees won't win the American League pennant again. There's a fine chance to go broke.

The odds are $2 to $1 that the Pirates don't repeat, and 2½ to 1 against the Giants and 3½ to 1 against the Cardinals. In other words, these guys have to go and get a reputation.

If you like long shots, one buck will get you 40 if the Red Sox or Phillies stagger home first. But they won't.

Rickard's eliminations have been flops. He still has Heeney and Risko left.

One of these days a Pitt team is going to be lucky and know how it feels to lose.

DUKES, SHARON TO CLASH

Duquesne High School will battle Sharon High School for the championship of Western Pennsylvania on the Grove City College court tomorrow night. Sharon represents Northwestern Pennsylvania, and Duquesne, W. P. I. A. L. champion, Southwestern Pennsylvania.

The winner of tomorrow night's embroglio will go to Penn State College on Friday, where, if it is successful in its first engagement, it will compete with three other quints of the other sections of the state on Friday and Saturday for the scholastic championship of Pennsylvania.

SCHOOL CAGE CHAMPS INVITED TO CHICAGO

CHICAGO, March 19.—(AP.)—Winners in 17 state high school basketball tournaments have been invited to participate in the national tournament sponsored by the University of Chicago two weeks hence.

Fifteen teams have accepted, including 13 state titleholders, and invitations to five other teams are outstanding. Last year's tournament drew 43 teams from 33 states.

Chappie, Davies Clash

YOUNG CHAPPIE, a Philadelphia flyweight (no, not Old Chappie, an English dude), meets Willie Davies in the windup of a card of four eight-rounders in the Motor Square ring tonight. They've done business before—this being their third clash, so that they will not have to be introduced before they begin to sling leather. The first scrap, in Philadelphia, year before last, resulted in a draw in 10 rounds, and the second, at Marietta, O., for no reason at all, last April, saw Davies cop the award in a dozen sessions. However, Chappie is an optimistic soul, and, besides, he has heard, from his fellow Philadelphian, Midget Wolgast, that it is easy to grab a decision over Davies in the local arena.

Willie Davies.

At that, Chappie is no man's pushover. He's boxed all the leaders in his division and beaten his share of them, and, if he should have a good night this nineteenth day of March, 1928, he'll let Davies inhale plenty of gloves. It should be another swift-moving shindy.

The semi-final will be between Young Saylor of Charleroi and Bobby Richardson of Portage, Pa., welterweights who know how to box and fight, and ought to be a good one. Jack Barry returns to local action following a long exile in Erie to meet Jackie Murray, Negro welter of Center avenue, in the second bout, and Jack Unglo, Etna's pugnacious citizen, mixes with Joe Todd of Donora in the opener at 8:30.

Freddie Boylstein and Walter Dickerson box in the Washington Gardens at Washington, Pa., tonight, with Frank Kopus and Chuck Semack meeting in the semi-final

LOST MEDAL RETURNED

MEADVILLE, Pa., March 19.—An Allegheny College track medal, won in 1915 in an inter-class meet, and lost on an European battlefield, has been returned to its owner, Wendell P. Long, of Naples, N. Y. The medal was found on a battlefield in France a short time ago by J. F. Malloy, of Montana.

CHILLY SAUCE

By CHILLY DOYLE

Sun-Tele Staff Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 19.—One of Eddie Mulligan's biggest boosters in the Coast League is Tom Laird, sports editor of a San Francisco paper. Tom, who generally attend the world's series and who has seen Traynor in action, may be a bit high in his enthusiasm when he says Mulligan can field like Traynor.

"HE'S a great player," insists Laird. "All Eddie had to do when he arrived here was to fill the shoes of Willie Kamm, who had just been sold to the White Sox for $100,000. Well, Mulligan played just as well as Kamm, and he's a better base runner."

EVERY time the Pirates have competed with the Seals, Mulligan's name has come up for favorable mention. Eddie, a right-hand batter, had been a .300 hitter in the league, but he fell a little below that mark last season. Contract trouble, it is said, caused him to move to buy his own release, but the price set by the Seals was too high. The infielder is reported to have offered his employers $5,000 for his freedom.

JUST what effect Mulligan's presence in a Pittsburgh uniform will have on other players is problematical. Joe Cronin and Dick Bartell are both regarded as utility players. The Pirates cannot farm out Cronin, as the law of the sport does not allow players to be put out on option more than twice. Joe has been with Johnstown and New Haven. Bartell has been in New Haven with a Pirate string attached. The Buccos can farm him once more if they see fit. It is likely that two extra infielders will be carried all year, besides Joe Harris.

N. Y. SOCCER TEAM REACHES CUP FINAL

NEW YORK, March 19.—(AP.)—The New York Nationals qualified for the grand final of the national challenge cup soccer competition yesterday by defeating the J. & P. Coats eleven of Pawtucket, R. I., by 5 to 3 in the Eastern final at the Polo Grounds before a crowd of about 5,000.

Henderson, New York center forward, scored two goals and his team mates, Walker McGhee and Wortman, one apiece. For Coats, goals

ST. LOUIS, March 19.—(AP.)—The Bricklayers of Chicago, outplayed for three-quarters of the game, rallied in the middle of the second half here yesterday and eliminated the Ben Millers of St. Louis as contenders for the national soccer cup. The score was 2 to 6.

DEMPSEY MAY BOX FOR FLOOD VICTIMS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 19.—(AP.)—A former world's heavyweight champion and a leading contender for the welterweight title will be among a score of boxers who are to appear here Friday night in a benefit card, the receipts of which are to be turned over to flood sufferers in Southern California.

Jack Dempsey is scheduled to referee one of the bouts if he does not appear in an exhibition contest. Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska wildcat, who meets Joe Dundee, welterweight champion, soon, is to step three rounds with an unnamed opponent. King Tut, Minneapolis lightweight, meets Doc Snell of Tacoma in the eight-round main event, while Midget Mike O'Dowd, Columbus featherweight, is carded with Mickey Cohen of Denver in the six-round semi-final.

PENN STATE NINE BEGINS PRACTICE

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 19.—The Penn State baseball squad will begin two weeks' of intensive training today to get into shape for the southern training tour which is scheduled to open April 2 at Charlottesville, Va., with the University of Virginia. With the exception of the battery men the Lions will have to do most of their conditioning in the remaining two weeks since many of the men who are expected to be regulars on the team have been occupied with winter sports.

Delp, Lungren, and Wolff, three of the regulars on the 1927 squad, have been busy with fall and winter sports since the opening of the term in September. Several of the others from last year's team have been working indoors with the battery men but thus far have had only one or two day's work outside.

Spain's greatest bull-fighter, who cleans up about a half-million dollars a year by bull-fighting, is on his way South to Colombia, where he has contracted to kill four bulls for $57,000. He says bull-fighting is more brutal than boxing and he would have no objection to boxing Gene Tunney.

Jim Plans Eliminations

CHICAGO, March 19.—(AP.)—Persistent Jim Mullen, Chicago boxing promoter, still believes he can lure Gene Tunney and his heavyweight crown into a Chicago ring this summer.

Although the champion is signed to risk his title under the promotion of Tex Rickard, Mullen last night wired him an offer of $400,000 or 50 per cent of the gate receipts for a titular fight here in July against an unnamed opponent.

Mullen hopes to uncover another Jack Dempsey or another Luis Firpo in a series of elimination bouts in Chicago. Any young heavyweight who thinks he has the makings of a champion will be invited to participate. Among these will be Jack Sharkey and his recent conqueror, Johnny Risko.

"Somewhere there is a two-fisted, knock-'em-out fighter of the Dempsey or Firpo type and I am going to find him," Mullen predicted. "And I'll get Tunney into a Chicago ring, too."

the cream of the Pittsburgh lineup and then passing the rest along to Cleveland.

Glenn Wright.

From the same source it is rumored that the Pirate owners' plan to reorganize the local company and keep the team here is not likely to be carried any further than talk, and that the league itself will sell the club to another city before next season unless some local men come the front with assurance of improved conditions in Pittsburgh.

ONE of the most encouraging features of the reports from the camp of the Pittsburgh baseball club in California is that Shortstop Glenn Wright is apparently returning to the form he showed in his early days as a Pirate.

From a source that is not to be questioned, Wright is looking better in his play right now than he did at any time last year, and every one in the Pirate party is convinced that he is going to have a great season.

No fan needs to be informed how greatly that will help the club. The difference between a shortstop of Wright's greatness taking his work seriously and playing his best every day, and one that falls off to the extent that Glenn did in 1927, might easily mean second or third place instead of the pennant.

RATHER strange that the first two recruits dropped from the Pirate roster should be the only Pittsburgh boys on the squad. Pitcher Regis Leheny, released to the Salisbury club of the South Atlantic Association for development, resides in Oakland, and Pitcher John Deming, who will be sent home to await placing arrangements, makes his home in Bellevue.

Bill Haeffner.

A little local color would have helped the team in the matter of appeal, perhaps, but the strongest possible lineup and the winning ball games are what the fans crave most, and there is consolation for the friends of Leheny and Deming in the knowledge that the boys simply have got to "learn their trade" first, like all other youngsters, and that sooner or later they will be back with the Bucs for another trial.

MANAGER BUSH may be expected to swing his ax again shortly. There still are a number of recruits on the squad who will be retained, and it is pretty safe t guess that T. Waner, Tauscher, Spencer, Linton, Brewer, Jones, Bartholomew, Lindsey and Gottleber, will be included among those discarded, with the fates of two or three others depending on what they show between now and opening day.

In the catching department both Haeffner and Hamsley may be carried until after the season opens, with Haeffner having the inside track, unless in the meantime the club succeeds in making a deal for a hitting backstop like Butch Henline to fill the third berth on the receiving corps.

WILLIE HOPPE has been headlined and commented upon as having won the world's professional three-cushion billiard championship, just because he finished first in the American Three-Cushion Billiard League's race, but he didn't win anything of the kind.

Johnny Layton

Hoppe got a liberal financial reward for finishing first, and special prizes for high run (15), best game (24 innings), and most decisive triumph (50 to 2 against Harry Wakefield), but he took down no title.

Willie will have to play for the crown in the big tourney opening in Chicago on April 2, for which the following have entered: Otto Reiselt, the defending champion; Hoppe, Allen Hall, John Layton, Augie Kieckhefer, Gus Copulos, Tiff Denton, Cowboy Weston of Pittsburgh, Len Kenney and Earl Lookabaugh.

THIS will be Hoppe's first title attempt at three-cushions. Meanwhile h will open a special match at 600 points in New York tonight with Allen Hall, whom he beat out in the recent tourney only in the last two weeks of the race. Hall beat Hoppe in his first five meetings with him during the season. Hoppe won the last three. It was the only series Willie lost.

John Layton, five times holder of the world's championship, says Hall is a really great player and the most underrated man in the game.

THE heavyweight elimination series conducted by Tex Rickard may have been a bust in the sense that it failed to develop an outstanding contender for Tom Heeney, at least.

Heeney departs on his trip to England, well heeled, it is said. He took part in eight fights in this country, meeting Charley Anderson, Paulino Uzcudun twice, Jack DeMave, Bud Gorman, Jim Maloney, Johnny Risko and Jack Sharkey, all except the Risko affair taking place in New York, and he did so well in a financial sense that he may be rated as the only big fighter except Georges Carpentier to sail away from these shores with a bulging wallet.

More than that, unless he is asked to meet Risko first, he is just about first in line for a title bout with Tunney, either in this country or in England. Pretty fair, for a fellow who came here broke to look over the country.

Tom Heeney.

It was thought that all the heavyweight would-be championship contenders had been eliminated by one another, but it appears that there are at least two left, as Phil Scott of England and Pierre Charles of Belgium are to meet for 10 rounds in New York tonight. It can't be any worse than some of the other heavyweight affairs the public has been paying good money to see.

But we're rid of a couple of the big fellows at least. Monte Munn sailed Saturday for Buenos Aires to try to arrange a bout there with Luis Angel Firpo. There will be no counter bidding for it by this country.

PENN STATE PASSERS GIVEN THEIR LETTERS

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 19.—The Penn State athletic association has awarded varsity letters to eight members of the basketball team for participation in games during the season just closed. The men receiving the awards are Captain Von Nieda, Baron, Lungren, Delp, Reilly, Hamas, Reinhold, and Jacobsen. Richard N. Wills, student manager, also received the varsity "S". The first three of the players are seniors and each has made three letters in the sport. The basketball award makes the eighth time that Lungren has been voted the varsity "S".

Bucs Buy Star; Win Twice

is about 21 years of age.

Happy and in rare condition after their double victory of yesterday, the Pirates today are all set to take another punch at the classy Seals.

A single contest is on the program for today, although the Yannigan squad will follow the usual program and go to Recreation Park early to get the benefit of a workout before the fireworks begin.

The National League champions looked the part in morning and afternoon games yesterday. Perfect weather coupled with the presence of the big-leaguers lured many fans to the ball orchard. The afternoon game set a new record for exhibition, about 15,000 witnessing the spectacle.

In the morning the Mission Bells fell by the wayside largely through the brilliant pitching of John Miljus and Walter Tauscher. Miljus pitched perfect baseball for four rounds and Tauscher yielded only four hits in the last five innings. The score of this game was 6-1.

With Dutch Reuther and Walter Mails opposing the Pirates, the Seals had sufficient appeal to lure the big crowd to the park in the afternoon. The Bushwhackers, however, treated Nick Williams' athletes just as roughly as they used the tribe of Wade Killefer. The count on this contest was 8-2.

HARRIS SLAMS HOMER

Joe Harris connected for a homer in the first inning of the morning contest, the two-run circuit swat giving Miljus something to work on. John then proceeded to take the measure of 12 of his former brethren in succession.

Ray Caldwell, a big-league star years ago, essayed to stop the Buccos in the early game, but the veteran was the victim of a first-inning onslaught that netted four tallies. Joe Dawson and Glenn Spencer stood up to the Seals in the second encounter. The senior team of San Francisco is a formidable array, yet the vaunted hitters were puzzled by the two righthanders. It was the first taste of real hard stuff for young Spencer.

Reuther and Mays are big headliners and they were roundly applauded by the fans. The Bushwhackers reached Dutch for three tallies in the first two frames, but in three succeeding innings, Reuther pitched in big league style.

Sparky Adams enlivened this interesting set-to with a homer within the park, Sprout Waner also counting on the blow. In the ninth Sparky hammered a liner to center, Averill tried for a shoestring catch, failed and Sparky whirled around the bases.

While Tauscher was not as brilliant as Miljus in the morning game, the big recruit showed a mastery over the Coast Leaguers that was entirely convincing. Walter was one of the best-looking of the youngsters of last season and apparently is much improved. He is destined to get some serious consideration from Donie Bush.

When Tauscher relieved Miljus, Bush decided it was the proper time to insert a flock of peppery Yannigans. Accordingly, Donie inserted Bartell, Cronin and Jones in the places of Adams, Wright and Traynor. The youngsters performed like a trio of seasoned vets.

points in the league standing, and the result brought the two teams into a tie for third place and a position in the playoff.

Pittsburgh has two more games on their schedule while Detroit has but one.

McKinnon, Pittsburgh defense man, scored the lone goal, when he drove a long one past Holmes, Detroit goalie. There were 14 penalties meted out during the game.

Neither team elected to open the action with a rush, possibly because of the fact that both saw action Saturday night. Herb Drury, however, threw a scare into the Cougar ranks when he came near slipping the disc past Holmes shortly after the period opened.

In the second period, after Detroit had engineered an unsuccessful attack on the Pirate net, an attack that Goalie Worters frustrated in fine fashion, McKinnon took the puck down the ice, crashed through the Cougar defense and shot for the net.

HUSSEY SETS RECORD

HARTFORD, Conn., March 19.—(INS.)—Frank Hussey of the New York A. C. established a new world's record for the 70-yard dash at the Hartford armory recently when he sprinted the distance in 6 4-5 seconds. The best previous time for this event was seven seconds made by Loren Murchison.

IN THE TRAINING CAMPS

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 19.—One of baseball's greatest heroes, Walter Johnson, came here today to consult a diagnostician whose verdict may mean that the beloved "Big Train" has pitched his last game.

Walter Johnson.

Pale, weak and 20 pounds under weight, Johnson is feared to be suffering from infection of the kidneys which followed a severe attack of influenza this winter.

Johnson, who was appointed manager of the Newark International League club after his release by the Washington Senators last fall, had hoped to get into uniform and pitch a few games for the Bears during the coming season.

As it is, he has been unable even to fulfill his duties as manager of the club.

HENRY SHOWS REAL FORM

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 19.—(AP.)—Dutch Henry, who is also known as Beau Henry, is southpawing his way into prominence with the Giants. Left-handers such as Hooks Wiltse, Rube Marquard and Art Nehf figured in pennant drives of the McGrawmen in the past, and now Henry shapes out as another worthy southpaw flinger.

Against the Athletics yesterday, Henry contributed a sparkling five-inning performance, allowing only five well-scattered hits, which did not produce a run.

CUYLER STARS FOR CUBS

LOS ANGELES, March 19.—(AP.)—A defeat and two cripples have been written over the week-end into the 1928 training season record of the Chicago Cubs.

Hollywood, of the Pacific Coast League, accomplished the defeat, 5 to 4, to the delight of 7,000 Sunday spectators after 11 innings of wretched baseball. During the encounter, Butler, Cubs' third base candidate, was spiked in the hand, and Heathcote, outfielder, was rendered hors de combat by a collision with the outfield wall. He may be out of the game for a day or two.

The hitting of Kiki Cuyler again was the bright light of the Cubs' attack, consisting of a home run and a two-bagger in five trips to the plate.

PHIL PILOT DISPLEASED

WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 19.—(AP.)—Manager Shotton is far from pleased with the hitting of the Philadelphia Nationals and he ordered morning batting practice today. Lack of timely hits have cost the Phillies several of their practice games.

ORWOLL IS IMPRESSIVE

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 19.—(AP.)—The work of Oswald Orwoll in his big first assignment on the mound in a training camp game this spring has given joy to Manager Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Mack believes the young left-hander, who was bought from Milwaukee, will be a big help. Pitching the last two innings against the New York Giants yesterday at St. Augustine, Fla., Orwoll held his opponents scoreless. He allowed but two hits, struck out two batters and walked two.

HERMAN TO BE SHIFTED

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 19.—(AP.)—With Del Bissonette, former Buffalo star, apparently secure on the first base position for Brooklyn, Babe Herman seems slated for a berth in the outfield. Manager Robinson is after some strong hitters in the lineup, and as Bissonette has pinned down the initial sack, Herman probably will be shifted to the outer garden.

Carroll Danforth and Jimmy Robinson, young pitchers from Texas, and Hugh Wise, Purdue catcher, have been farmed to the Macon club.

NAT CARDS STACKED

TAMPA, Fla., March 19.—(AP.)—A stacked bridge deck jokingly substituted for a shuffled pack here Saturday night still was the talk about the Washington Senators' training camp today, despite that eight rookies were cut loose from the team over the week-end and that six games were on schedule this week for as many days.

Several near heart failures resulted when the four players, Hopkins, West, Reeves and Hadley found their cards fixed so that each got all the cards of the same suit. Several seven bids resulted, but it was not until the auction had started the second time around that the players realized something was up, compared hands amid laughter, and called for a new deal.

The Buffalo Internationals were on the Nationals' exhibition card today.

TIGERS BACK IN CAMP

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 19.—(AP.)—The Detroit Tigers returned to a practice routine today and will continue so until Friday, when they play their next scheduled exhibition game with the San Antonio club of the Texas League.

Red Hargrave, recruit catcher who came to Detroit from the Toronto Internationals, was virtually the whole show in an exhibition game with Minneapolis yesterday. He hit two triples and a sacrifice fly in five times to the plate, driving in five of Detroit's six runs.

HOMER DEFEATS SOX

FORT WORTH, Tex., March 19.—(AP.)—A home run trumped the brilliant pitching performances of two Chicago White Sox aces, Ted Lyons and Alphonse Thomas, as Fort Worth defeated the Sox, 2 to 1, in a training camp game yesterday.

With the score tied at one run each, Freitag, Fort Worth third baseman, hit for the circuit, giving the White Sox their first defeat of the year. Three errors by Clancy, Sox first-sacker, and the failure of Carl Reynolds, rookie Chicago outfielder, also proved costly. The teams were scheduled to play again today.

HAFEY, BLADES RETURN

AVON PARK, Fla., March 19.—(AP.)—Two of the St. Louis Cardinal mainstays, Outfielders Chick Hafey and Ray Blades, whose physical handicaps have worried Manager Bill McKechnie, were slated for introductory appearances in the exhibition game with Indianapolis here today.

Blades has been bothered by his left knee, which he dislocated in 1926 and which refused to mend. Hafey was hampered by sinus trouble, which affected his vision, but of late he has been pounding the ball to all corners of the lot.

COONEY THROUGH AS HURLER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 19.—(AP.)—It begins to look as if Johnny Cooney had better start to prepare himself for something else than pitching for the Boston Braves. Counted on to do big things for the Warriors' twirling staff, he was unable to play at all last season because of a growth on his pitching arm bone. He took the season off and had it operated on twice. This year he reported two weeks early for practice, but his old trouble reappeared and now his friends fear he will be unable to perform this season.

NEWCASTLE RUNNER WINS LAP

By LELAND C. LEWIS,
International News Service.

TWO GUN CAMP, Ariz., March 19.—C. C. ("Cross Country") Pyle's New York-bound runners and walkers advanced into the Hopi Indian country today as they moved on to Winslow, 26 miles from this desert outpost of "Crazy Thunder," or Indian Miller, the man with the long braids who capitalizes the curiosity of white tourists.

Earl Dilks, New Castle, Pa., became a real factor in the race when he galloped to a tie with Eddie Gardner, Seattle Negro, in the 25.6-mile lap from Flagstaff to Two Gun Camp yesterday. Their time for the distance was 5:36:00.

Dilks' elapsed time for the 551.6 miles from Los Angeles was 119:05:15, while Gardner's was 107:15:11.

Arthur Newton, the Rhodesian rambler, retained a sizeable lead on the entire field when he reached the control here in 5:44:05. His lapsed time was 86:02:50.

Here were the leaders as the 26-mile jaunt to Winslow began, after 551.6 miles had been traversed from Los Angeles:

Arthur Newton, Rhodesia, 86:18:27; Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., 95:18:27; Arne Souminen, Detroit, 97:17:55; John Cronick, Saskatoon, Canada, 98:49:45; Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, England, 101:25:51; Nester Erickson, Port Chester, N. Y., 104:19:37; Voight Houfstater, Manistee, Mich., 105:26:25; Eddie Gardner, Seattle, 107:15:11; Philip Granville, Hamilton, Ont., 107:28:15; John Salo, Passaic, N. J., 107:38:55; Giacomo Clarizio, Chicago, 109:45:20; William Kerr, Minneapolis, 112:42:09; Louis Perrella, Albany N. Y., 114:25:25; Joseph Wilson, Oakland, 115:56:16; August Sherrer, Switzerland, 118:51:35; Earl Dilks, New Castle, Pa., 119:05:15; Roy Sandsberry, Beverly Hills, 119:09:00; Henry Swabey, York township, Ontario, 119:32:03; Harry Rea, Long Beach, Cal., 119:40:55; A. Constaninoff, Toronto, 119:44:05; Guisto Umek, Trieste, Italy, 122:08:15; Frank Chavez, Pasadena, Cal., 122:44:50.

SHOTS and PASSES

—by Julius Levin

FIRST place in the playoff series to determine the winner of the second-half championship of the P. & O. League will be at stake tonight when the Sianos and Somermans clash at Columbus Temple.

In view of the fact that the Sianos and Somermans each scored a victory over the E. P. Junkers, the winner of tonight's contest stands an excellent chance of earning the right to engage the J. J. Mieles, first-half winners, for the championship.

The two teams have been rivals for the championship since the season opened and as they are evenly matched followers of the clubs are anticipating a torrid battle tonight.

THE Braddock American Legion quintet, strengthened by the addition of Capt. Sykes Reed and Stash Wrobleski, stars of the undefeated University of Pittsburgh varsity team, will face one of its strongest opponents next Thursday night at Braddock when they clash with the McKeesport Cyclers All-Stars.

The All-Stars will be composed of virtually the same team that represented the McKeesport Cyclers on the floor this winter, all regulars with the exception of Ken Loeffler and Whitey Littell being slated to appear against the Legion team.

The contest has stirred up considerable interest in Braddock and indications are that a large crowd will be out to see the teams in action. Manager Hyman Gershuney is making an effort to obtain the high school floor for the game and if this hall is not available the contest will be played on the Carnegie Library floor.

THE Original New York Celtics, world's professional basketball champions, will invade Pittsburgh next Saturday night to meet the members of the former Pittsburgh Morrys in a game that promises to tax the capacity of Duquesne University.

The Celtics are a decided favorite in local basketball circles and seldom fail to give a pleasing exhibition. Next Saturday night they will appear here with their regular lineup, including such well-known stars as Nat Holman, Davy Banks, Pete Barry, Lopschick, Dutch Dehnert and John Whitty.

This team won the championship of the eastern division of the American Professional League and will meet Fort Wayne for the championship. Fort Wayne defeated Cleveland for the western championship.

The preliminary game next Saturday should keep the early comers in good mood for the main attraction. In this game the Lou Gordon Juniors meet the Red McMahon Club of the South Side in the final battle for the junior championship of the city.

Duquesne Light and Reliance Life, deadlocked for the first-half championship of the C. & I. League, will meet tomorrow night at the South Side Market House for the right to meet P. & L. E. for the league title.

JOHNSON MAY BE THROUGH

According to reports from Florida, Walter Johnson, former Washington righthander, may not be able to take his turn on the mound for the Newark Club in the International League because of an infection of the kidneys. Johnson is shown on the right, James P. Sinnott, president of the club, in the center, and George McBride, former Washington manager and shortstop, on the left. Should Johnson be unable to manage the club this year, McBride, who is coach, likely will take over the reins.

Poorly Rated Horse Wins $97,000 Purse

Universal Service.

TIA JUANA, Mex., March 19. — Not much of a horse — Chrystal Pennant—not much of a horse, as they rate 'em on the Eastern tracks; just an ordinary horse, in fact, during the 1927 season. So little thought of by Maxie Hirsch, that he sold the colt for $10,000 to W. C. Hoffman, Ventura business man, not so long ago.

But good enough, this Crystal Pennant, to find a length and a half lead, at the end of the mile and a quarter scramble that was the ninth running of the Coffroth handicap.

Good enough, this Crystal Pennant, to draw down $97,700 for first money, annexing thereby what is the richest all-age purse in racing annals.

Handy Mandy, the 8-to-5 favorite at post time, had neither racing room, nor any race to put in the room. Away from the stall arrangement that is used here to start these sort of races out this way, about third from last, Handy Mandy and her pilot, Earl Pool, saw horses to the right of them, horses to the left of them, horses in front of them, and while deponent cannot testify as to the volleying, most certainly they thundered.

Redcliffe, apparently in the race because its owner and its jockey had no place else to go, vied with General Diskin, another of the same species, for the lead, and they wrestled around the first turn, and into the haze that hung over the track.

WORTHY SPIRIT TRAINS ON LEXINGTON TRACK

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 19.—An interesting arrival at the Walnut Hall Farm here is a chestnut colt by Guy Axworthy-Worthy Spirit. He is a full brother to Full Worthy, 2:02, one of the stars in the stable of the noted colt trainer, Ben White, and a half-brother to Fireglow, who set a world race record of 2:04 for two-year-old trotters at the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association track here last year.

EIGHT QUINTS SEEK TITLE

PHILADELPHIA, March 19.—(AP.)—The race in the Pennsylvania interscholastic basketball tournament has reached the quarter final round with eight teams still in the running and the district champions decided.

Winners of the district titles are Hableton, No. 1; Scranton, No. 2; Williamsport, No. 3; Jersey Shore, No. 4; Lewistown, No. 5; Meyersdale, No. 6; Sharon, No. 7, and Duquesne, No. 8. Tomorrow night Hazleton, who last night defeated Lansford, 50 to 20, meets Scranton Central High at Wilkes-Barre; Williamsport plays Jersey Shore in the Dickinson Seminary gymnasium at Williamsport; Lewistown plays Meyersdale, and Sharon meets Duquesne at Grove City.

The winners of these matches will compete for the title at State College on Friday and Saturday.

PITT GRID PRACTICE DELAYED WEEK

By JESS CARVER.

OWING to unfavorable weather conditions, the opening of spring football practice at the University of Pittsburgh, originally scheduled for this afternoon, has been called off until next Monday afternoon.

COLLEGE GOSSIP

According to a fairly authoritative source, Geneva College has decided to seek no further than its own backdoor in lining up a football coach to replace Col. Bo McMillin, who has taken himself off to Kansas, where he will instruct the Aggies in the way they should go.

Though the Covenanters have been reported as dickering with Bennie Oosterbaan and Marty Carroll and Elmer Carroll, the dope seems to be that Merle Schacheran and Mac Flenniken, varsity quarterback and fullback, respectively, of last year's Geneva eleven, will be given the job of producing a Covenanter varsity this fall, thus putting into being at Geneva sort of a graduate coaching system.

At the same time, it is understood that Nate Lippe, former Geneva cage star and at present coach of basketball at Aliquippa High, will be offered the basketball coaching job.

As for track, Heywood Taylor, famous Negro track star and coach of the champion Beaver High runners, and the man who developed Bill Butler, national junior A. A. U. 440-yard champion, is in line for the track job.

Tomorrow afternoon, the champion Pitt basketball team will be guests of the university alumni at a luncheon at the William Penn Hotel, and one week from tomorrow, they'll be guests of the Braddock alumni at a luncheon at the Edgewood Country Club.

Bill Eisemann, McKeesport boy, and star Syracuse University baseball center and catcher is with the Yankees in Florida and is getting a deal of work in the American League champs' spring games. He played one of the most brilliant games of basketball seen in Pittsburgh during the past season when he led his Orange quintet against the Panthers in the Stadium.

HIGH MARKS IN A. B. C.

KANSAS CITY, March 19.—(AP.)—Entries in the American Bowling Congress tournament here today had comparatively high marks to shoot at in all four events, as a result of keen competition over the week-end.

Opening the third week of the tournament yesterday, E. Matak and L. Wolseiffer, of St. Paul, rated as one of the best "southpaw" pairs in the game, took over first place in the doubles with 1,347. This was an even 30 pins better than M. Flick and Snyder, of Erie, Pa., rolled last year at Peoria, Ill., to take first prize. The all-time record of 1,380 was established by H. Thoma and G. Thoma, of Chicago, in 1924.

Fred Freitag, of Milwaukee, rolled 692 to displace Charles Zehman, of Chicago, as leader of the singles. H. Briskey, Flint, Mich., went into third place with 661, four pins under Seeman. W. Eggars, of Chicago, who set a new record of 706 at Peoria, had several bad breaks yesterday after a good start and placed eighth with 668.

No outstanding scores were made in the five-men program last night, the Meister Insurance Company, of Omaha, holding first place with 2,965. The Goldammer team, of Chicago, led with 2,852 for ninth place. The Hay Lumber five, of Cincinnati, rolled 2,822, and the Munkel Furnace team, of Columbus, O., shot 2,813.

William Clearwater, veteran pocket billiard star of Western Pennsylvania, will give an exhibition of trick shots tonight in the Thumm Brothers parlors, Wylie avenue. Clearwater has been a prominent star in local pocket billiard circles for a number of years. The exhibition will get under way promptly at 8 o'clock. Thumm brothers have made preparations to handle a large turnout of pocket billiard enthusiasts.

Two of Pittsburgh's four teams in the A. B. C. tournament at Kansas City will swing into action tonight. They are the Saunier Wilhelm Nos. 1 and 2 teams, which will roll their five-men event tonight and follow with their singles and doubles tomorrow. The local delegation left Saturday night for the scene of battle. The P. A. A. Nos. 1 and 2 teams, Pittsburgh's other representatives in the A. B. C., will roll Friday night and Saturday.

The Main Office bowlers of the Tech Food Products Company defeated a picked team of the Tech Ice Cream League on the Auditorium Alleys, 649 to 671. The scores:

High Run Mark Set By Hoppe

NEW YORK, March 19.—(AP.) — Willie Hoppe has hung up a new high run record in three-cushion billiards, an unfinished string of 20 which closed out his part in the American League tournament.

Opposed by Harry Wakefield last night, Hoppe took his final match in the competition by 50 to 24 in 26 innings. The former world's high run mark of 18 was held jointly by Charles Morin of St. Louis, and Tiff Denton of Kansas City.

Willie Hoppe.

Hoppe finished the league series with 40 games won and 16 lost, giving him an advantage of 4½ games on Johnny Layton in second place and five games on Allen Hall in third place.

All the honors of the tournament, which closes Thursday night, have been sewed up by Hoppe. He has not only clinched first place, but has turned in the best game mark of 24 innings and the high run.

In an exhibition, Hoppe once had a high run of 25.

BARNARD PLANS TO SPEED UP GAME

By CHARLES SEGAR
Universal Service.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 19.—Making the first move to speed up the game, E. S. Barnard, president of the American League, has issued instructions to all his umpires, insisting that they enforce a new code of rules during the coming season.

The instructions that the umpires will be carrying out next season are:

That no pitcher be permitted more than 20 seconds to deliver the ball to the batsman. Pitcher must get catcher's signal on the rubber and then start his pitch. No unusual windups that will consume more than the time allowed will be permitted. Should a pitcher violate this rule a ball will be called on the batter.

The batter hereafter will have to remain in the batman's box and will not be permitted to step from it without a good reason. Should he do this, the umpire will call a strike on him.

Players will not be allowed to throw the ball around the infield between each inning.

The umpires will not rub a ball to take the gloss off. The balls will be especially treated for this in the factory before they are sent to each club.

No base umpire will be permitted to engage in conversation with a team coach at any time during the game.

No player will be allowed on any part of the field or the grandstand. They are confined to the bull pen or on the team bench.

A box will be designated on the field between the bench and the plate for the player who is to follow the man at the bat. Only one such player, besides the batsman, will be allowed on the field.

CHAMPS BACK HOME

HALIFAX, N. S., March 19.—The Toronto Varsity Grads, world's amateur Hockey champions who swept like a tornado through the best of the old world aggregations in Europe, are back on Canadian soil. The Grads were Olympic winners.

Wall Street's Three-Ring Circus Plays to Capacity. The Business World Continues to Exercise Caution. The Stock Market Has Thrown Caution to the Winds.

By B. C. FORBES

AN EXPRESSION popular in Wall Street twenty years ago was: "The public has taken the bit in its teeth and run away with the market." Today millionaire gamblers are doing that. Thus far the bulls in the manipulated stocks have made most of the money. Daring bears have lost heavily.

Big profits have not been common outside of the issues which have been boldly manipulated. Quotations at the close of the week showed not a few substantial declines from the best prices of last year and this year. Average quotations, on the outburst of buying toward the close of the week, however, slightly very close to the previous peak, reached early in October. It was noticeable, too, that a distinctly larger number of issues than usual participated in the latest advancing movement.

This indicates rather clearly that the skyrocketing in a few stocks has proved irresistible to many outsiders. "The public always buys at the top," is a well-known Wall Street adage.

ANY excuse is now accounted good enough for whooping-up speculation with redoubled vigor. The very latest "explanation" offered for the fresh orgy of buying is that somebody in Wall Street got it from some friend of President Coolidge that the President has changed his mind and now stands prepared to accept the presidential nomination! Those who didn't want to swallow that "explanation" of the market's brand new splurge forward could originate their own.

Expansion of more than $80,000,000 in brokers' loans was interpreted as of no moment whatever. Renewed gold exports were ignored, even though the present outflow is now nearing the $300,000,000 mark.

NOT so very long ago the all-sufficient reason adduced for the stock market's rise was that money was bound to remain extremely cheap and probably would go still lower. When the Federal reserve banks raised the rediscount rate, and when Wall Street loans went to a higher level than a year ago, why the money market was simply dropped as not being worth discussing.

Those of us who followed Wall Street events closely for 20 and more years are thoroughly familiar with the three-ring circus now playing to capacity every day. "The higher they rise the harder they fall," has been demonstrated time and time again. But so long as expert jugglers can keep all the balls in the air, words of caution and those who utter them are sneered at. For the moment, quotations, volume and the price of stock exchange seats all are smashing records.

THE steel industry, after a period of distinct improvement has become slightly quieter. The latest reports from automobile manufacturers are not uniformly favorable, but General Motors, thanks to its extraordinarily capable management, continues its triumphal forward march. Building activity is decidedly uneven, but, on the whole, quite up to expectations. At least some progress is being made in bringing about order in the oil industry; here the outlook can be regarded hopefully.

While our February exports show no increase over a year ago, imports are up fully $41,000,000, this, too, notwithstanding the conservative course being followed throughout the industrial and commercial world. The writer's opinion is that the phenomenal transformation in our from-debtor-to-creditor position as a nation will bring very marked growth in our imports regardless of our determination to "protect our home markets." Abnormal wealth brings complications in its train.

THE trend in unemployment already is in the right direction and the arrival of spring should bring very substantial relief.

AGRICULTURAL conditions by and large are as good as they have been at any time in recent years. Certainly there is no industrial or commercial inflation. Legitimate borrowers have nothing to fear from the money market. And the political outlook holds no terrors.

The danger spot is Wall Street, now emboldened as never before by the financial success of its intoxicating exploits.

STOCK MARKET MOVEMENTS IRREGULAR

NEW YORK, March 19.—(AP.)—Speculative interest in today's stock market was divided between the brisk accumulation of public utilities and rubbers, and the heavy profit-taking in some of the recent pool favorites. The price movement was decidedly irregular, but the gains which ran from 1 to 17 points outnumbered the losses, several of which ranged from 3 to 9 points. Trading failed to maintain the terrific pace set in the closing of last week, but it was fairly heavy, nevertheless.

Public utilities, which provided about half of the score or so new high records created during the early part of the session, were bought in reflection of expanding earnings and a revival of merger rumors. Mackay companies jumped 8 points to a new top at 135¼ on buying presumably influenced by the recent up-swing in other communications issues. International Telephone moved up more than 3 points to a new high in expectation of the issuance of valuable "rights" before the end of the year. Consolidated Gas, American Power and Light, North American Company, Commonwealth Power, Public Service of New Jersey and the New York traction issues also sold at their best levels of the year.

The sudden revival of activity and strength in the Rubbers coincided with the announcement of a $67,000,000 credit to the American Rubber "pool," and London dispatches indicating a continuance of some form of rubber export restrictions. Electric Refrigeration was bid up to a new top on rumors that new interests were buying into the company, and that February earnings showed a small profit for the first time in several months.

Special buying also was noted in Park & Tilford, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Stewart Warner, Pullman and Corn Products, all of which exceeded their previous 1928 maximum quotations. U. S. Cast Iron Pipe soared 17 points to a new record at 223.

Rails quieted down somewhat after their rapid rise of last week, but Lackawanna moved up to a new top and Texas and Pacific was bid up more than 3 points.

American Linseed broke 9 points to 91, as against a recent high of 111¼, and Radio broke 6 points to 135, as compared with last week's high of 160, and then rallied to 140.

CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, March 19.—Helped upward by an unexpected advance in wheat quotations at Liverpool, the wheat market here scored early gains today. Liverpool reported better demand for wheat and there was also a decided falling off in the amount of wheat afloat for Europe. Opening at ⅛c to 1c advance, Chicago wheat later scored additional gains. Corn and oats were also firmer, corn starting ⅛c to ⅝c up but subsequently reacting somewhat. Provisions tended to sag.

At noon wheat was ⅜c to ⅝c net higher and corn up ⅝c to 1c.

In addition to unlooked for upturns in Liverpool wheat prices today and more than 1,[illegible] bushels decrease in stocks of wheat on ocean passage world shipments of wheat for the week were small, only 11,[illegible] bushels, compared with 21,[illegible] a year ago. On the other hand, Nebraska official reports said the condition of winter wheat has improved since February 15, and private advices today indicated that despite damage, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois will have 7 per cent larger acreage for harvest than last year. Talk of big export business in corn overnight gave independent strength to the corn market. It was current gossip also that the corn movement from Central Illinois is practically nil. Commission houses were good buyers of future deliveries.

PENKNIFE OPERATION ON BUTLER YOUTH FAILS

BUTLER, Pa., March 19.—A pocketknife incision in the throat of Charles Robert Wilson, 20, made in an emergency by Dr. W. A. McCall, failed to save the youth from a strange death.

Saturday Wilson had several teeth extracted. Yesterday he suddenly was seized with muscular paroxysms of the throat, which strangled him. Dr. McCall, passing in the street, was summoned and he made the incision, inserting a tube.

Wilson rallied, but his condition grew worse during the night and he died this morning in the Butler Hospital.

The egg market was firm at the quotations listed. Butter and cheese were steady. New York new full cream cheese longhorns and brickstein were all decreased 1c per pound.

The poultry market was easy and the demand fair. Supplies were liberal and the quotations were unchanged.

Carlot supplies were rather heavy, a total of 670 cars being on track. Arrivals included 11 cars of apples, 16 cabbage, 1 carrots, 1 cauliflower, 4 celery, 1 chicory, 1 cucumbers, 3 grapefruit, 2 lemons, 4 lettuce, 1 onions, 4 oranges, 5 spinach, 11 potatoes, 1 strawberries, 6 sweet potatoes, 5 tomatoes and 1 radishes.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, March 19.—(AP.)—Trading was fairly active and prices firm in the bond market today.

While Denver and Rio Grande Western 5s and Seaboard Air Line obligations were strong, the former touching at a new high at 93⅞, some irregularities appeared elsewhere in the railroad group. Erie 5s dropped more than a point on a handful of sales.

Public utilities were in fair demand, particularly Northern Ohio Traction and Light, which advanced to a new high at 105⅝. American Water Works and Electric 5s duplicated their previous high, 101½; Kayser 5½s was outstanding among the convertibles.

Continued buoyancy of the French issues was the feature of the foreign group, probably in further reflection of the retirement of outstanding 8 per cent dollar bonds. A few Latin-American issues also gave a good account of themselves.

Little early business was transacted in U. S. government issues.

NEW YORK, March 19.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, (00 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

LOCAL TRADING LIST QUIET

The week opened quietly on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange with prices showing no important changes from the levels prevailing on the close Saturday. Business was in rather moderate volume and was well scattered throughout the list.

National Fireproofing preferred opened with a good gain over the previous transaction, but did not hold the initial price of $24 a share, dropping back later to $23. The decline was not accompanied by any heavy selling, however. Standard Sanitary came into the market unchanged and hovered around the recently prevailing price of $35 a share.

Oil and gas stocks continued to work in a narrow range. Lone Star was at 54 in the early market, but there was no disposition to take on the stock in large volume. Bids for the stock were a half point under the actual market, indicating that prospective purchasers were confident in their waiting attitude. Devonian Oil was handled at 7⅝, unchanged. Dixie Gas and Utilities was also unchanged at 9⅝ in the forenoon trading.

Shortly after mid-day there were some additional offerings of National Fireproofing preferred which broke the stock back to 22. Several hundred shares were disposed of on the movement, but there seemed to be good support forthcoming at the 22 level. The company passed the 75-cent dividend on the issue last December and there is little liklihood that it will be restored at the approaching directors' meeting, according to views of local traders.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Amerada Corporation.

Net income of Amerada Corporation for 1927 declined to $3,766,715 from $4,933,042 in 1926, but gross operating income rose to $17,211,117 from $14,746,382. Earnings were equal to $4.92 a share, against $6.05 the year before. Although net profits were lower, almost every other item of the corporation's activities, including production of oil, gas, natural gasoline, oil in storage, wells producing, reserve, lease holds and working capital, showed a sizeable increase, E. L. DeGolyer, president, reported.

Standard Plate Glass Spurts Again.

Standard Plate Glass Preferred took another sudden spurt this afternoon, but aside from the previous reports on a contest for control, there was nothing to account for the movement. The company's labor difficulties at Butler were reported settled satisfactorily a month or so ago.

Fireworks in Pipe.

United States Cast Iron Pipe, erstwhile sky-rocket, emulated itself of old in running up more than 20 points on a movement which started apparently as a result of the searching out of tender spots in the speculative list. It was assumed that the reported sleeping short interest in Pipe attempted to get from under in fear of a rally by the bulls, and their endeavor to buy back the stock uncovered just the situation they hoped to prevent.

Intercontinental Rubber.

Intercontinental Rubber Company reports net profit of $459,966 for 1927, after all charges, equal to $1.11 a share. Operating profits were $693,700. A new brand of guayule rubber was placed on the market during the year, which sold at a premium over the other brands. No change has been made in the company's program of gradually expanding guayule planting in California.

Bank Sees Improvement.

Spring expansion of business is well under way and bids fair to last longer than it did last season, with large aggregate volume for the first half year, says the National Bank of Commerce in New York, reviewing market conditions. "The pronounced change of sentiment from uncertainty and even pessimism, to a definitely confident outlook which occurred during the first half of March, is the result of general recognition of the intrinsically sound position of a large number of industries which have not heretofore failed to serve as accurate measures of what lies ahead."

Fisher's Stock Index Jumps.

Prof. Irving Fisher's stock price index for past week is 248.6 against 244.4 in the preceding week and 249 a month ago. Prof. Fisher's commodity price index is 97.2 against 96.5 in previous week.

All-America Radio.

Stockholders of the All-America Radio Corporation will be asked to approve merger of their company with the Mahawk Corporation of Illinois. It is proposed to double All-America's present capitalization by increasing the class A authorization from 50,000 to 100,000 shares and the B from 100,000 to 200,000 shares.

Bethlehem Earned $6.02 on Common.

The Bethlehem Steel Corporation's pamphlet report for the year 1927 shows net income of $15,826,142 after all charges and taxes, equal after preferred dividend to $6.02 on the common stock, against $20,246,166 or $7.48 a share in 1926. Surplus after preferred dividends was $3,026,142, against $12,447,812, while gross earnings were $271,502,891 against $304,361,904.

Steel Earnings Forecast.

Notwithstanding heavier production and shipments in the first quarter, the Iron Age believes earnings of steel producing companies for the current quarter probably will not greatly exceed the disappointing fourth quarter of 1927, and it is not expected that they will equal those of the first quarter of last year.

A. W. G. Opens Bellevernon Plant.

Operation has been resumed at the Bellevernon plant of the American Window Glass Company, after a shutdown of almost four years.

Coolidge on R. R. Consolidations.

President Coolidge is anxious to get railroad consolidation legislation passed by Congress, and it is understood he has been advised that the situation in both House and Senate is favorable to the passage of a bill, it was stated at the White House. The President feels this legislation would be especially helpful at present because there are a number of roads which, if they could get authority to carry out their consolidation plans, would begin immediately to make betterments and improvements which would increase the market for equipment and also increase the opportunities for employment. Some adequate kind of radio legislation is also desirable in the opinion of the President.

Radio-Cable Mergers.

Undoubtedly the British merger of cables and radio will go long way toward better profits for both departments. There can be no such merger in this country, owing to the White Act, which does not permit cable and telegraph companies to acquire shares of radio companies. While competition here has reduced profits through rate cutting, it has been stimulating in improving communication by cables and radio. Though Western Union, controlling nearly 90 per cent of the land lines of the United States, has greatly increased its cable business, which is about 10 per cent of its entire gross, in the past few years, its profits from this department have diminished considerably, largely as a result of rate cutting. Radio Corporation's message business also has suffered from stern competition, gross in this department being about 6 per cent of total business done. Gross has increased only $1,500,000 in six years, and for 1927 communications business totaled only $3,034,267, despite vast expansion throughout the world.

BROPHY URGES ILLINOIS JOIN MINER WAR

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., March 19.—(AP.)—Southern Illinois coal miners were urged to support a national strike and to send delegates to the national "Save-the-Union" conference at Pittsburgh, Pa., April 1, in an address made by John Brophy, of Pittsburgh, here yesterday, before more than 1,000 miners.

The meeting, called to protest against the administration policies of John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, was not interrupted. An attempt to hold a meeting last Sunday was frustrated by union officials.

Brophy condemned union officials for permitting individual operators to sign contracts and continue operation while other operators were not signed. He said the "Save-the-Union Committee" opposed a reduction in wages and demanded a six-hour day and a five-day week.

The question of sending delegates to the national conference is being debated in local unions and at least one West Frankfort local is understood to have elected a delegate.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, March 19.—(AP.)—Higher priced shares were in demand in the Curb market today and prices made wide gains. Profit-taking sales, setting in just before noon, caused some recessions, but many of the issues regained lost ground and made new advances.

Casein touched a new high at 208½, making a net gain of 8½ points. Auburn Auto, Consolidated Dairy and Horn & Hardart also reached new high levels. Chain store issues showed new strength, Safeway advancing 15 points.

Strength of the crude rubber market and of Rubber Tire Company issues on the "Big Board" lifted Firestone Tire about 4 points, but Rubberoid sold off after making a small gain. Other strong spots were Ford of Canada, up 10 points; Deere & Co. and Glen Alden.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, March 19.—The cotton market opened barely steady today at a decline of 5 to 12 points under realizing by recent buyers, local or southern selling inspired by better weather in the eastern or central belts, and failure of Liverpool to improve on the New York advance of Saturday.

Trading was comparatively quiet at the start, but became more active after the call, May selling off to 19.08c and October to 18.61c, or about 14 to 15 points net lower. Some trade buying of May at this decline absorbed offerings and gave the market a steady undertone by the end of the first hour.

Liverpool cables reported continental buying and trade calling supplied by realizing and a fair inquiry for cotton cloths for both the home trade and export.

The forenoon market was quiet, with prices steadier on trade buying of old crop months and some covering in later deliveries. May contracts rallied from 19.08c, the early low level, to 19.15c, while October sold up to 18.67c, or within 9 points of Saturday's closing quotation. No fresh news feature was in evidence, but uncertainty was expressed as to the probable showing of tomorrow's report by the Census Bureau on ginnings from the crop of 1927, which may have had a tendency to check trading and cause some covering after the early decline.

Money Market.

LONDON, March 19.—Bar silver, 26¾d per ounce; money, 3½ per cent; discount rates, short and three-months bills, 4⅛@4⅛ per cent.

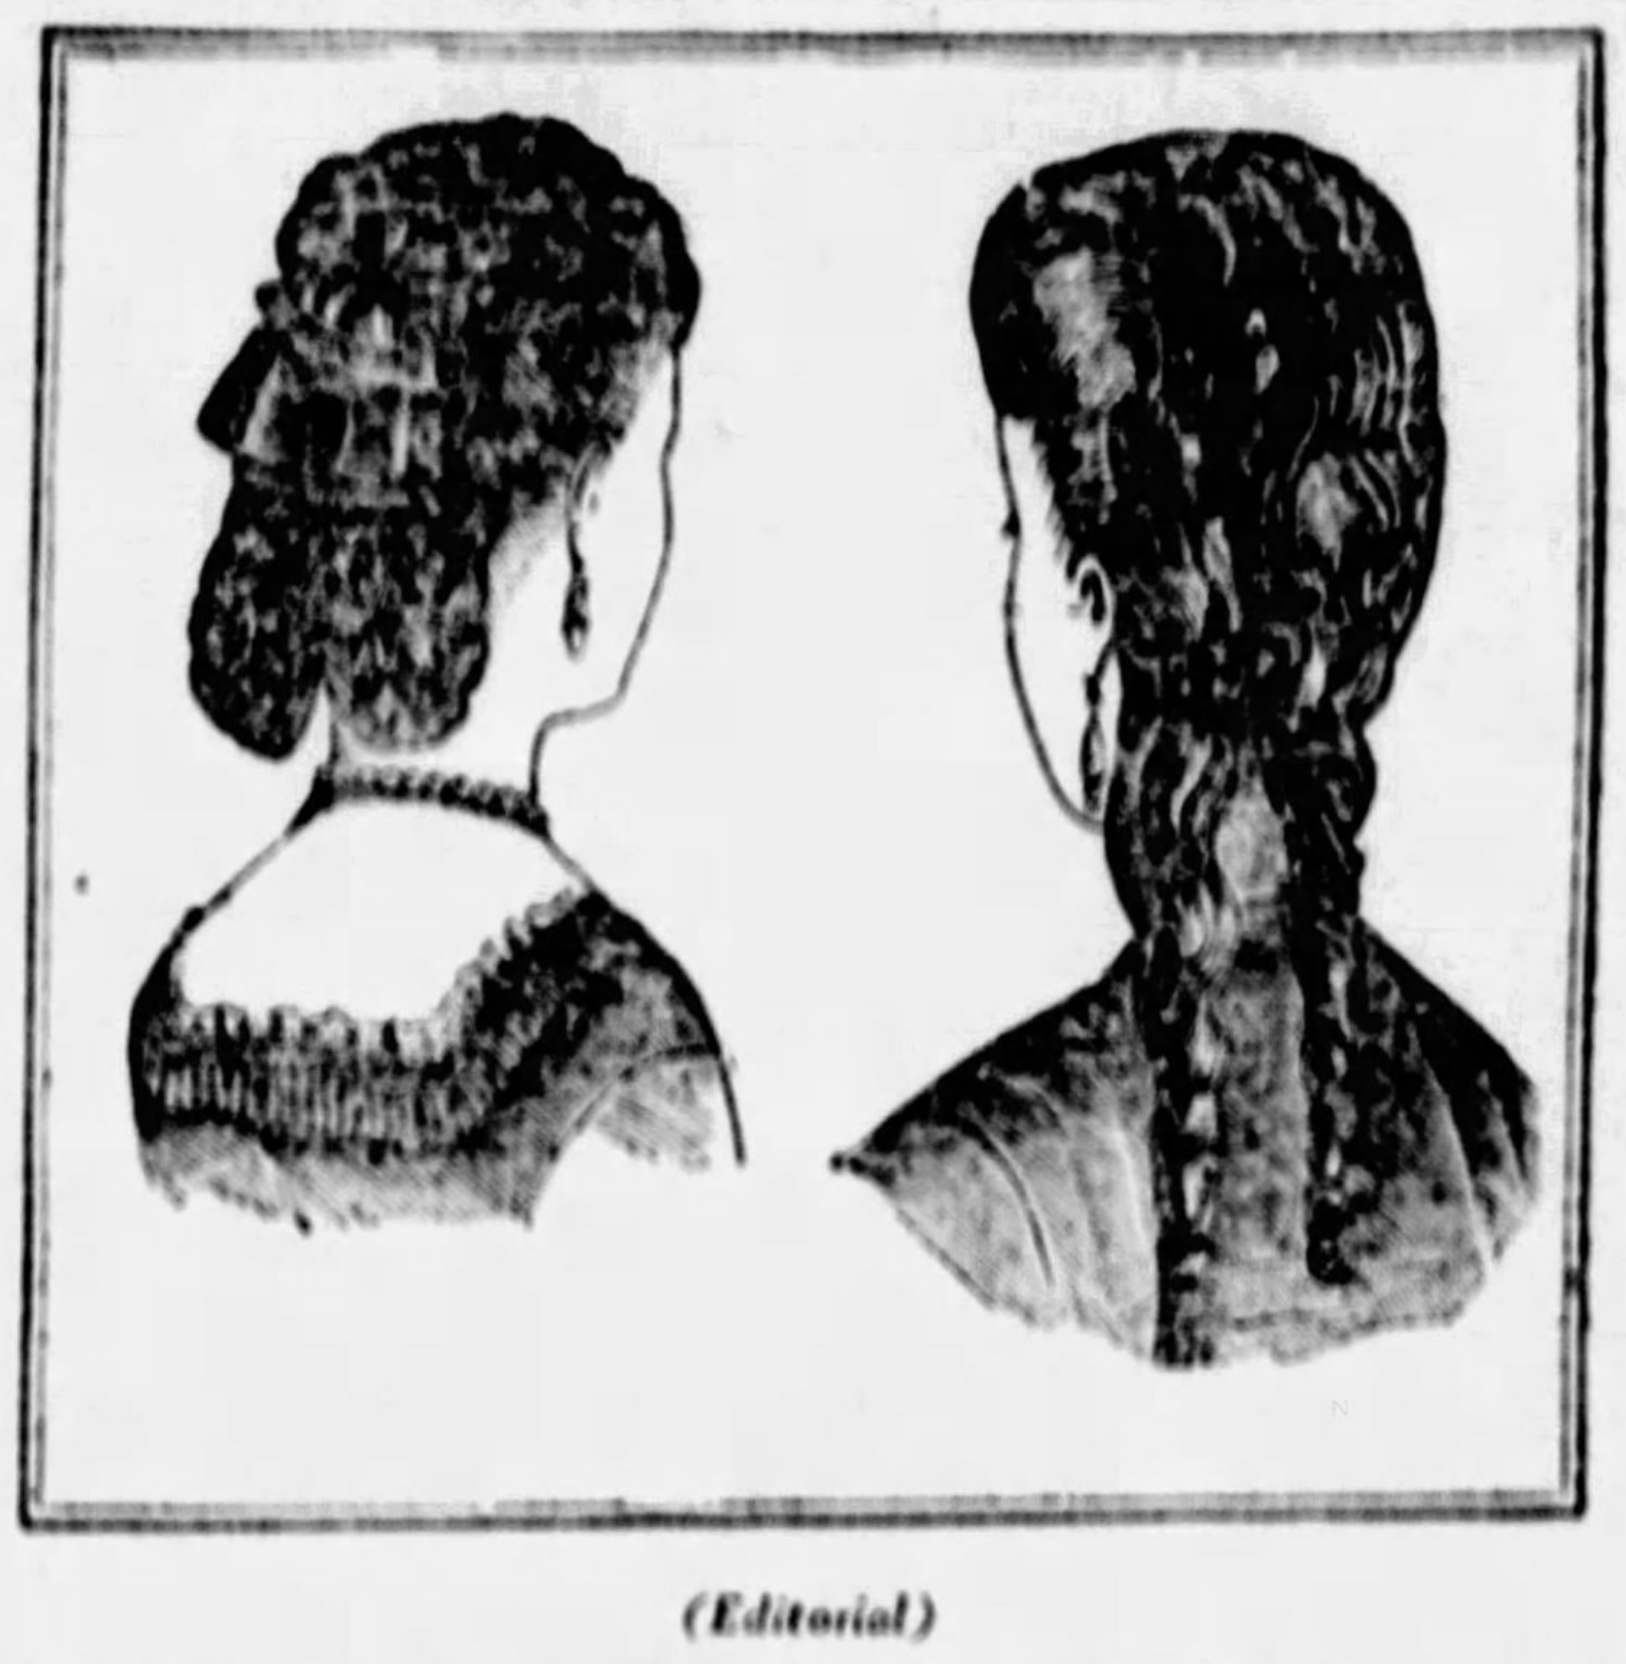
Show the Little Woman That You Really Care!



(Editorial)

MOST men are thoughtless toward women. They quickly forget to do the little considerate things. How long since you, and you, and you, have given the wife a box of candy, flowers, a fur coat, a priceless jewel, a town car, or some other bauble? We thought so. Here's a chance to show the little woman that you really care. Clip the above coiffure guide. Take it home. Paste it on her hand mirror.

Several days ago an inadvertant appeal was made for verses to commemorate Ziegfeld's engagement of a restaurant pancake flapper for his beauty chorus.

Result—

Flipper, flapper pancake flipper, Flipped the flapjacks with a dipper—
Flipped them fast enough to floor us,
Now she flops in Ziegfeld's chorus.

Sir—

I am a police officer and proud of it. Last night at supper the wife says "Did you arrest anybody today?" and I says, "Sure, I arrested a fella for impersonating a policeman," and she says, "It's terrible the way men drink that jackass brandy these days." Visualize my chagrin.

BUGS BAER Says

A WATCHED pot never boils. And a watched teapot never cools off.

Sinclair must be a smart man. He has plenty in his dome.

He gave away his money like heads of cabbage.

Borah wants to give it back to him like split peas.

Now is the time for every good man to come to the ache of the party.

ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

William E. says that tainted plunder must be returned to its frightful owner.

He wants 160,000 Republicans to donate one dollar each to remove the blot from the banner of the organization.

The slender amount accumulated to date suggests that Borah started his canvass in Alabama.

One blot on the banner, more or less, means nothing when the darned thing is already polka dotted.

We would like to know whether that dollar is per capita. Or pro rotten.

This affects us because we were born in Philadelphia. And once a Republican, always a gentleman.

Lincoln Steffens years ago described our home town as corrupt and content.

He's a liar. We were never content.

As a congenital Republican, we are willing to donate a spinner toward that $160,000. We are a thorough believer in organized charity.

But how about the boys who got the gravy? We never saw so many handles on a teapot before.

We got none of it. And we give up that dollar provided that Sinclair first taints us a deep, rich, powerful green.

Why should the money go back? Does the tide ebb and flow in a pipe line?

Mr. Borah describes this debt as an obligation of shame.

We share the obligation.

But, by heavens, we would like to reach back five years and share some of the shame.

INVESTIGATE THE POWER TRUST

THE oil scandal investigation is proceeding with seriousness and sincerity, and with especial effectiveness.

The investigation has the earnest support of all conscientious Republicans as well as Democrats.

It would be singularly unfortunate if the Democrats in Congress strived merely to make political capital out of the situation.

It is their duty to support the prosecution of the investigation. It is not their duty to make unjust attacks upon Republican leaders not involved in the scandal.

Senator Walsh, of Montana, chairman of the Senate investigating committee, and a Democrat, took occasion to compliment Secretary Mellon on his rightful action in refusing to accept the Sinclair bonds and pretend to make a corresponding contribution to the Republican campaign.

Notwithstanding this, Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, attacks Secretary Mellon and pretends to believe that the Secretary should resign. What Senator Caraway really believes is that he himself should manage in some way to get into the limelight in the oil scandal investigation, and can think of no better way than to make unjust attacks upon Secretary Mellon, who had nothing to do with the oil scandal and refused to be involved in it in any way.

Senator Caraway's action, however, is not important, for the main reasons that Senator Caraway is not important, and his demand for Secretary Mellon's resignation is ridiculous.

The important thing is that the Democratic party and the leaders of the Democratic party in Congress shall not take the purely partisan position that Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, has taken, and shall not attempt to make cheap political capital out of a prosecution which means so much to the people of the United States.

If the Democrats do this, they will merely injure their own standing before the public.

The Hearst newspapers have helped materially to bring Sinclair to justice and to support the prosecution in the oil scandals. They helped to expose Fall. They made the actual revelations of the tampering with the Sinclair jury before the courts.

They are anxious to see justice meted out in full to all the guilty.

They are unwilling to see this vital question made a matter of partisan politics.

If the Democrats are really anxious to accomplish something further in the way of cleaning up the government and freeing American public life from the corrupt influence of greedy and grasping public service corporations, let them stand firmly and unitedly for a demand for the investigation of the power trust.

This great corporation, from its headquarters in Chicago and Atlanta and from New York to Los Angeles, is fighting to subordinate the public interests to its own selfish purposes and profits.

It is maintaining a gigantic lobby in an effort to influence and intimidate members of Congress, and it obviously has succeeded in influencing or intimidating some Republicans and some Democrats.

Perhaps on this account the Democrats cannot present a united front in a demand for an investigation of the power trust, but if they can unite on this issue, or if the more conscientious Democrats can unite with the Progressive Republicans, let them support Senator Norris' resolution and secure an investigation of the most offensive lobby in Washington, and of the most evil and insolent of public service corporations.

If the Democrats want a genuine issue, and an honest issue, and a patriotic issue; if they want to serve the public, and purify politics, and not merely secure some cheap political advantage, let them INVESTIGATE THE POWER TRUST.

Vote Fraud Trial Delay Just What Gang Sought

At a conference it was decided to postpone trials of cases of 200 persons indicted on charges of being parties to the outrageous cheating that marked the September primaries.

The date agreed upon for the beginning of these trials is April 16—eight days prior to the holding of the Spring primary, April 24.

Rody P. Marshall has been engaged to represent all of the ten-score defendants. He says he was retained by a leading Republican politician.

It is evident that the political gang has succeeded in one purpose. How many convictions do you think there will be in the week that will elapse between the beginning of the first trial and April 24, when the machine leaders probably will be as active as ever?

The postponement of the ballot fraud cases until almost the date of the April primary can be regarded as a tactical victory for the political tricksters.

The people are not deceived. Attorney A. M. Imbrie, chairman of the Bar Association committee to assist in the prosecution of the vote fraud cases commented:

> "If this statement be true, (Marshall's statement as to who retained him) was there ever in time of war or peace a more insidious affront offered the whole people of our Commonwealth? Think of the proposition—men high in the councils of the great Republican party hiring one lawyer to combine the forces of 200 defendants innocent and guilty of the charges of erasing and re-marking ballots after they had passed through the slot of the ballot box and then swearing to false counts when judges and county officials were being nominated."

Gov. Fisher's Criticism Of Coal Probe Foolish

Governor Fisher, who, in an address at Easton, attributed political motives to the activities of the members of the Senatorial committee conducting the coal probe, does Pennsylvania no good service in the attitude he takes. It seems rather a case of sour grapes to hear a man who should have done something, but did nothing publicly, to settle the strike, belittle the efforts of men who are so earnestly doing their best to bring a state of cleanliness to Governor Fisher's own Augean stables.

The inquiry at Washington, and the preceding survey in the Pittsburgh district, have disclosed conditions for which there can be no condonation. These conditions reflect upon all of us, including Governor Fisher, and especially upon those in high official positions who permitted things to drift along and made no effort to remedy them. They have aroused indignation of humane and justice-loving people everywhere, so why pretend to think the Senators probing coal conditions would be any less outspoken in their comments on the barbarous way human beings have been treated in the state executively ruled by Governor Fisher?

The governor had his chance to do the state a big service in this coal strike and he not only neglected an opportunity, but failed in a duty. As long as he kept silent at a time when a word from him might have meant something, it would be just as well if he kept his lips closed now.

His sneering is in execrable taste.

He should be the last man in the state to be critical of those who are at least trying to find a remedy for the coal strike situation.

Here's One Bill House Must Pass

Two thousand disabled officers of the World War, neglected for ten years, are at last to get their deserts, if the House follows the Senate.

Thursday the Senate passed the Tyson-Fitzgerald bill, giving disabled emergency officers the same retirement pensions as disabled regulars.

It will end an intolerable discrimination against the men who left their private work, entered the Army and were crippled in their country's defense. Congress should not have needed ten years to decide to treat these men with decent justice.

The Federal government is wondering whether its surplus income this year would justify it in reducing taxes $250,000,000 or just $150,000,000. So we are not too poor to afford $2,000,000 a year to keep our officer war wreckage from starvation.

Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Moon and Earth

"Do you think the moon was destroyed by volcanoes and earthquakes? It has such an appearance. The earth has volcanoes, as the moon had, and quite as many. It shows it has great internal fires. Is it not likely that volcanoes will some time destroy this earth as the moon has been destroyed?—T. E. O."

NOBODY knows what may eventually happen to this old earth of ours, and least of all does "science" pretend to know. There are plenty of theories, some of them called scientific, on the subject, but facts on which to base a settled opinion are lacking. It is an opinion of some geologists that the future of the earth, if not its past, may be inferred from what we see on the moon. Professor J. W. Gregory says, on this subject:

"The aspect of the moon indicates the probable future of the earth when by continual cooling of the interior the crust has become much thicker and more rigid. Its (the moon's) condition forecasts the state of the earth at some future time when its relief will be due almost entirely to vertical movements, as the crumpling of belts of the crust will have ceased, and when horsts (areas that have remained standing while the surrounding region has sunk), and sunklands due to faulting and valleys due to subsidence instead of the erosion will be the dominant features in the topography."

That the surface of the moon has been destroyed in the most frightful fashion, nobody can doubt who looks at it with a powerful telescope. The enormous ring-shaped depressions that have generally been called lunar volcanoes bear only a superficial resemblance to the volcanic craters of the earth.

* * *

Professor Gregory thinks that these immense depressions on the moon were formed by "vulcanoid subsidences" arising from the fact that the moon, cooling faster than the earth, early acquired a thicker crust, less easily folded than that of the earth, so that the contraction of the cooling interior resulted in vertical instead of horizontal movements of the crust. And this is the fate which he suggests that the moon foretells for the earth when the reign of "horsts" and "sunklands" and valleys due to subsidence begins upon our less rapidly cooling globe.

On Your Own Feet

IT IS natural for you to lean on someone.

You would far rather shift responsibility to another than take the blame if things don't turn out well.

Cowardly course to follow.

But you have taken this attitude and kept it for many years.

You are vacillating until you receive support from outside.

After that you can take a stand and stick to it.

Thus you do not back your own judgment, but that of another.

The longer you go along this way the weaker you become.

Stand on your own initiative once in a while and get used to it.

Those to whom you go constantly for guidance and advice don't have much respect for you, though they may like you.

Being close friends of yours, they are the ones to whom others will go when inquiries come up about you.

Stand on your own feet, if you want the recommendation that will help you.

Call of Spring

SOON we will be hearing "Now Is the Time to Plant!" song.

Whether it be a window box, overlooking the dingy street, or a big flower garden in the country, each expresses a beauty which reveals the helplessness of the greatest artist when he attempts to portray it.

Why not cultivate the acquaintance of Nature this season? It always ripens into an inspiring, beautiful friendship.

Tales that are Told

A Sound Reason

THE vicar was paying a visit to the homes of his poorer parishioners, and in the house of a certain costermonger he asked many questions about the family.

A very grubby, but very cheerful little lad attracted the kindly cleric's attention, and he asked him his name.

"Reginald D'Arcy Smif, sir," replied the lad, with a grin.

The vicar turned to the boy's father.

"What ever did you give him a name like that for?"

"'Cos I want 'im ter be a professional boxer," returned the parent, "and wiv a name like that he'll get a bit o' practice at school."—London Answers.

Humane!

THE small boy came running into the house with his nose bleeding copiously, and, while first-aid was being rendered, explained that he had received the blow from another boy.

"And did you hit him back?" asked the mother.

"No," replied her son; "he was much smaller than me."

The mother's heart warmed at such chivalry.

"And, besides, he was a poor boy—"

The mother's face beamed at such magnanimity.

"And," continued the boy, "you can never tell what those poor-looking chaps can do."

Bitter Sarcasm

CRASH!

The cyclist was jerked off his saddle by a recklessly driven car, and a second later found himself lying numbed on the pavement.

He lay quite still, and an old lady, who had seen the proceedings from the start, walked up to him.

"Have you had an accident, young man?" she asked.

The unfortunate man raised himself painfully into a sitting position.

"Oh, no, madam," he replied icily: "I arranged this in order to break a slab of hard chocolate in my pocket."—London Answers.

Seeing Paris

PARIS, March 19.—Ciro's is perhaps the most famous and certainly the most expensive restaurant in Paris. It is one of those places made exclusive for the masses, standing modestly in rue Daunou, a few steps off rue de la Paix. A tiny sign traces the name in delicate pink.

The cafe is owned by an English syndicate and the manager wearing a monocle and red lapel rose usually graces the entrance. The head waiter Julien has a bowing acquaintance with all European royalty. He speaks almost every language, including a little Hindustani, is rich, and a trifle haughty.

To enter the main dining rooms one must go through a tiny bar where it is customary for both ladies and gentlemen to stand with feet on the rail for an aperitif. You are expected to tip the bartender at least 10 per cent of your bill. If you don't the word goes around the restaurant. It is a testing station.

There are two dining rooms—one close and intimate and to the right a larger room. If you are a favored guest or a person of importance you are seated in the small room. But if the head waiter regards you as hoipolloi you are piloted to the larger.

There is the story of the newly rich American who had been placed in the small room near the entrance to the larger. From his chair he could see there were more people in the big room, so he called a waiter captain, gave him a mille franc and asked to be transferred there. He was.

Dinner at Ciro's starts at 9 o'clock, but by 11 it is almost deserted. It is the best patronized luncheon place in Paris. Save among those who mingle with Americans or the English, a Parisian never goes there. He knows a cafe as smart and good at half the price.

One often sees an American Negro in full evening dress dining at Ciro's, also gentlemen in jeweled turbans and robes, as well as a sprinkling of the registered demimonde. France tolerates no racial or class prejudices on the part of cafe keepers. Food at Ciro's is priced about the same as in swank New York places. Only wines and liquors seem cheap.

Around the livery stable back home Monk Welch used to ask the boys as we passed by on way to school if we ever saw a horse fly? Well, today I did at Le Bourget. A vaudeville actress hit upon the idea of carrying her trained horse to London by plane. It required exactly four hours to get the frightened, squealing animal into the compartment made for it. This was accomplished by two Texas cowpunchers who have not yet started home from the legion meeting. The poor animal was tightly strapped in place and tonight I heard it arrived safely. It was a cruel performance and the actress has no right to own a horse.

The Prince of Wales is in town for the evening, incognito, so it is whispered around the bars, on one of those secret missions which made his grandpap, King Edward, so popular among Parisians. A gay dog, Eddie.

* * *

It would now seem it is almost distinguished not to wear the tiny red string of the Chevalier of the Legion of Honor. I counted eleven in a gathering at lunch today. And I am not envious either. That is, not much.

* * *

I am told the impudent type of taxi drivers are the criminal class of Russians exiled here. Parisians claim French drivers are as polite as ever they were.

But the one who insisted I pay for the door window I did not break was as typically French as those little red strings they sew in your laundry.

The most popular raconteur in Paris is Gilbert White, the American painter. His bon mots are quoted all over Europe. He is a brother of Stewart Edward White.

The Humanizing of Wealth

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

We still linger under the influence of ideas that were formed long ago under different conditions. We have institutions which have long since lost their usefulness and still hold sway. Most churches are based upon issues that we have given up long since.

One of these notions is that wealth of any kind, especially great wealth, is necessarily criminal.

Christ warned us that it is as hard for a rich man to get into the kingdom of heaven as for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle, and the saying was often heard in those times of, "Woe unto the rich!"

But somehow by the slow influence of the teachings of Christ or for some other reason the nature of wealth has changed.

Time was when wealth was simply property of which other people were deprived and by which we were benefited. It was apparently impossible to conceive of a man being rich unless he had robbed someone else. Even nowadays a rich man is often looked upon as one who has profited in some way by the misfortunes of his fellows, as there cannot be a man of great wealth unless there are many men greatly poor.

But the character of the modern wealth unit is different from that in former days. Then the basis of wealth might have been robbery or thievery or special privilege of some kind, but nowadays few people can become very wealthy unless it is by benefiting others.

Henry Ford is not begrudged his great fortune for the reason that in making it he has helped the general public and also employed labor at good wages.

It is significant that men of great wealth, instead of founding fortunes and giving of their possessions to dissipated heirs are seeking to benefit the public by their fortunes.

Rockefeller is devoting his huge fortune to medical and scientific as well as religious purposes, and the benefactions of Andrew Carnegie are well known.

Evidently the teachings of the Redeemer have found deep root in modern civilization and indirectly, if not directly, wealth is feeling the obligation to help along the world.

The Little New House

THE little new house on the hill is done
And the builders went out today,
Leaving it there to the wind and sun,
Little house, staunch and gay.

With life and its meanings all yet to learn,
Gladly the little house stands,
Waiting for hopes that like candles burn,
For laughter and clasping hands.

Ready for love and, who knows? for hate,
Ready for toil and play,
The little new house and its treasures wait;
The builders went out today.
